Bombardment of Fort San Carlos Continues Unabated.

BATTLEMENTS ARE CRUMBLED IN RUINS

PATRIOTS CALLED TO ARMS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Caracas, Jan. 23.—Advices from Maracaibo, both official and private, agree in declaring that the Venezuelan garrison, commanded by Gen. Bello, still holds Fort San Carlos, at the entrance to Lake Maracaibo.

The German cruisers Vineta and Gazelle, which began to bombard the fort Wednesday, continued to shell it today, firing at five miles distance. The stone work of the fort has been broken into fragments by the German shells.

The Venezuelan government now believes that Gen. Bello can maintain his position in the fort. This is despite the fact that it has had no direct news from him today.

MARACAIBO, Jan. 23.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon Fort San Carlos was in the possession of the government forces and the bombardment by the German warships was still going on.

There has been no material change in the situation.

The gunboat Panther was the only vessel to come inside the bar.

The Call to Arms.

President Arangunen of the state of Maracaibo has, by a decree published last night, called to arms all citizens, from 16 to 60 years of age, belonging to the militia, in order to resist the possible landing of German forces at Lake Maracaibo. About 500 men immediately answered the call.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Commodore Scheder, commander of the German fleet in Venezuelan waters, officially reports the bombardment of Fort San Carlos from Maracaibo, under date of January 21, as follows:

"On the 17th inst. while the Panther was passing the Maracaibo bay, she was unexpectedly attacked by Fort San Carlos, which opened a heavy fire on her. On this the Panther replied, and a cannonade was exchanged for half an hour. Owing to the difficulties of navigation, the Panther then desisted.

"In order to exact an immediate punishment for this attack, the more so as the Venezuelan government had proclaimed a victory, I bombarded the fort, with the Vineta, on the 21st inst. and destroyed it."

Berlin Answers Queries.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has received written replies from the chief of the foreign office to three questions:

First—Why did the ships bombard Fort San Carlos?

Answer—Official news regarding the Panther's reasons for forcing the entrance of the lagoon of Maracaibo has not yet been received. So far as the situation can be understood from here, the seizure of the lagoon was necessary to an effective blockade of the harbor of Maracaibo. Otherwise it would have been possible to convey all sorts of merchandise over the adjacent Colombian frontier, particularly arms and provisions across the lagoon to Maracaibo, and thence inland, thus rendering the blockade completely futile. Apparently Fort San Carlos tried to prevent the entrance of the Panther into the lagoon, and it must have been, therefore, necessary to silence it."

Second—Why did the German ships alone take part in the bombardment?

Answer—The fact that only German ships took part in the bombardment is obviously explained. Maracaibo harbor lies in the western part of the coast line which was being blockaded by the German forces.

Third—When will the blockade be raised?

Answer—No decision has yet been received by the interested powers as to when the blockade of the Venezuelan coast shall be raised.

Richthofen's Hopeful View.

In the reichstag today Foreign Secreatry Von Richthoffen expressed the hope that the Venezuelan difficulties would be soon settled. He said:

"The negotiations at Washington, it is hoped, will show an early result, rendering it possible to raise the blockade. So long as the blockade exists, however, respect for it must be enforced. The action against Maracaibo was undertaken for this purpose."

LONDON, Jan. 24.—In a dispatch from Willemstad, Curacao, the correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"On Wednesday the German gunboat Panther, which was insecurely anchored off San Carlos, moved in close to the Castillo battery, which fired one shot as a warning. The Panther disregarded the hint. Another shot was fired from the Castillo battery; thereupon the Panther opened fire and continued the cannonade for half an hour, when she retired. The Vineta immediately began a heavy bombardment of Fort San Carlos, seriously damaging the fort and the houses in the vicinity."

LA GUAYRA, VENEZUELA, Jan. 23.—On the Island of Los Poques, which is mostly inhabited by charcoal burners trading with La Guayra, 12 men and five women have died of hunger and thirst as a result of the blockade of the allied powers which prohibited schooners from carrying provisions and water to the island.

B. & O. Buys Property.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Nearly $100 per foot front was paid by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for property 45 feet wide in the industrial district here today. The land was bought from J. P. P. Kennedy and adjoins the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company's property. The consideration was $4,000. It is the intention of the company to buy all the properties on the west side of Moravia street, this city, and build a new yard.

GERMAN KAISER ITCHES FOR FIGHT

MAY BE GRATIFIED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.

"The bombardment by German warships of Venezuelan forts is no concern of the United States government—yet. The time has not yet come for intervention. But the situation is very annoying."

This is the very significant statement tonight made by an official of the state department whose opinions are conservative and his utterances notably so. Furthermore this may be regarded as practically official.

The Venezuelan situation was discussed at length at the cabinet meeting. But the concensus of opinion was practically the same as the statement given above. The consideration in the cabinet is described as serious, but unmarked by any grave apprehension. The administration is waiting to feel the pulse of the nation on the subject.

Public sentiment in the United States is the most potent quantity in the critical situation which now exists. Public attention is not entirely centered on the Venezuelan incident, and while there is little sentiment in this country which does not condemn the Germans, there is a vast amount of non-committal sentiment.

The state department has yet made no representations to Germany in regard to the bombardment of the forts. The statement of Chancellor von Buelow in the reichstag is taken to indicate the bombardments were ordered and sanctioned by Berlin. Any protest the United States makes to Germany will be so grounded that there will be only two ways out of the difficulty for Germany. She will have to retreat from her policy of unprovoked aggression, or she will continue in it at the peril of war with the United States.

Let the administration handle the Venezuelan affair is the position of the senate and the house. Congress is behaving with great composure in view of the news of Germany's continued acts of bloodshed in Venezuela. The feeling is that nothing should be done by either house in the way of asking for information or urging that action be taken to bring Germany up with a round turn.

"Germany has a chip on her shoulder," said Representative Green of Pennsylvania, "and it is about time that the United States called her to time and knocked it off."

LITTLE CHANGE NOTED IN NEW CANAL TREATY

United States to Pay Columbia $10,000,000 and Annual Rental of $250,000.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The treaty between the United States and Colombia, which was signed yesterday, was transmitted to the senate today and referred to the committee on foreign relations.

By the terms of the treaty the United States agrees to pay $10,000,000 in gold to the Colombian government, and after the expiration of nine years to pay a rental of $250,000 per year. The first lease is to be for 100 years, renewable in terms of 100 years at the pleasure of the United States. The strip is to be about six miles in width, and over this territory the United States is given police and sanitary jurisdiction, although Colombia does not surrender sovereignty.

The United States is to have the privilege of free importation of vessels and materials to be used in the construction of the canal.

It also is given the right to improve, use and protect harbors at both ends of the canal. The grant is made exclusive to the United States.

The committee on foreign relations will meet tomorrow to consider the treaty.

The treaty is identical with that drawn by this government several months ago with the single exception of the amount of annuity to be paid Colombia. This government proposed an annuity of $100,000, while Colombia demanded $650,000.

SCHWAB TO SAIL MONDAY DIRECT FOR NEW YORK

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PALERMO, SICILY, Jan. 23.—It is understood that Charles M. Schwab will sail from here on January 26 direct for New York.

The steam yacht Margarita, with Mr. Schwab on board, has returned here. He was rejoined at this port by his wife. Information regarding the health of Mr. Schwab was refused. He is said to be annoyed by the reports circulated to the effect that he is seriously ill.

The rumors concerning the alleged alarming state of health of Mr. Schwab have been discounted by the fact that he went for a three hours' ride in a motor car this afternoon.

MAKE NEW PLANS TO REDUCE COST

PRODUCT INCREASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Jan. 23.—The United States Steel Corporation gave out the following statement today concerning the recent meetings of the presidents of the subsidiary companies which were held here.

"During the last week the presidents of the different corporations in which the United States Steel Corporation is interested have been in consultation concerning the properties and business of their respective companies. The following named were in attendance: W. E. Corey, W. H. Palmer, E. H. Buffington, Thomas Lynch, W. B. Schiller, G. G. McMurtry, W. T. Graham, A. J. Major, Daniel Colliday, T. F. Cole, W. J. Olcott, A. F. Banks, A. B. Wolvin, D. M. Clemsen, D. G. Kerr and W. H. Donner.

"The officers of the United States Steel Corporation and some of the members of the executive and finance committees also have been in attendance all or a part of the time. The meeting adjourned this afternoon, and will meet again in New York March 1.

"Various important questions have been fully discussed, carefully considered and recommendations embodying the conclusions of the presidents will be submitted to the executive committee and finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation for consideration and recommendation. Among other subjects considered are proposed improvements and extensions to the manufacturing, mining and transportation properties of the various companies, and recommendations for the expenditure of considerable sums have been made.

Many of the improvements suggested, however, were rejected after full discussion and consideration. The improvements which will be made are in the direction of increasing production and facilities for manufacturing; but more especially to reduce cost of production and distribution.

"There were also included in the discussions and recommendations the Union and Sharon steel properties, lately acquired, the management of which will be so divided and distributed as to give control of the same to other subsidiary companies interested in the same line of business.

"The presidents also considered somewhat in detail the work laid out by the different corporations for the year 1903, with the object of so systematizing and harmonizing the business interests of the different companies as to produce the best results.

"The question of transportation by outside railroad companies, particularly in the coal and coke districts, received much consideration; and recommendations were made which, if adopted, it is believed will be highly beneficial.

"The feeling of harmony which exists between the officers of the subsidiary companies, and between them and the officers and members of the committees of the United States Steel Corporation, is noticeable and agreeable."

FRANK M. FULLER IS DOWN WITH PNEUMONIA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Jan. 23.—The Hon. Frank M. Fuller, the newly appointed secretary of the commonwealth, lies at his home, 112 East Fayette street, seriously ill with pneumonia. He returned from the inaugural ceremonies at Harrisburg yesterday. He had a very severe cold, and went directly to his home and bed. He gradually grew worse and a physician was summoned this morning who diagnosed the case as pneumonia.

While Fuller has the disease in a serious form, the physicians attending him are confident of his recovery. He had intended to assume the duties of his office Tuesday, the 29th, but the doctors predict that it will be several weeks before he can do so.

PENNSY BORROWS EMERGENCY CASH

Loan of $35,000,000 Negotiated With Banks and Trust Companies.

TO RUN SIX MONTHS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.

Arrangements were completed today whereby the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will receive at once a loan of $35,000,000 at 4½ per cent interest for six months. The company is given the privilege of renewing the loan at the end of six months. The money will be advanced by a syndicate of associated banks and trust companies of Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The loan will be secured by the company's collateral. All the details have been arranged and the money is now available.

The money is needed to pay for contracts that are now maturing, and also to reimburse the company for expenses that are to be paid ultimately out of the proposed stock increase, which may aggregate $200,000,000, and which is to be authorized at the annual meeting of the stockholders in Horticultural hall in this city March 10 next. There was a story current today to the effect that part of the $35,000,000 was to be used in paying for the stock of the Reading Company, which was recently bought jointly by the Baltimore & Ohio and the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railways. When asked tonight as to the truth of this story, a Pennsylvania official said:

"It was the Baltimore & Ohio and not the Pennsylvania that joined with the Lake Shore in purchasing control of the Reading. Therefore the Baltimore & Ohio and not the Pennsylvania would have to raise the money."

The loan, it was said tonight, would not be renewed at the end of six months, and in explanation of the removal clause it was said that this was simply a safeguard in case of an unexpected emergency.

In accordance with its custom the Pennsylvania is soliciting proxies for the annual meeting of March 10 and for the annual election March 24. Those engaged in soliciting carry letters explaining their mission, signed by President Cassatt, and their appearance in New York and Philadelphia set in circulation today a story to the effect that stockholders were surprised at this course and that they did not understand it. When told of this tonight, Lewis Neilson, secretary of the company, said to a reporter for The Gazette:

"There is nothing unusual in the course which the company is pursuing in this regard. It has been the custom of the company for more than 25 years to collect proxies by personal solicitation. This year is, therefore, no exception. The charter of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company requires that the proxy must be acknowledged before a notary or other person qualified to take acknowledgments. A further provision of the charter prohibits any one person from voting more than three proxies.

"The first provision explains why the Pennsylvania Railroad Company cannot pursue the course adopted by other large corporations—that of mailing a circular request for proxies, with return envelopes. The second provision shows why the names used in the proxies are not those prominently known in the management of the company. Clerks not so well known must necessarily be used for the purpose."

Mr. Neilson was also told that a story was in circulation to the effect that the proxies were to be used at a special meeting. Mr. Neilson admitted that the proxies were worded so they could be used in case of a special meeting being called, but that none was contemplated. The proxies in question can only be used within three months from their date.

FRICK THE PURCHASER

Pittsburgh Millionaire Said to Have Bought "A Reading from Homer" for $50,300.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The sale of the pictures owned by the late Henry G. Marquand by the American Art association at Mendelssohn hall tonight was among the most remarkable of the many notable art sales held in New York during the last 25 years. The audience was a large and deeply interested one.

A total of $197,070 was realized for 93 paintings, a surprisingly good amount. The highest figure of the sale was brought by Alma Tadema's famous canvas, "A Reading From Homer," which was secured by Knoedler & Co., probably for H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh or John Wanamaker, for $50,000.

OPPOSITION TO LEE STATUE GROWS BITTER

Cummings Will Propose to Honor Jeff Davis in Same Way.

CREASY ALSO HAS MONUMENT MANIA

LABOR AHEAD OF WOODS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, Jan 23.

Much regret is expressed over the announcement of the illness of Secretary of the Commonwealth Frank M. Fuller. When here Wednesday, Mr. Fuller was suffering from a severe cold and he was anxious to get back home for medical treatment. Deputy Secretary Lewis Beitler, who is thoroughly conversant with the business of the department, was instructed by the secretary to assume charge and conduct affairs as he did during the term of Secretary Griest.

The department of state has done a flourishing business for the past four years. It is the best paying berth in the cabinet. Mr. Griest during his term of four years received between $112,000 and $115,000 in salary and fees. Last year his income from the office was $32,000. Mr. Beitler, as secretary, receives $2,500.

In a legislative sense today's session of the house was uneventful. Mr. Creasy, who, in addition to being Democratic state chairman represents the borough of Catawissa in the general assembly, made a play for political advantages by introducing a bill appropriating $150,000 for the erection of a soldiers' and sailors' monument in Capitol park. This proposition Mr. Creasy regards as antidotal to the bills intended to honor Simon Cameron and Gen. Robert E. Lee by appropriating money to erect statues in their memory. Creasy says that nearly every northern capital has a soldiers and sailors' monument, and he thinks Pennsylvania should get into the procession.

Lively Discussion Promised.

The monument business will attract lively discussion if the Lee bill ever reaches the senate. Senator Cummings, who thinks the proposition inopportune, will ask to have the bill amended so as to provide suitable recognition of the late Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, and the members of his cabinet. Senator Cummings thinks such a group would be quite in keeping with the sentiment of the Lee bill.

The Gazette, Wednesday, drew attention to the almost unprecedented action of the senate, which confirmed the ad interim appointments of ex-Governor Stone. No retiring governor for 20 years has received this consideration, Stone, Hastings, Pattison and Beaver, recalling from the senate the ad interim nominations of their predecessors. Many believe this would have been done by Gov. Pennypacker had it not been for the alleged strained relations between the legislative leaders. While many of the appointments were those of notaries, more than half of the 300 names on the list were those of men appointed to positions of no little dignity, but also of important influence politically. It is stated that while Gov. Pennypacker himself would probably have indorsed many of the names sent in, the fact remains that those confirmed will feel that their obligation is to Stone instead of Gov. Pennypacker.

Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania was well represented in the list of confirmations. Many places filled were medical examiners on hospital boards; state dental examiners; state board of undertakers; state pharmaceutical board; state board of health and vital statistics; veterinary board; board of public charities; state hospital and insane institution trustees; Western penitentiary; Morganza reform school; mining inspectors, etc.

Many Allegheny Men.

Thomas G. Sample, superintendent of public printing, was confirmed for four years from July 1, 1901, and Samuel Maloney was confirmed as harbor master of Philadelphia, "until superseded." Of interest to Gazette readers particularly was Charles Bratt of Allegheny as a member of the state dental board of examiners; Dr. Cyrus B. King of Allegheny, A. J. Logan of Pittsburgh and P. C. Boyd of Oil City as members of the state board of charities; Harry K. Daugherty of Mercer as a trustee of "Cottage State hospital;" Robert Pitcairn of Pittsburgh as member of the board of managers of the Western Pennsylvania hospital of Dixmont; N. A. Flood of Meadville, Frank H. Johnston of Franklin, S. R. Mason of Mercer and S. W. Waters of Warren as trustees of the state hospital for insane at Warren; J. N. Davidson and William Bradberry of Allegheny, S. M. Jackson of Apollo, Thomas B. Simpson of Oil City as trustee of the state institution for the feeble minded at Polk; L. H. Willard of Allegheny as a member of the commission to select a site and build a homeopathic state hospital for the insane; William J. Diehl and David B. Oliver as members of the board of inspectors of the Western penitentiary.

The following were appointed members of the board of managers of the Pennsylvania reform school at Morganza for a term of four years, dating May, 1901: William D. Wallace, New Castle; Hay Walker, Jr., Allegheny; John T. Iams of Waynesburg; William S. McKinney of Allegheny; William Denny of Washington; James McClellan of Morganza; A. J. Pentecost of Allegheny; Thomas Wightman of Pittsburgh, and Edwin S. Weyand of Beaver. Other appointments were: William Kennedy of Allegheny member of the board of game commissioners.

Senator Cyrus Woods of Westmoreland, who has been appointed chairman of the judiciary general committee of the senate, has selected William Mitinger of Greensburg as his secretary.

LULU GLASER HAS NEW STAR

MISS LULU GLASER.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—May Cornwell, a chorus girl of Lulu Glaser's opera company, playing here, was made a star in one night. Last night Laura Millard, the soprano and leading woman, was taken sick suddenly and Miss Cornwell was asked to sing her part.

She broke down and cried when informed of her sudden promotion, saying that she never could go through it. The stage manager said it was the chance of her life, and she finally dried her tears, went on and made a hit. The audience was kept waiting, though, until she made up her mind to essay the role.

NEGRO BURGLAR CHASED BY CROWD

An exciting revolver duel occurred early this morning between City Detective Charles Ayer Aymer and a desperate negro burglar, in Grant street, in front of St. Paul's cathedral. The negro was pursued through the downtown streets and alleys by the detective, Sergt. George O'Neil from Central station and a score of men. During the endeavors of the officers and crowd to capture the negro about a half-dozen shots were fired, but the negro managed to escape. It is believed that one of the detective's bullets hit the fugitive.

About 1 o'clock Watchman Bert Marino heard a crashing of glass and found a negro trying to force a rear window in the clothing store of A. L. Kloppfer, No. 622 Smithfield street. When the burglar saw Marino he jumped over the high fence in Montour way. Marino followed and the burglar suddenly wheeled about and fired a revolver at his pursuer. The latter drew his revolver and returned the fire several times. The negro ran up Sixth avenue to Cherry alley, where the officers from the Safety building joined in the pursuit.

Detective Amyer, with Officer Charles Ward, ran up to Grant street to head off the negro, while another crowd, headed by Sergt. O'Neil and Watchman Marino, followed the negro up the alley. At Virgin alley the burglar turned up to Grant street and almost ran into the arms of the detective, but Amyer was unable to grasp the man and turned to follow him, when the negro fired point blank at the detective. The bullet passed within a few inches of the detective's head, and for a moment dazed him. By the time Amyer had his revolver out the negro had gained a good start and Amyer fired at the fleeing man. The negro, almost with the report of the pistol, cried out with pain and dashed across the street into Scrip alley, followed by the crowd, but soon hid himself and no further trace of the man could be found by his pursuers. It is thought he escaped in one of the courts off Diamond street.

SAVANNAH IS SHAKEN BY HEAVY EARTHQUAKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 23.—Two shocks of earthquake were generally felt in Savannah tonight at 8:15 o'clock. News from the settlements along the coast indicate that they were of sufficient violence to rock houses.

From Tybee Island came the reports of the greatest violence, and decided alarm was caused among the few who populate the resort at this season. Mrs. Evans, the keeper of the lighthouse, telephoned that five shocks had shaken the lighthouse so that in the living rooms, 40 feet from the ground, the sleeping children had been awakened and greatly frightened.

In other houses of the island the shocks were as perceptible, and it was some time before the excitement they caused subsided.

In the city no report of any damage has been received and it is doubtful if there will be any, as the shocks were scarcely severe enough for that.

AUGUSTA, GA., Jan. 23.—A slight earthquake shock was felt here tonight at 8:15 o'clock. No damage resulted.

EMPLOYES SIGNING THEIR CERTIFICATES

The majority of the employes of the United States Steel Corporation concerns in the Monongahela valley districts who have signified their intentions of taking stock in the corporation, according to the offer made on New Year's day, have received certificates showing that they agree to the terms of the corporation in taking out the stock, have signed during the past few days and returned them to the various subsidiary companies. The certificates require the workmen who ask for stock to give their ages, the wages or salaries each receive, the amount of stock they desire or are entitled to, and the sum they are willing to pay off on their stock each pay day, or at times easiest for them.

A larger amount of shares of stock have been taken by the employes of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works and blast furnaces at Braddock than at any of the other plants of the subsidiary companies in the western part of the state thus far heard from. Between 1,500 and 1,600 workmen, almost all of the lesser paid of skilled and unskilled men, have taken up the company's offer.

EAGERNESS OF AUDITORS

John C. Haymaker, Republican nominee for the office of recorder of Pittsburgh, received a grand ovation from the voters of Lawrenceville in Keane's hall, Butler and Forty-fourth streets, last night. When Haymaker stepped on the platform he was greeted by deafening cheers. During his convincing speech he was frequently interrupted by loud huzzas as he made telling points. The other speakers had to stop to allow the crowd to cheer nearly every time his name was mentioned, and after the meeting Haymaker's popularity was shown by the fact that most of the 1,200 people who were in the hall fought their way up to the platform to grasp the hand of the "next recorder," as they expressed it, and to assure him of their support at the coming election.

The audience was largely composed of men who work in the mills and shops of Lawrenceville, although the business men of that end of the city were there in large numbers. Between the speeches a colored quartet rendered some pleasing music.

Had Confidence of Audience.

When Haymaker declared without the fear of contradiction that he is no man's candidate; that he had asked the support of no one before he was named for the office, and challenged anybody to state that politics had ever influenced him in the discharge of his duties of district attorney, the crowd could hardly hold itself. Cries of "That's right!" "We know that!" and "Your record is clean!" greeted him.

His denial of charges by the opposition that he is any one man's candidate, followed by the assertion that he would conduct the office in the interest of the citizens of Pittsburgh and not for any clique or set of men, was received by the crowd with loud rounds of applause. To clinch his assertion he declared he would be foolish, were he so minded, to try to re-form an organization that had been repudiated at the last two elections in this city.

Charles A. O'Brien, a Democrat from the Fourteenth ward, who is chairman of the Jacksonian party, was the first speaker introduced by Chairman Edwin M. Groves. He keyed the crowd up by his warm speech and laid bare the reasons for the many recent changes in local politics during the present campaign. Many of his statements were new to the people present, and that he made an impression on them could be seen by the comments in the audience and the manner in which his remarks were taken, several of the spectators asking questions and getting answers that enlightened them considerably on subjects on which they have been in darkness, and which the Citizens party studiously avoids at all times.

J. McF. Carpenter prefaced his remarks by stating that he saw a good many of his old-time Democratic friends in the audience, and he was glad to see that they were in better company under present conditions. Those referred to were of the same opinion, for they came back with the statement that they knew their business and were after honest government, no matter which party it came from.

Carpenter Was Witty.

Mr. Carpenter's speech was full of wit, but his biggest hit was made when he compared the records of the two nominees. The comparisons sometimes drew shouts of laughter, and at others the ensuing silence showed that the sons of toil who were listening had been given some things that made them stop and ponder and realize that the office of recorder of this great city was in danger of going into the control of persons who would use it for their own aggrandizement.

John B. McAdoo made a speech that was not very long and contained a good bit of history of the early political parties of this country.

Col. Frank I. Rutledge was probably better known to the audience than any of the other speakers, and many of the crowd were not afraid to let him know it. He acknowledged that he formerly was a member of the Citizens party, but declared that he could not stick to any organization that was formed for an avowed purpose and then went back completely on all its pledges.

He asserted that the large following the Citizens party formerly had was just because of its war on corruption and "one-man" power. But he asked if those principles were prominent or even had a place in this campaign. That most of the auditors knew this as well as he did could easily be told by the answers that were shot back from all parts of the large hall.

O'BRIEN LIFTS THE LID

One of the Organizers of the Citizens Party Turns on the Light.

Charles A. O'Brien, one of the original organizers of the Citizens party, who is now chairman of the Jacksonian party, turned on the light. This is what he said:

The history of municipal politics has many examples of abortive or perverted reform movements which have been made so by schemers availing themselves of a rightsous cause, to obtain power and influence for base and selfish ends, but never has there occurred in this or any other country a more flagrant and outrageous instance of this kind of fraud and duplicity than we have before us today in the so-called Citizens party. This is a strong assertion, but it is absolutely true.

The Citizens movement of last year was a worthy one, honest, courageous and beneficial to the community. It was conducted by a representative committee for a good purpose and by thoroughly honest methods. The real platform was the abolition of bossism and better administration of affairs. The boss was wholly eliminated from the control and direction of that campaign. But no sooner had the election been won than Thomas Bigelow assumed the role of boss and claimed the whole credit for the success of the campaign. Here he saw his opportunity to recoup himself for his failure to control the appointment of the first recorder under the ripper bill and work out his scheme of personal revenge. When the county campaign was initiated Bigelow took it bodily out of the hands of those who started it and organized a county committee of 25 men, who were entirely at his bidding. When he had accomplished this, he abandoned the idea of a local non-partisan movement and began the building up of a Quay machine in the county, its used money in lavish fashion and misused the Democracy to this end.

Democrats Were Fooled.

The result was a complete perversion of all the aims of the Citizens party. Honest Democrats submitted to this for expediency and in the hope of better things when the municipal contest came on. How bitterly they were disappointed recent events have shown. The Democracy had every right and reason to expect:

First—That pursuant to the principles and pledges of the fusion campaigns of February and November, there would be an absence of bossism and personal dictation in the selection of a recordership candidate.

Second—That the candidate proposed would have a first-class record and character.

Third—That there would be made, as a proper basis for fusion, reasonable and proper division of the city departments as a just recognition of the influence and importance of a party which had actually polled in Pittsburgh over 15,000 votes.

Instead of this treatment, publicly and decently accorded, the Democracy was insulted by the offer, first of a candidate so ridiculous that he hardly lasted over night, but he was rejected only to be replaced by another who was unusually condemned by a united press.

Yet Bigelow ruthlessly forced his nomination, not only on his own subservient committee of 38, but, on the refusal of the Democratic advisory committee to accept his choice, bullied, browbeat and bought enough recreant delegates to the Democratic city convention to ratify the Hays nomination, in spite of the most emphatic protest ever made against a candidate for office. This disgraceful proceeding was accomplished through cash and a secret deal, with alleged leaders of the Democratic organization, of a character so contemptible that its authors have been ashamed to make it known.

"Ruffianism, Booze and Boodle."

The desperate corruption, open bribery, threats, violence and general rowdyism by which this Democratic convention was captured and held up have never been equaled in this city. The worst methods ever known to the old days appear as kindergarten pranks compared to this carnival of loot, ruffianism, booze and boodle. Honest Democrats, attempting to vote at the primaries, were chased by paid rowdies, who were sent to see Hays through, and many of those who braved these hirelings at the polls were jockied out of their seats at the convention by the sheer audacity and force of the Bigelow payroll brigade.

The convention was a momentous sham and monstrous travesty. Instead of being a representative body, it was a cringing and sycophantic tool to record the fiat of a corrupt boss, the embodiment of political mire and depravity. Little wonder that the action of this aggregation of fools and tools should be received with the derision of the press and people. To come, as it did, from those professing reform, clean politics and good government, was a thing unknown of at all.

In view of these facts, who are the bolters about whom so much is being said by the Hays press agents? Who is consistent and who is inconsistent? I want to read an editorial of the Pittsburgh Post of December 29, 1902, which condemns Hays in the most virulent language ever used against a candidate for any office.

And from the Pittsburgh Leader, editorially, of Sunday, December 29, 1902, in which the editors of every paper in the city are urged to be against Bigelow and his outfit; also from the Pittsburgh Dispatch of December 31, 1902, in which it is as earnestly urged that all the real supporters of the reform movement strikes a direct blow at the treachery of Bigelow by voting for a respectable Republican candidate.

"Haymaker Has Been True.

But after inserting the above it is pretended by these mercenary newspapers that Mr. Haymaker is not to be trusted because he will be the creature of and puppet of Flinn, so again they are convicted of contradiction and unreliability, for all of these same papers praised Haymaker in the most enthusiastic terms a few years ago, when the Moreland-House cases were on trial, for his resistance of the political influence, which was supposed to be brought to bear to interfere and deter him in the discharge of his duty to the public. Flinn was then in the height of his power, the master of the political situation, and these same newspapers stated that Haymaker was absolutely faithful to his duty. Neither that power at the head of the Republican ring at that time nor any other agency could swerve him from the faithful performance of his public duty. He has not endeavored to satisfy any man or set of men, and to suppose that this Flinn influence is behind Haymaker is a myth and an absurdity.

What if we are not to trust Haymaker, who has a long public record in the most important public office in the county of Allegheny, and whose service has been of the highest character, and against whom no charge has been made or can be made, then are we to trust Mr. Hays and Bigelow?

Those same faithful newspapers, advisers of the dear public, solemnly tell us that we may leave to those two men the reform of municipal affairs for the next three years to come. Do your believe them? Why should we trust Bigelow, who is the boss and director of Hays, and who will be the real recorder should Hays be elected? Has his career been such as to inspire any faith like this?

He began his recent career by assisting M. S. Quay to capture certain members of the legislature for the election of Quay, with the understanding that in consideration of that expensive service Quay would pass a ripper bill and assist the ambition of the Bigelows to secure the Pittsburgh government. The Bigelow methods since he has acquired control of the Citizens party have been the most scandalous and corrupt that ever prevailed in the city of Pittsburgh.

Have Bred Corruption.

It may be truthfully said that Bigelow politics have done more to corrupt the politics of this city than all other things combined.

Are we anxious to return to the Bigelow regime again in Pittsburgh? For this is what the election of Hayes means. In fact were not the Bigelows one of the worst elements of the old days? Is anyone more responsible for the evils of the Pittsburgh government and especially its indebtedness than Ed Bigelow, who for years was director of the public works department?

If Senator Flinn got more contracts than he should have had and better prices than were fair, was it not Ed Bigelow, a sworn officer of the city government, who was responsible to the people of Pittsburgh for that condition of things? He was the man charged with the duty of properly administering public affairs, and it was to him the people had to look for fair dealing. His estimates for public works were about 50 per cent in excess of actual cost. Grant boulevard is a monument of his colossal blunders; so is the Schenley park bridge and the Twenty-second street bridge erected by Brother Schultz.

So then why should you be asked to trust Bigelow and Hays for the improvement of the public service, rather than a man who has been tried as Haymaker certainly has been, and not found wanting.

The whole Bigelow record is absolutely repugnant to any idea or conception of honest public service. Neither of the Bigelows have been public factors. Both of them have to a large extent benefited through the public service.

In fact, the situation is such at the present hour that this contest will hourly narrow down to the question of whether the people of this city will permit the electorate absolutely debauched and prostituted with money, or in other words whether the respectable element of this community outnumbers the disreputable or criminal classes.

I have every faith and confidence that the very people of this city, who have stood for honest reform and achieved the victory of last spring, will again repudiate Bigelow, his motley, his methods, and all falsifying and bogus of which he and his associates have been guilty, and that honest manhood of this city will resent in the severest and most emphatic way the absurd and contemptible perversion of honest effort for better things.

HAYMAKER IS HONEST.

J. McF. Carpenter Speaks of the Splendid Character of the Republican Nominee.

J. McF. Carpenter said, in part:

I don't believe it is in John Haymaker's make-up to do a dishonest thing. I have heard it said that he will be owned by somebody else. Now just try it once and you will find out. I tell you that I do not believe the man lives who has money enough, or influence enough to swerve John Haymaker from what he believes to be right. Character counts for something in a man. He has two generations behind him to my certain knowledge, that were all right, and I have never known anything wrong with him. I will stand by the man that I believe to be an honest man, and he would be a shame if I did not do it. I said when he was nominated that it would be labor of love on my part to speak to the voters of this city and support him, and I say to you now that it is. He has told us that he is no man's man, and I know that to be a fact. I want you to remember another thing—he said that it would be the ambition of his life to give Pittsburgh the cleanest government that it ever had, and he meant every word of it. That is worth noting.

Now look at the way the campaign is being carried on. We are told that Mr. Hays is conducting the affair by a quiet campaign in company with Andy Fulton. He is trying to find out some of the dark places in this city.

Talk about your bossism—talk about Haymaker being under the influence of William Flinn, and then look at the fact. Haymaker nominated by a full convention and a sober convention at the same time, and the other fellow nominated just in the manner that Mr. O'Brien told you about tonight. Now where is the bossism?

Some of the newspapers in this city have absolutely affected to condemn Haymaker as a candidate for the recordership, and why? Because a few ministers of the gospel who had known him from his childhood dared to exercise the rights of manhood and say that he was clean and honest, and the newspapers affected to say that this sort of thing would not do him any good, but it would be an injury to him. I think they will find out their mistake, and, gentlemen, what an evidence that my friend John Haymaker is not fit to be recorder of Pittsburgh because the ministers and laymen unite in saying that he is decent and honest.

Who of you have not read of that faithful, devout Catholic priest from the West End who lost his life nursing that loathsome disease afflicting our city? And yet these men would condemn the testimony of such a man as that concerning the candidate for recorder. I say, down with such infernal politics as that. Has it come to this, that a man cannot be a decent man and get the support of decent men without being cried down?

AN IMPORTANT CONTEST

John B. McAdoo Points Out the Necessity for Electing a Good Recorder.

John B. McAdoo said in part:

The election this year is of much importance because it determines the political character of Pittsburgh for three years. We are living in an day of change. Parties are coming and going, but the Republican party is the same today as it was 40 years ago.

Today we are opposed to the so-called citizens party, a youthful party, full of promises; always promising but never fulfilling, always pretending to do but never doing.

In answer to the popular demand for a man of high character and ability, measuring up to the requirements of the chief executive of Pittsburgh, John C. Haymaker was nominated. His nomination was not brought about by the action of a few men, but by a popular uprising of independent and organization supporters. Mr. Haymaker is controlled by no boss; he represents the will of the people; his nomination was made in such a way as it has been demanded Republican nominations should be made and brought about, and if elected he is responsible to the people for the future conduct of the city's government.

HAYMAKER'S PLAIN TALK

Tells the People of Lawrenceville What He Will do if Elected.

John C. Haymaker made the following address.

No man but the candidate for an office realizes the great embarrassment that comes to him when as a candidate he undertakes to address as vast an audience as appears here tonight. In making an address to you, common modesty forbids that he talk to you about his own merit, and ordinary decency denies him the right as a candidate to use the license of tongue against his opponent. Therefore I shall not use a single breath to fan into flame anything that appears like a personal quarrel between myself and Mr. Hayes. Were I to undertake to dissect him and hold up to you the reasons why he should not be elected recorder of the city and give many reasons in detail I would be doing so differentially have you believe that I possess personally the merits which are denied to him.

I shall confine myself to a statement to you of a few matters of which I have knowledge. With a statement of what I propose to do for you. If the office which I seek tonight shall be cast upon me by your suffrage. No man in Pittsburgh was more surprised than I on the night before the convention when I learned for the first time that I was to be the nominee of the Republican party. On the Saturday before I was elected a delegate to vote in that convention I met Mayor Churchill on the street and Dr. Evans or any one of the great and able and independent men who were spoken of by the Republican party at that time. Late on Monday night I was told that on account of revolt and other troubles that it became necessary that I should stand as the nominee of that convention, as that was the agreement and desire of a majority of the delegates from all over Pittsburgh.

Nomination Was Unsolicited.

Tuesday night I was nominated and I was able to go upon that rostrum and declare as I declare to you tonight that no man living in Pittsburgh could say that I asked him to use his influence or his vote to nominate me for that high office. I am under obligations to no man or set of men for the nomination, to what is doubtless as you have heard tonight the greatest office in the gift of the citizens of Pittsburgh. But it has been told to you by some newspapers that although nominated in the most remarkable convention that has been held here for many years, represented by the profession by the intelligent business men, by the laborer, the mechanic, the artisan, that notwithstanding this nomination that I would be dominated and controlled and governed by certain men in the city, by certain political parties or affections to the detriment of the people of Pittsburgh.

Admitting that I have lived to this age, admitting that I have represented you in the discharge of duty for the last nine years as district attorney, admitting as they do that I discharged these duties with the proper amount of courage, and yet they say that notwithstanding these things I have arrived at a time in my political life when I shall be dominated and controlled by some men or set of men. I want to say to the people of Pittsburgh as I have said in my letter of acceptance, and as I shall say for the next month, that I am elected on the 17th of next month. I shall be the recorder of the people of the city of Pittsburgh. The men who are here and know me, I believe know well that I shall discharge those duties with an eye single to the advantage of the people of Pittsburgh.

Will Not Work His Ruin.

It is said that I will run Pittsburgh in the interest of the an old organization; that I will build up, as they say, an organization that is dead; that I will build up an organization that the people of Pittsburgh have repudiated at two elections. Well, gentlemen, every man that knows me ought to know that if I am elected on the 17th of next month, I shall be the recorder of the people of the city of Pittsburgh, and if elected he is responsible to the people for the future conduct of the city's government.

It is said that I will run Pittsburgh in the interest of the an old organization; that I will build up, as they say, an organization that is dead; that I will build up an organization that the people of Pittsburgh have repudiated at two elections. Well, gentlemen, every man that knows me ought to know that if I am elected on the 17th of next month, I shall be the recorder of the people of the city of Pittsburgh. COUNCILMEN AGAIN DODGING ON THE WABASH ENTRY MATTER

Corporations Committee of Select Council Approves an Unsatisfactory Ordinance.

SURPRISE BY MURPHY

Measure as It Stands Leaves Duquesne Way Elevation Unsettled and South Side Branch Eliminated.

The corporations committee of Pittsburgh select council approved a Wabash railroad ordinance at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, but it was not the ordinance the Wabash people wanted approved. The committee gave its approval to the ordinance passed by common council instead of the revised ordinance submitted on behalf of the Wabash at the meeting of the committee a week ago yesterday.

The common council ordinance contains no provision for the proposed freight line of the Wabash on the South Side, up the Monongahela river to the Jones & Laughlin works and other mills. It does not even contain the agreement reached by the Wabash and Pennsylvania over the Duquesne way elevation.

The ordinance as adopted by the committee yesterday, according to the view taken by Wabash officials, prevents the construction not only of their South Side branch, but also of the branch to Allegheny, for it contains the provision, offered in common council by Dr. J. P. Sterrett, a Bigelow member from the Nineteenth ward, fixing the elevation of the Allegheny branch over Duquesne way at such a height that it cannot be built so as to meet the level of its tracks on the North Side.

Several Peculiar Moves.

There were several peculiar moves made in the committee yesterday. The revised ordinance, although offered in lieu of the common council ordinance, was not even taken up. John A. Murphy perfunctorily stated that he wished to offer the new provisions of the revised ordinance as amendments to the old ordinance, and after the first amendment, providing for the South Side branch, had been under consideration for an hour or more Mr. Murphy withdrew the amendment at the moment when it seemed likely to pass.

Attorney A. M. Neeper for the Wabash stated that Mr. Murphy had withdrawn the amendment without his consent, as he wished the matter put to a vote. Mr. Murphy's only explanation for his action was that a number of members of select council, not members of the committee, wanted to hear a discussion on the South Side branch. He did not explain how the insertion of the amendment in the original ordinance could stop any discussion in select council when the matter comes up next Monday.

Ruhlandt Gives Surprise.

J. W. Ruhlandt furnished the first surprise of the meeting. As soon as the committee convened he moved that the common council ordinance, not the revised ordinance, be returned to select council with an affirmative recommendation.

Mr. Murphy then stated that Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie road, was present to protest against the incorporation of the South Side branch in the ordinance, and Mr. Murphy moved that Col. Schoonmaker be granted a hearing. This was immediately granted, and Col. Schoonmaker presented a blue print drawing of a plan which shows, according to his statements, that the Wabash can build a branch up the Monongahela without running up Carson street for a certain distance on an elevated track.

Col. Schoonmaker's plan provides for a branch from the Wabash's main line, in the rear of Mt. Washington tunnel, eastward along the other side of the hill, and coming out through a tunnel opposite Third street. Col. Schoonmaker insisted that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie was not opposed to the entrance of the Wabash into the city, that it did not regard the Wabash as a competitor and had granted it several small favors which, he said, he cited to show that there was no antagonism on the part of the Lake Erie against the Wabash.

Schoonmaker Offers Objections.

The vice president of the Lake Erie then spoke on the objections the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie has to the proposed South Side branch. He said that the Wabash intends to enter the Robinson-Rea property, which is to be its freight terminal site, from Carson street at an elevation of 14 feet above the street, and then to run down a 3.55 per cent grade to the level of the Lake Erie tracks under the Panhandle bridge, crossing the Lake Erie tracks at grade.

He said that this plan would block the trains of both roads and add to the congestion of traffic at that point. He asserted that it would be impossible for the Wabash road to operate and run its trains on such a grade, which he claimed was steeper than any grade on the Pennsylvania railroad. Col. Schoonmaker also contended that an elevated road along Carson street would darken the street and obstruct the traffic on the street. He asserted that it was not true that Jones & Laughlin wanted the Wabash, as the firm was negotiating with the Lake Erie for a complete change of its connections with the Lake Erie.

Col. Schoonmaker charged that the Wabash road had interfered with the Pittsburgh & Lake's Erie plans to extend its freight terminals on the South Side by the proposed branch up Carson street, claiming that the Wabash had done more to retard the development of freight transportation in the city already than it could advance in the next five years.

Neeper Answers Schoonmaker.

Attorney Neeper replied to the objections raised by Col. Schoonmaker. He said that the question of grade crossing under the Panhandle bridge was a matter for the courts to settle, as the laws of Pennsylvania amply protect an established line from new railroads wishing to cross its tracks.

"If the proposed grade and grade crossing is injurious to any person, it is to the Wabash," stated Mr. Neeper. Mr. Neeper said that the acts of the Lake Erie did not bear out Col. Schoonmaker's statements that the Lake Erie wanted the Wabash to come into the city. He said the Lake Erie had put every possible obstacle in the way of the Wabash's entrance.

Mr. Neeper said that the proposition for the Wabash to build through a tunnel at Third street was impracticable, as it would not only involve an expenditure of money that would make the branch line a financial impossibility, but that the earthy formation of the hill would prevent such an engineering feat. He also stated that the Pennsylvania Company, whose tracks are opposite Third street, would oppose any such plan. Mr. Neeper said the Wabash Company had already expended between $1,500,000 and $1,600,000 for property to build the branch.

Says Wabash Is Wanted.

Mr. Neeper disputed Col. Schoonmaker's statement that Jones & Laughlin do not want the new road to enter its plant. Mr. Neeper exhibited a card, bearing the indorsement of B. F. Jones, Sr., to the construction of the South Side line.

The attorney for the Wabash said he was authorized to offer any property owner on the South Side, who thought himself damaged, a price for his property three times as large as the amount for which the property is assessed by the city for taxation.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield spoke as the representative of the chamber of commerce and urged the speedy passage of the Wabash ordinance. He suggested that the ordinance be passed with the amendment for the South Side branch, and that all matters in dispute between the Wabash and the Lake Erie be submitted to an arbitration commission of engineers, as was done in the case of the Duquesne way elevation.

"The most important thing," said Maj. Burchfield, "is to allow the Wabash to get into the city and get over to Allegheny. The ordinance should be passed and the differences between the contending railroad companies fought out in court if they cannot settle them amicably."

Branch Done Forever.

Attorney Neeper stated that if the ordinance was passed without the amendment for the South Side branch that the branch "was done forever."

In reply to a question from John S. Lambie, Mr. Neeper explained that the Lake Erie, in opposing the construction of the branch, had based their objections principally on the grounds that the Wabash had not first obtained the right of way from councils. Mr. Neeper said, in view of the recent decision of the supreme court, that the courts would stop the South Side branch until council saw fit to pass another ordinance, which was a remote possibility unless a provision for it were inserted in the original ordinance.

Mr. Murphy then withdrew the amendment for the South Side branch, much to the surprise of the Wabash officials, and every person else in the room except the members of the committee, who apparently anticipated such a move. The ordinance, as passed by common council, was then approved.

Upperman Offers an Explanation.

When the meeting of the committee convened, Chairman John Upperman took the floor and offered an explanation for the alleged "hold-up" of the Wabash ordinance by the committee. He said the committee was not responsible for a single hour's delay on the Wabash ordinance; that the Wabash officials had asked, when the ordinance was received from common council, that no meeting of the committee be held for a couple of weeks, to allow them to prepare some amendment. Chairman Upperman then referred to the delay caused by the dispute regarding the Duquesne way elevation, stating that the matter had been left to three engineers and that it had not been settled by the engineers until a few days before the last meeting of the committee.

Chairman Upperman did not explain, however, his arbitrary rulings on Friday, a week ago, when consideration of the Wabash ordinance was postponed indefinitely, or why it had not been taken up and acted upon at that time.

THE WEATHER.

Colder.

Snow and colder weather is predicted for Pittsburgh and vicinity today and tomorrow by the Washington weather bureau. The fall in the temperature yesterday morning brought snow, and, as it fell the wet sidewalks were frozen, making walking difficult for some hours during the morning. During the day a number of persons were reported injured by falling on the slippery pavements and in coasting accidents. The minimum temperature, 27 degrees, was registered last night at 8 o'clock, and the maximum, 36 degrees, occurred at 9 o'clock in the morning.

JOHN HAYMAKER WAS INDORSED

Twentieth Ward Citizens Declare for Him for Recorder.

DR. DUFF HAS GOOD WORD

The Well-Known Divine Tells Why It Is Safe for Lovers of Good Government to Support the Republican Nominee.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens held in the Sixth district of the Twentieth ward last night to consider the recordership. The gathering was made up of men of all political faiths and was presided over by Y. A. Hudson. The result was the adoption of this resolution:

"Whereas, John C. Haymaker has been nominated by a Republican convention, and by the best element of the Democratic party indorsed for recorder of Pittsburgh,

"Resolved, That we, the voters of the Sixth district of the Twentieth ward of Pittsburgh, irrespective of former party affiliations, in meeting assembled heartily indorse the candidacy of John C. Haymaker and pledge him our support."

L. S. McKallup of McKallup & Co., Pike and Thirteenth streets, one of the oldest and most intimate friends of John C. Haymaker, said yesterday: "I know Mr. Haymaker all through, and have watched him from every angle of vision for many years, and I am absolutely confident that he has the ability to fill any office in the United States; I know that he has not a 'boss' and never will have any 'boss' except his conscience; and his conscience is enlightened and governed by high principles, and conviction of duty is wrought into every fiber of the man. It is sure the people of Pittsburgh will not make any mistake in placing him in the highest office within their gift."

Wants His Stand Known.

Thomas B. David, one of the oldest and best known citizens of the Nineteenth ward, said last evening: "I am unqualifiedly for Mr. Haymaker from start to finish. I see no other way for a man of conscience who desires the best interests of the city in every way to cast his vote, and I want it openly known where I stand and what I desire."

The Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Duff of the widely known Duff family of Westmoreland county, a brother of A. W. Duff and of Dr. John M. Duff, both of this city, and one of the ablest men and most influential ministers of the Pittsburgh presbytery, said last evening: "I have a very high estimate of the character of Mr. Haymaker from the point of view of a life-long acquaintance.

"We were born and reared in the same neighborhood; went to the local academy together, and when I purposed at one time to study law I registered under him; so, of course, I know him well.

"As the Twig Is Bent."

"There is no better evidence of the steadfastness of his character than that its development has been within the lines that were already distinguished in his boyhood. There was the same sunny temper, genial wit and humor, fondness for the out-of-door world, friendship and straightforwardness. As a boy, he could study, he could run, he could wrestle and he could box—as I had an occasion to remember—and he never did a mean thing that any of the fellows ever heard of. The boy was father of the man.

"Mr. Haymaker is the very sort of man required by all citizens who believe in the non-partisan selection of the holders of municipal office. He will meet the expectations of all honest men. He has had experience in public office; he is trustworthy and brave; he will follow his conscience, and among all who know him well there is not the slightest doubt that he will keep his word."

The Equal Rights party was born last night at a meeting of colored citizens held at No. 553 Grant street. A patent for the exclusive use of the appellation will be filed in the courts today.

Thomas J. Monroe, E. W. Johnson, G. H. Jackson, John A. Downing and H. O. Woodson submitted a platform that was adopted. The purpose of the party is to secure better recognition for the colored race. The formers of the organization believe that the best interests of their race will be subserved by supporting Mr. Haymaker and he has been indorsed by the party.

WANT SHAFFER OUT OF THE A. A. PRESIDENCY

Opposition Will Probably Join in Support of Lewis Good of Pittsburgh.

It is announced that President T. J. Shaffer of the Amalgamated association is to have concerted opposition for re-election in Lewis Good, a leading Pittsburgh member of the organization, who has been a power for good in the annual conventions of the organization for years. Last year there was divided and belated opposition to Shaffer's re-election, but this only resulted in his success. This year some of Shaffer's friends expect him to drop out of the running when the time comes.

The ill-effect of the loss of the big steel strike, together with the recent Gompers-Shaffer incident at the New Orleans convention of the American Federation of Labor, will probably make his succeeding himself again an up-hill proposition.

Lewis Good is a skillful bar and sheet roller, employed at the Pittsburgh mills of Zug & Co. He has been prominent in the organization for years, being usually a delegate of his lodge to the annual conventions. He joined the organization so soon as he was eligible, in 1881, and his father was one of the organizers of the Sons of Vulcan.

THE COMMITTEE WILL HAVE TO PAY $17,000

McKeesport Men Nevertheless Determined to Fulfill Contract With Corporation.

The committee of business men, headed by County Commissioner James Evans of McKeesport, who undertook to purchase and deliver a site to the United States Steel Corporation for the new $10,000,000 tube plant at $750,000, will have to go into their pockets for nearly $17,000 of the $45,000 excess fund needed to carry out the terms of the agreement.

It has been impossible to get the business men interested sufficiently to raise the $45,000 and the fund now lacks $17,000 of being complete. The steel corporation is about ready to pay the money for the property and the members of the committee are daily expecting to be called upon for their share of the purchase price.

Capt. A. B. Campbell, a member of the committee, states that they will make good their contract, no matter how the money has to be secured. A plan has been suggested to float a loan at one of the banks on the personal notes of the committeemen and to carry the subscriptions over until enough has been secured to reimburse the committee. The final transfer of the property to the steel corporation is expected on Monday.

The citizens committee is composed of James Evans, County Recorder J. Denny O'Neil, Capt. A. B. Campbell, Daniel G. Donovan, Thomas D. Gardner, R. E. Stone, O. M. Hunter and E. F. Douglass.

CARING FOR SALOON VOTE

Bigelow Machine Has Delegated Hays and Fulton to Do the Work.

ARE BUSY IN EVENINGS

Boss Does Not Dare Put His Candidate on the Stump—Lawyers Have Been "Retained" to Defend the Machine Nominee.

After nightfall, under the guidance of ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton, William B. Hays, the Bigelow candidate for recorder, does the principal work of the campaign. Hays believes that if "reform" is to win, the "saloon vote" must be cared for.

Hays is not a stump speaker. Thursday night, when his campaign was formally opened, he found it convenient to be in Marietta, O., or some other place far removed from Old City hall. His boss does not dare to put him on the stump. If those who want to support the Bigelow machine desire to see their candidate, public meetings are not the places to look for him.

When he buttoned his Bigelow collar about his neck he signed a statement of his "position," alleged to have been written by him. That statement must suffice for the entire campaign. He was then told to keep his mouth closed and use his pen for writing checks. He was informed that lawyers would be "retained" to defend him on the stump. The boss has kept his word. When a list of those "retained" is given out shortly, the deluded followers of the Bigelow machine will have a rude awakening to the fact that something stronger than sentiment actuates several of the chief orators of the "reform" party.

The "retained" orator will do the stump work in the public places, and the candidate, under guidance of Fulton, is expected to mingle with the "boys," where the amber flows. There they can hold joint debates with the clerk or make light of the preachers who have voluntarily given their indorsement of Mr. Haymaker. Everything goes, so long as the investment is a paying one in the number of votes secured for "reform."

The Pittsburgh Observer makes this comment on the letter of acceptance written by John C. Haymaker:

Shining clear through the letter of acceptance is the candidate's determination to be recorder in fact as well as in name. That Mr. Haymaker is no man's man was well known, but lest there be any misunderstanding he clinches in vigorous terms in the minds of those who desire pure municipal government the knowledge that the city's interests only will actuate him, in case of election, in all his dealings as chief magistrate of the city.

The recorder of Pittsburgh is not the figurehead the mayor of Pittsburgh was popularly supposed to be, so that Mr. Haymaker's declaration of principles and intentions can be considered as the declaration of a man who, besides meaning what he says, will have the power, if elected, to fulfill every pledge he makes. Those who knew Haymaker know that when he says he asked nobody's vote or influence for the nomination he tells the truth, and that when he says he is untrammeled by pledges to any man, his word can be depended upon.

ORGANIST LEMARE'S RECITALS.

Good Music Will Be Heard Tonight and Tomorrow.

Organist Edwin H. Lemare will give the 550th and the 560th in the series of free organ recitals at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall, Schenley park, this evening and tomorrow afternoon. The interest created in the compositions of Dr. Elgar has induced Organist Lemare to play a second work by the English composer and this evening he will play the march, "Caractacus." The program for tonight is as follows:

March, "Caractacus".....Elgar
Canzona, Minuet and Trio.....Wolstenholme
(a) Contemplation.....Lemare
(b) Chanson d'Ete.....Lemare
Toccata and Fugue in D minor.....Bach
Intermission of five minutes.
Menuet.....Moszkowski
Improvisation.
Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner

HONOR PAID TO "BOBBY" BURNS

DANCES, MIRTH, MUSIC

Celebrations Were Merry in Character and the Songs of Old Scotland Were Varied by Highland Flings.

Scottish melodies and the lore of the highlands and the moors were refreshed in the memories of the large assemblage of local Scotchmen who gathered at Cyclorama auditorium, Allegheny, last night to celebrate the one hundred and forty-fourth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, the Scottish poet and singer. The affair was given by Clan McPherson No. 59, Order of Scottish Clans. Over 400 people were present.

An excellent program of songs, dances and humorous talks, all of a Scotch character, was given, the program opening with "The Gathering of the Clans," by Piper Donald McKay. "Bonnie Doon," known to every Scotchman the world over, was sung by Mr. Will Davis, and Miss Miranda Will sang "Scotland Yet," another favorite.

The "highland fling" was executed by Alexander McDonald in costume. Messrs. McNaughton, Douglass and McNaughton sang the trio, "Oh, Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut," and Miss Jane McKelvie contributed "Afton Water." The humorous selections of Arthur Love were very entertaining.

Dance of the Claymore.

The entire evening until 11 o'clock was given up to the singing of well-known Scottish songs, the program being in two parts. After a short intermission following Mr. Love's talk, Miss Jane McKelvie sang "Roy's Wife o' Aldivalooch." Mr. Davis sang "My Ain Willie Is a Laddie Fair."

The feature of the program was the sword dance by Alexander McDonald. This terpsichorian feat is one peculiar to the Scots, and ability to dance it is now a rare accomplishment even among the clansmen. The musical program was completed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the audience. An intermission, during which refreshments were served, followed the music. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Clan Cameron No. 120, Order of Scottish Clans, gave a concert and dance at Thuna's academy, in Fifth avenue, last evening, celebrating the birthday of Burns. Over 500 persons were present and a large number of these wore some distinctively Scotch garb, the plaid or the Glengarry, and the music and dances bore the impress of the same nationality.

Bonny Scottish Airs.

The features of the program were the piper's opening rally, by James Blackhall; an address, "Robert Burns," by David Anderson, past royal deputy of the state; song by the Cameron quartet, Mrs. P. Duncan and Mrs. R. Fredericks, Thomas Anderson and James Blackhall; song, "Callier Herrin'," by Miss J. McKelvie; "Bonnie Dundee," by James Muir; "Star o' Rabbie Burns," Miss M. Whyte; recitation, James McB. Millar. "Ye Banks and Braes," Cameron quartet; "Loch Lomond," James Muir; "Land Across the Sea," Miss M. Whyte; "My Boy Tammie," Miss J. McKelvie.

The committee in charge of the evening's entertainment was John Reid, Lachlan F. Blair, Duncan McIntosh, Walter Hogg and Alexander Blackhall.

The anniversary of the birthday of Robert Burns was celebrated by the Scotch residents of Homestead and vicinity in the Fifth Avenue (Homestead) opera house in an elaborate manner last night. The affair was in charge of the Caledonian society, and a banquet and entertainment was held. The attendance was large, many visitors from nearby towns being present.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Tells How He Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters by Using Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Brock's Age is 114 Years.

MR. ISAAC BROCK, BORN IN BUNCOMBE CO., N. C., MARCH 1, 1788.

His age is 114 years, vouched for by authentic record. He says: "I attribute my extreme old age to the use of Pe-ru-na."

Born before the United States was formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 114 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

A short time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture. In his hand he held a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson, which has been carried by him ever since. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 114 years ago.

Surely a few words from this remarkable old gentleman, who has had 114 years of experience to draw from, would be interesting as well as profitable. A lengthy biographical sketch is given of this remarkable old man in the Waco Times-Herald, December 4, 1898. A still more pretentious biography of this, the oldest living man, illustrated with a double column portrait, was given the readers of the Dallas Morning News, dated December 11, 1898, and also the Chicago-Times Herald of same date. This centenarian is an ardent friend of Peruna, having used it for many years.

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 114 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but of course subject to the little affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation; I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock.

The speech of Attorney C. A. O'Brien, delivered last evening, is worth the reading to every good citizen, and is particularly interesting to decent Democrats. Mr. O'Brien pointed out clearly the treatment to which the Democracy was entitled in the nomination of a candidate for recorder, instead of which it was insulted by the naming of a man so unsatisfactory that he hardly lasted overnight, and the substitution of another of no more ability and of notoriously worse character. No wonder respectable Democrats resent the insult and the subsequent injury inflicted by forcing that man's nomination by methods fitly characterized at the time by the indignant Post.

Colombia has finally agreed to reasonable terms upon the Panama canal and it is up to the United States senate to ratify the treaty. The concession of $250,000 annual rental, after nine years, is fair, because that sum is not more than Colombia derives at present from the Panama railroad. All other features of the treaty were proposed by the United States and are satisfactory. It is to be hoped, under the circumstances, the senate will proceed promptly with ratification, though its record during this session has not been such as to encourage expectation that so simple an act can be accomplished without nonsensical discussion and delay. The fact that work on the canal ought to begin at once will have more weight with the public than the unbusiness-like senators.

Current reports in regard to falsifications of accounts in the Allegheny mayor's office during Wyman's last term are altogether probable. Wyman has heretofore been convicted and sent to jail for misdemeanor. He was found guilty of raiding people, extorting wrongful fees and pocketing the proceeds. The cases now pending indicate that he profited by that experience, and that a different method of looting was adopted. According to statements made, the records of fines imposed were altered so as to show a less amount than the sums actually collected. The opportunities of the mayor's office to which he now aspires. The Citizens party nomination in Allegheny was captured for him by Bigelow, in the same way as the Pittsburgh nomination was captured for Hays, by organizing a committee with the party title, but without party representation. The attempt to elect Wyman and Hays is the most open attempt to fasten the graft system on a community that has ever been made in American politics. The Minneapolis graft system made its entrance under more respectable cover.

Action by select council committee on the Wabash ordinance is quite as strong proof of inability or unwillingness as a previous arbitrary refusal to consider it. In fact, the entire treatment of the Wabash and its legislation is suggestive of motives that are not proclaimed publicly. Possibly the opposing pleas of Col. Schoonmaker and Attorney Neeper so confused members of the committee that they did not know what they were doing. Maj. Burchfield's proposition for arbitration was eminently sensible, but the committee set it at naught by ignoring the mutual agreement between the Pennsylvania and the Wabash affecting elevations at Duquesne way. What will be the next turn in this game can only be conjectured, but if the citizens of Pittsburgh desire fair treatment given they must eliminate the influence of Bigelow and rebuke the councilmanic "combine" at the approaching election. The two are associated, though there are frantic efforts on the part of Bigelow organs to shun responsibility for the "combine" on the Haymaker candidacy. There is too much affinity between the hold-up and personal payroll politics for them to remain long apart.

Chancellor von Buelow's explanation that the bombardment of Fort San Carlos was in defense of German prestige is no doubt correct. It is plainly Germany's policy to make her power feared and respected by South American states, and to bombard conviction into them that the Monroe doctrine does not amount to anything when German interests are concerned. Her present bellicose demonstrations are based upon the temporary alliance into which German policy has entangled the British government and which has brought down a storm of censure from English public opinion. The proceedings of Germany are viewed with even more alarm and indignation in England than in this country, and the unpleasant experience will operate as a warning against any further association with German schemes of reprisal. What is going on now in Venezuela is but a foretaste of what may be expected as a regular thing when Germany's naval power is strong enough to withstand our own. In European affairs Germany must practice caution, as her territory is exposed to attack from three great powers. In American affairs her risk is limited to naval engagements, while our ports and coasts are exposed to attack. We shall be guilty of national stupidity for which we shall have to pay dear some day, if the Venezuelan affair does not enforce the necessity of maintaining a navy that can cope with the German navy at all times.

A peculiar misapprehension of a judicial opinion is given prominence on the first page of a Pittsburgh evening paper in its report of a breach of promise case. "One interesting point of the charge of the court, some lawyers thought," says the writer, "if given practical effect would mean that a poor girl would not be damaged as much in such an instance as this as a rich girl." Proceeding, it is stated that "the court said the jury should consider what kind of a home the woman would get from a man in his station of life and what the actual loss of it and his affections were worth," and "if the defendant were a man of greater means than the defendant (plaintiff) in this case, and the jury found that the plaintiff was entitled to damages the verdict should be larger." If the somewhat slipshod quotation of the opinion of the court means anything the newspaper's deduction, or the deduction of the anonymous lawyers it uses as a saving shield, is as far from the truth as it is possible to get. The judicial opinion instead of meaning that a poor girl cannot be "damaged as much as a rich girl," means that the damage to be awarded for a breach of promise, where breach is found, is to be proportioned to the value to the plaintiff of the home and maintenance lost by failure to fulfill the promise of marriage. The application of this principle works in favor of the poor girl and not against her. The damage to her may be in such a case greater than to the rich girl, and, if so, her claim is greater. The court was quite clear in its declaration and it is not its fault if it was misunderstood and misrepresented. Furthermore, the principle is not a new one and is not confined to breach of promise cases.

THE REAL HAYS.

The Bigelow mass meeting last night was interesting as marking the rise of campaign fervor to such a pitch as to enable Hays' supporters to aver his personal competency. He is eulogized as "a man of sterling worth, clean, honest, upright, well acquainted with the governmental needs of Pittsburgh, a man of wide and great business experience in the management of large affairs and one who especially meets the needs of the present situation."

Since Bottom, the weaver, was transfigured there has been no such change as this. The real Hays, was, however, accurately portrayed by the very organs now supporting him, and their accounts of him before the campaign transformation took place make an instructive contrast. Here are some of the characterizations given of him:

The Citizens committee, with foolish precipitation, thrusts to the front as a substitute for the headquarters worker previously named and rejected by public opinion, ANOTHER HEADQUARTERS WORKER whom public opinion is just as prompt to reject.—Leader, December 24.

We have here an exemplification of the same method of making nominations that was numbered among the sins of the ring—the slating of a candidate and thrusting him down the people's throat without reference to his availability or to the wishes of any element aside from the clique immediately behind him.—Leader, December 24.

The Citizens party is made up of thoroughgoing independents, whose sole aim in politics is to obtain the best possible government for our city. In the forced nomination of William B. Hays and the consequent prevention of fusion with the Democrats, the wishes of this element are visibly overruled and its interests are set at naught.—Leader, December 27.

Under stress of popular protest Moore's name was withdrawn and that of W. B. Hays, a veteran politician, with hardly any other visible claim to the nomination than Moore was able to submit, was substituted.—Leader, December 28.

It (the nomination of Hays) is a cap-sheaf of political stupidity and incompetence.—Post, December 29.

We do not believe the election of Mr. Hays at all probable, for the life and earnestness and sense of duty in city government that animated the Citizens movement is against him and cannot be drawn to his support.—Post, December 29.

He (Hays) has had no real experience in applying the principles of good government; on the contrary, he is standing today and has achieved his nomination by an apparent willingness to abjure the principles on which the Citizens movement was organized in Pittsburgh.—Post, December 31.

He (Hays) accepts the boss principle, declares loyalty to the boss, and who can doubt these will be the animating and controlling principles of his administration? There is nothing in Mr. Hays' personality or record to even suggest that he will be a resisting force.—Post, December 31.

His (Hays') nomination is a surrender to the vital principle of boss rule against which the Democrats and Citizens came together last February. It will nullify, with vast patronage in his unskilled hands, to be directed by others, all of the important results achieved in the election of a reform council and reform controller. It is a surrender to those ideas and principles of municipal administration against which the people have been in arms a long time.—Post, December 31.

Candidates should not be considered upon their pledges, but upon their records. Judged in that way Mr. Hays, as a candidate for recorder upon a platform of reform, becomes utterly ineligible for consideration by the voters who supported the late Citizens party on principle.—Dispatch, January 2.

The Hays who would get the office if elected would be this Hays and not the ideal Hays of campaign oratory.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

The most striking feature of the week has been the greater confusion that has occurred in the railroad freight situation. In the effort to overcome the fuel famine, an embargo was placed on some other classes of freight, particularly grain to the seaboard. The effect has been to jam freight yards at various points with miscellaneous merchandise, and the inability to move the loaded cars has aggravated the shortage. Overcrowding motive power and crews has resulted in a demoralization of the transportation business seldom if ever equaled. As a consequence, additional manufacturing plants have been forced to close down, and others are compelled to reduce their maximum output. The increased cost ratios, the disturbance of commodity values and the vexation and delay cannot be otherwise than bad for trade generally. In this condition of affairs the public is treated to the spectacle of railroad managers apparently giving more attention to the elimination of competition in transportation, through the process of buying up competing lines, or blocking those which cannot be bought, than to furnishing the facilities for adequately serving the public.

The more serious developments in Venezuelan affairs attracted attention in business circles, although the immediate effects thus far have been merely to check the advance and reduce the volume of speculation in the stock market. There is abundant evidence that, in addition to "testing the Monroe doctrine," Germany is directing every effort toward a restriction of United States exports into that country. The statistics for the last complete fiscal year show that while we imported from Germany only a little more than $100,000,000, we exported to her more than $292,000,000. The bulk of the latter consisted of raw cotton and foodstuffs. The principal items which we import from Germany are sugar, manufactured textile fabrics and toys. The public is not yet ready to admit the possibility of open hostilities between two nations occupying such an advanced position in the civilized world as Germany and the United States, but should the unexpected happen, our trade would be less affected than an interruption with other European nations. As a matter of fact, Germany would be the greatest sufferer, because what she buys from us is in the shape of necessaries of life, while the bulk of our purchases from her are in the shape of luxuries. And for the same reason, irrespective of the Venezuelan question, it is difficult to see what Germany is to gain from retaliatory tariffs and discrimination, such as have been proposed by the German government.

Monetary conditions are steadily improving. Currency is flowing eastward and rates of discount display a downward tendency, although the impression is growing that the money market will not become as easy as it usually does at this season, because of the continued large commercial and industrial demands of the country. Despite the higher prices for grain, exports of breadstuffs have been on a liberal scale and sterling exchange rates have ruled below the gold-shipping point.

HAYS' POSITION.

The statement made at last night's mass meeting that W. B. Hays did not seek the nomination for recorder is true. He was somewhat startled and uneasy when Bigelow notified him that he was to take that assignment, and would have preferred a less conspicuous post of campaign duty. But Bigelow was determined not to risk the candidacy of any man who would be competent to decide and act for himself, so he ordered Hays to stand for the nomination and Hays did as he was told to do. He was, is, and will be simply Bigelow's tool.

His purely subordinate position has been manifest throughout the campaign. A curious instance is the way in which his letter of acceptance has repeatedly been worked over for him. The neatly phrased letter that has been advertised in the papers and is being mailed to voters, was not that originally issued. The original letter of acceptance was given out immediately after the capture of the Democratic nomination. It was a rambling, muddled statement, indicating that the person who wrote it was anxious to say anything that would be acceptable without clearly understanding the subject. Here is a characteristic paragraph, given exactly as it appeared in a Hays organ, the Leader:

The city needs an improved service in all branches. It should bring and carry out improvements for the benefit that will follow, not to aid private enterprises. It should do all in its power to better the surface transportation facilities of our passenger railways. While I hold that franchises ought to be assessed and bear a portion of the cost of government, I also hold a vested right is entitled to as much consideration as an individual right. A sensible, middle policy along this line is not only practicable, but honest, and will produce beneficial results, and as for political policies, I think I can summarize my position in a few words. I am for fair treatment to all political elements, for favors to none, and an honest management of affairs, regardless of the schemes of any political clique.

Since the repudiation of Hays by the real leaders of the Citizens movement and their alliance with the Republican party, resulting in the nomination of Haymaker, an entirely new letter of acceptance has been prepared for Hays, which would be quite creditable to him if he had anything to do with it, or if he had the ability to appreciate it, or the character to give it efficacy in actual administration. As a matter of fact his sole connection with it and the campaign is that he is one of Bigelow's workers selected for ability as a mixer of the Wyman type, and because his character and attainments are such that he will be subservient in office. His election would mean the total abandonment of the public offices to the ward heeler class, while Bigelow would control the negotiation of opportunities arising from political power and the custody of public resources.

Railroad congestion goes from bad to worse. Locomotive builders cannot turn out power sufficient to handle the tonnage; railroads are afraid to enforce demurrage; traffic demands are vociferous and finally there are fatal weaknesses in administration. In a word, the railroad service is demoralized as a result of protracted overwork and the natural disgust of competent minor employes whose efforts are neither recognized nor appreciated. Yet official Pittsburgh holds at arms length a new system that may bring a measure of relief.

We venture the opinion that Herr Bebel, the Socialist-Democrat, voices German popular opinion on the Venezuelan and naval program matters more accurately than the ministers who speak for the government. The "malady of suddenness" which afflicts the court at Berlin is quite as distasteful to the average German citizen as to those of other nations. In fact the average German citizen is not at all a bad fellow, but the war lord and the recrudescent imperialism make of Germany a menace to the world's quiet and good order.

Now that Col. Lynch has been convicted and sentenced to death by an English court for being "inspired by the devil" to high treason, it is up to the English government to quit playing favorites and get down to business by giving Satan what is coming to him.

Great Britain is more than ever perturbed over its joint responsibility for German outrages in Venezuela. The unprovoked bombardment of the fort of San Carlos is inexcusable, while the shelling into the village without notice fell nothing short of barbarism.

It is to be presumed that the Pittsburgh Railways Company in ordering those new cars didn't overlook a full supply of straps for each. A street car without straps would be as lonely as home without a mother.

Mr. Bigelow's Pittsburgh candidate failed to connect with his mass meeting at Old City hall. He will also fail to connect with the recordership of Pittsburgh on February 17.

Now that the treaty with Colombia has been signed it begins to look bright again for an all-water route from Pittsburgh to any place on the ocean map.

Perhaps Senator Beveridge's fears that some wild and wooly man from the territories may try to blow him up are exclusively for publication.

Senator Tillman's nephew wouldn't feel at home in the Colorado legislature. Too many of the other fellows have guns.

It is expected that from now on the political campaign in Allegheny City will keep the snow melted.

Tillmanism's Fitting Climax.

From the New York Mail and Express.

Lieut. Gov. Tillman of South Carolina has terminated his political career, and very possibly his career on earth, in a manner characteristic of the man, the family from which he springs and the party traditions for which he stands. While his uncle, the senator, was depouncing in Washington the high officials of the government as "murderers" and invoking on their heads the "opprobrium and hate of mankind," the nephew was earning the literal title of murderer in Columbia and fulfilling, at the pistol's muzzle, the gospel of hate and violence of which these two men are the foremost American exponents. This man lived by violence, and there is scriptural warrant for the expectation that he will die by violence, either at the hand of the state which he has almost irreparably disgraced, or in some further brawl that will place a yet deeper mark of shame upon it.

PITTSBURGH WILL HEAR THEM WARBLE

Extraordinary Season of Grand Opera Promised by Grau's Secretary.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

Pittsburgh will have the most brilliant season of grand opera this spring it has ever enjoyed, said Frederick Latham to me at the Metropolitan opera house this afternoon. Mr. Latham is Maurice Grau's right-hand man and the details of all the big operatic productions are under his direction. He said that as the Maurice Grau Opera Company will disband immediately after the Pittsburgh engagement, it was the intention to make the productions at Duquesne garden memorable in every sense of the word. Maurice Grau will take a year's rest at the end of this season, and is determined to close this part of his long career as an impresario with a season that shall be worthy of his past achievements. Pittsburgh is fortunate in that the apotheosis of the present opera season will take place there. All the stars of the organization will appear, including the new singers who never sang in America until this year. It is common expression in New York that the great Wagnerian music dramas have been put on this winter on a scale of magnificence never reached before, gorgeous as they always have been, and each production will be dpulicated at Duquesne garden, down to the minutest detail. Mr. Grau himself takes a warm personal interest in Pittsburgh. He has found such perfect appreciation of the music he offers and such a splendid recognition of the completeness of the productions in the immense box office returns that it is his determination to give the city the very best his organization affords. There are a number of new works to be sung this season and all the new singers, Anthes, the tenor, and others, will be included in the casts of the various operas chosen by Pittsburgh's energetic impresario, George H. Wilson "Then I may say that this will be Pittsburgh's most brilliant operatic season?" I asked of Mr. Latham, as the interview closed. "You may, most decidedly," was his earnest response.

Schwab's Secretary Kept Busy.

Oliver Wren, Charles M. Schwab's private secrtary, has his hands full denying rumors about the health of his chief. Wall street was all agog today over a report that Mr. Schwab's yacht Margarita had returned in a hurry from Tunis to Palermo on account of Mr. Schwab's alarming illness. Mr. Wren, whose headquarters are at the office of the United States Steel Corporation in the Empire building, lower Broadway, said there was no truth in the statement that Mr. Schwab's health had anything to do with the matter. His yacht had put back, it was true, but it was merely to take aboard Mrs. Schwab, who was at Palermo. It is a cold day in Wall street when there is not some new yarn about Mr. Schwab, who, from all that appears in authoritative quarters, is enjoying a pleasant holiday in southern Europe.

Something About the Black Cat.

"The Black Cat," the French restaurant in which a detective was shot last week—and, who, by the way, suffered a serious relapse today—is one of the few of the old-time dining places in the lower West Side where artists and professional people generally used to foregather in the evening to sip vin ordinaire and cafe au lait, talk art, and eat those mysterious dishes which the French know so well how to compound from the most unpromising-looking scraps of meat and a handful of herbs. The sign of "The Black Cat" attracts the eye of most people traveling up and down town in the evening on the Sixth avenue "L." It is a bright-looking store, with black tables and white tablecloths, while the waiters, flitting about, are Gallic from the tops of their bald heads to the points of their pumps. Business was in full swing this evening. Most of the tables were occupied, and arguments with demonstrative sweepings of arms and shruggings of shoulders, were in full biast. The landlady may have to answer to a very serious charge if the detective she is alleged to have shot should die, and in any case she may have dealings with a judge and jury before it all blows over. But she sat at the cashier's desk tonight, buxom and smiling as if she had not a care in the world beyond keeping her cash straight, while her husband moved from table to table, chatting with his guests, as if he never had had a row in his house in his life.

They Stopped That Whistling.

There is a boy in Bellevue hospital whom the attendants call "Whistling Dave." He has been whistling continuously for a week, rendering all the popular tunes of the day and until today it was impossible to control him. Then the hospital people stopped him to a cot and gave him some sedative medicine. The boy has some kind of nervous affection, the doctors say, but their method of stopping a boy from whistling when he gets to be a nuisance may establish a precedent for use in other places besides hospitals.

Admirable Exhibition of Patience.

Who shall say that all New York men lack the saving grace of patience? Benjamin Loder entered suit for divorce against his wife 28 years ago, but hoping for a reconciliation did not accept the decree of divorce until today. The corespondent died 20 years ago and Mr. Loder hoped his domestic affairs would adjust themselves some time or other. But they did not and the decree of divorce granted in 1875 was filed this afternoon.

Nobody Thought of the Ladder.

A comment on the efficacy of fire escapes was afforded at the fire in the downtown factory this morning, which resulted in the loss of at least three lives and injuries to nearly a score of persons. There was a fire escape on the building and it was full of frightened people in a few minutes. At the second story the ladder ended, and those that were in a hurry to reach the ground had to jump down 12 feet. In the excitement no one thought of dropping the extension ladder. The question is whether such a fire escape really is a means of escape when most needed.

Irish Are Stirred Up.

The sentence of death on Col. Lynch, the Irish M. P., on a charge of high treason against Great Britain, has caused a tremendous sensation among the Irish residents of this city. Many impromptu indignation meetings were held this evening, and it is probable that there will be some public gatherings to denounce the sentence. Col. Lynch is well known personally to many New Yorkers, who unite in the opinion that he is a brave man, who would feel that he were dying a martyr to a good cause, whatever the world at large may think about him. At the same time the conviction is general here that the sentence will be commuted to imprisonment for life, as was that of Boyle O'Reilly in 1856, and that eventually Col. Lynch will find his way to the United States, possibly becoming boss of Tammany hall in due time.

Mrs. Mills Entertains.

Society is at the home of Mrs. Ogden Mills this evening, taking part in the dance given for "The Twins." Miss Beatrice Mills and Miss Gladys Mills. This is the first entertainment given by Mrs. Mills since she gave a reception in honor of Prince Henry. She is one of the most distinguished hostesses in this city, and everyone who is "smart" is at the Mills mansion tonight.

New Attraction on Broadway.

The opening of the Majestic this week has established a new theater district at the circle. Until now there has been a long, dark gap between the rialto of Broadway and that of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, in Harlem. But the new theater, where "The Wizard of Oz" is a pronounced "go," sheds so much electrical brightness over the space at the lower end of Central park that the man-about-town finds his evening promenade extended a great many blocks north of Forty-second street for the first time in his experience.

New Auto Attachment.

Among the many new contraptions on exhibition at the automobile show in Madison Square garden is an electro-magnetic, speed-changing gear. This is a device giving the chauffeur control of the vehicle and the power to make any desired rate of speed forward or backward. The mechanism consists of a series of electro magnetic friction clutches operating on the driving shaft. These are respectively opened or shut at the will of the operator, and while one clutch is fixed to the shaft the others are released, while the slow-speed clutch is operating the intermediate and high-speed clutches are forced from the driving shaft, and vice versa. The clutches are controlled by a finger lever and independently by a foot brake, so that side levers are entirely unnecessary. Chauffeurs and automobile owners say that the thing looks good; but, like the many attachments made for bicycles a few years ago, it must be tested by actual use before it can expect general indorsement.

New Store in Broadway.

One of the new stores opened in Broadway in the theatrical district is a Chinese importing warehouse. It is a branch of an old-established firm in Chinatown and is the first store of the kind to appear in Broadway. It differs from the ordinary Japanese store in that the goods sold all pass through Chinatown before being brought to Broadway and include many things not usually seen in a prominent show window. It is an experiment, but the manager says that business has been so large that he expects the Chinese curio store soon to be as numerous uptown as the Chinese restaurant has been in the last five or six years.

Beresford's Candid Opinion.

Lord Charles Beresford, rear admiral of the British navy, today expressed his opinion on the trend of affairs in Venezuela, in answer to a question. He characterized the alliance between Germany and England as very injudicious. "Such an alliance," he said, "has the appearance of opposition to the Monroe doctrine, of which I am in favor, and not against it, as reported. England may not go as far as Germany would wish, and Germany might go further than England would desire, all of which will arouse irritation, which is a very bad thing between two countries. What I greatly want to see is some sort of an agreement between the governments of Great Britain and America, which would promote good feeling on the part of the people. I am working hard toward this end.

In Case of War.

A representative of one of the leading shipbuilding concerns in New York, talking about the position of the United States navy in case there should be war with Germany, for example, said he did not know what could be done; as for building new ships in time to be of service, that was out of the question. The government allows 22 months for the building of a battleship, and most modern wars are ended in much less time than that. There are 40 battleships in course of construction at this time, and there are six shipyards in the neighborhood of New York capable of building war vessels. Along the coast elsewhere there are 10 more. "You can judge for yourself," remarked the shipyard manager, with a smile, "what could be done in a hurry with these meager facilities."

New Salvation Hotel.

One of the largest hotels in the world will be opened in this city tomorrow. It will be under the auspices of the Salvation army and its locale is in the heart of the Ghetto, on the East Side. It is at the corner of East Broadway and Chatham square. Clean beds and light, airy rooms will be rented to working people at about the same rates as they would have to pay in the noisome Bowery lodging houses a few blocks away. Mrs. Booth-Tucker will conduct the initiatory exercises tomorrow afternoon.

PERSONALS

"Do you know that the day is not very far distant when you can go to sleep in a trolley car in Pittsburgh and ride comfortably clear to Terre Haute, Ind.," said F. R. Hern, a manufacutrer of coal mining machinery, of Coimbus, O., at the Monongahela house. "A trolley line is now being constructed to Dayton and eventually will be built into Pittsburgh. The line from Cincinnati to Newark is in operation. Another line has been projected from Terre Haute to Columbus. It has been built from Terre Haute eastward to Cambridge, Ind., and from Columbus westward to Richmond, Ind., leaving a connecting link of only 17 miles to be constructed. Cleveland and Columbus also will soon be connected. Sleeping cars will be operated and a standard speed of 45 miles an hour will be made. The Appleyard syndicate of Detroit is building these roads and its advent into this territory is only a matter of time."

"The people of the south are in hearty accord with the bill presented in the Pennsylvania legislature for the erection of a statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee upon Gettysburg's battlefield," said J. J. Strit of Lexington, Va., at the Hotel Duquesne last night. "However, it is a little soon for Pennsylvania to take up this matter. Virginians have a higher ambition. They want to see a memorial to their honored warrior in the national hall of fame. The government officials and some northern people have objected to this, and in consequence the ardor of the southerners has been chilled somewhat. We will continue our efforts to get a statue of Gen. Lee in the hall of fame. Every son of Dixie will fight for that, and some day the leader of the gray doubtless will have a grand monument on the memorable field of Gettysburg."

"Pittsburgh is looking for something to eat and out west we are suffering from the want of fuel; Pittsburgh is overloaded with coal, and out west we have our granaries creaking with an abundance of wheat," was the way Willis Reichard, a grain dealer of Leavenworth, Kan., last night sized up the results of freight congestion. Mr. Reichard was returning from New York on a Baltimore & Ohio train and had seen evidences of the blockade on every side. "Its getting to be a matter of hunger and freezing and should be relieved at any cost," was his concluding comment.

Joseph E. Schwab, brother of Charles M. Schwab, is in Pittsburgh to inspect the plants of the American Steel Foundry Company, of which he is president. At the Hotel Duquesne last night he said: "I received a telegram from Charles M. on Monday, and he said nothing about his health. I spent three days with him at Nice, late in December, and he was in excellent spirits. He had improved wonderfully since I saw him on the eve of his European tour."

THE DEATH ROLL.

Father Martin Buried.

The remains of the Rev. Thomas F. Martin, assistant pastor of St. James Roman Catholic church in the West End, were interred yesterday morning in St. Mary's cemetery in Lawrenceville. The Rev. Father John Price, pastor of St. James church, was celebrant at the requiem high mass, the Rev. Father Louis Woelfel of St. Martin's church was deacon, and the Rev. Father John F. O'Brien of St. Ann's church was subdeacon. At 9:30 o'clock the priests and mourners went to the cemetery and shortly after their arrival the remains of the dead priest arrived at the cemetery from the Municipal hospital dead house, where they were taken after the priest's death. At 9 o'clock this morning a requiem high mass will be offered for the dead priest at St. James' church.

U. G. M. Perrin.

U. G. M. Perrin, 67 years old, a well-known boat builder and superintendent of construction for James Rees & Sons of this city, died Thursday night at his home in Crafton. He was born near Cumberland, Md., and was educated at the Rainsburg college in Bedford county, Pa. He is survived by his widow and one son, Perrin of Crafton, and his brothers, W. H. Perrin of the East End, and Dr. Thomas L. Perrin of Brooklyn. Mr. Perrin's death is the third to occur in his family within the past seven months.

Mrs. Margaret A. Helfer.

Mrs. Margaret A. Helfer, 58 years old, widow of Henry Helfer, is dead at her home, No. 1010 Franklin street, Allegheny, of pneumonia, which disease caused the death of her son, John B. Helfer, last Sunday. She was a member of Chaplain Circle No. 99, Ladies of the G. A. R., and of Allegheny Temple No. 47, of the United Order of Americans. Two children, Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher and David H. Helfer of Allegheny survive.

Mrs. Samuel R. Hawkins.

Mrs. Elma L. Hawkins, 38 years old, wife of Samuel R. Hawkins of the United States Biscuit company, died yesterday morning at the family home, No. 412 Park avenue, East Liberty. She was born in Fayette county, Pa., and was married February 17, 1896. She was a member of the Shady Avenue Baptist church, and besides her husband, she is survived by four children. Her remains will be interred at Brownsville.

Mrs. Josephine Nuttal.

Mrs. Josephine Nuttal, wife of Thomas B. Nuttal, died at her residence, No. 1006 Farragut street, East End, on Thursday night, in her 40th year. She was a daughter of Joseph Pressel of this city. She is survived by her husband, who is manager of the Pennsylvania tube works, and former consulting engineer of the National Tube Company. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Alice M. Prosser.

Mrs. Alice McGeary Prosser, 67 years old, widow of James I. Prosser, died last night at the family home, Walnut and Copeland streets, East End. She is survived by a son, D. H. Prosser, and a daughter, Miss Margaret Prosser, a teacher in the Humbolt sub-district school.

Obituary Notes.

William C. Hardy, 68 years old, is dead at his home, No. 7048 Frankstown avenue, Homewood. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Capt. William N. Rollins, 69 years old, an old riverman, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley, at Clairton. Three sons and a daughter survive.

William Simpson Thorne, son of Robert Thorne of Kell & Thorne, grain dealers, died at the family residence, No. 312 Biddle street, Wilkinsburg, on Thursday night.

Mrs. Kate Kustercamp, widow of Joseph Kustercamp, is dead at her home at Indiana, Pa. She was born in Germany in 1808. With her husband she settled in Indiana in 1841.

Jonas L. Brandies, head of the firm of J. J. Brandies & Sons, and one of the largest retail merchants of Omaha, Neb., died yesterday of Bright's disease. He had been a leading capitalist for 20 years.

Francis Arnold Hoffman, who was lieutenant governor of Illinois during the administration of Gov. Yates, died at his home at Jefferson, Wis., yesterday. He was well known as an authoritative writer on agriculture.

Zebias Igniez, a noted educator of Baroda, India, died at Chicago yesterday of typhoid fever. He arrived in Chicago last week, having been sent to this country by the English government to study the public school system.

Samuel Magill Bryan, aged 55, ex-president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company, and prominently known in Baltimore and Washington financial circles, died yesterday at his residence at Buxton, Baltimore county, Md.

Elliott S. Moorhead will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his brother-in-law, P. W. Miller, No. 1701 Fremont street, Allegheny. Mr. Moorhead, who was formerly a resident of Bellevue, died Thursday at Dunkirk, N. Y.

WILL BE SECOND-CLASS

Duquesne Postoffice Receipts Will Exceed $8,000—Census for Free Delivery.

From present indications the Duquesne postoffice, now third class, will pass into the second class at the end of the present fiscal year, March 1. During the past several months the receipts at the office have been steadily increasing and the business is certain to reach $8,000, the amount necessary to make the office second class. Postmaster James Bickerton is delighted with the prospect, as the advance will mean an increase in salary to him. The office at present pays the postmaster $1,000.

At the present session of the legislature a bill will be introduced asking that a special census of Duquesne be taken, in order to have the borough's claims that it has a population of 10,000 people, substantiated. The object is to prove that the population is large enough to have free mail delivery. The census, taken in 1900, gave the borough a population of 9,036, and it is now believed to have over 11,000.

GERMANY'S BRUTE FORCE CENSURED

At this moment, of all others, the German naval commander enters upon a course of action which, under the circumstances, must be styled outrageous. Without any obvious reason and without the preliminary notice required by the law of nations, he takes the aggressive, bombards a Venezuelan fort, sets fire to an unresisting town, and, in a word, acts precisely like an eighteenth century pirate, such as Blackbeard and Henry Morgan. Whether the shelling of Fort San Carlos prove successful or unsuccessful, or whether the Venezuelan gunners have the luck to put a couple of German cruisers out of action, makes no difference. The fact remains that a very disagreeable and dangerous situation of affairs has been made distinctly more disagreeable and more dangerous by this irresponsible proceeding of the German commodore.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The second bombardment of a Venezuelan fort by three German warships after the repulse of one—the Panther—is an extraordinary proceeding, the possible motive of which was to defeat the negotiations for arbitration by The Hague tribunal. The acts of the German naval commanders in Venezuela since the trouble began have all been of the same arbitrary character and calculated to arouse popular feeling in the United States.—Newark Advertiser.

TO BE THREE MEETINGS

Alvin Theater Will Be Used to Hold Crowds on Sunday—Followers Will Gather About Him Tonight.

Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, will be in Pittsburgh on Sunday. During the day he will make three addresses—morning, afternoon and evening—in the Alvin theater, which has been secured for the occasion.

Since his arrival in America, early in October, Gen. Booth has made an extensive tour, covering all the important posts of the army in the United States and Canada. He will be accompanied in Pittsburgh by a number of Salvation Army officers, among whom will be his daughter, Mrs. Booth-Tucker, who with her husband jointly commands the army in the United States; Col. Lawley, who is noted far and wide as the army's greatest singer; Col. Holz of Cleveland, Col. Higgins and Col. Brengle of New York and other prominent officers.

Representatives from all the posts within a radius of 100 miles of Pittsburgh will be present at an army reunion this evening in the First Presbyterian church.

The career of Gen. Booth shows the spread of a great idea. Gen. Booth, in beginning the Salvation Army work, never planned or even dreamed of an organization such as that of which he is now the head. His idea was merely to work in the interest of Christianity among a class that was not, and never can be, reached by ordinary church methods.

Thirty-five years ago he was the only Salvationist. Now his army numbers about 1,500,000, and is firmly planted in 50 different colonies and countries, or practically wherever the English language is spoken.

The army owes its success as much to the personality of its founder as to its motives and methods and discipline, all of which have excited universal commendation.

In physique and oratory he closely resembles Abraham Lincoln. He is tall and spare, possessed of keen wit and sarcasm, but blessed with an acute sense of humor. His gospel preaching and exhortations are intermingled with witty and effective anecdotes and homely parables that hold his audiences closely.

Almost without exception his tour of this country has aroused his followers to a high pitch of enthusiasm and redoubled their always faithful efforts in the cause. Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia are expected to show the results of his meeting with his followers in a more strenuous campaign than ever during the year just opened.

The meetings at the Alvin on Sunday will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 3 and 8 p. m., while the army gathering tonight opens at 8 p. m. Gen. Booth will arrive in the city this morning.

MISS TAYLOR TO PLEAD HER OWN CASE IN COURT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 16, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.

"I want it distinctly understood that I am ready to proceed in this case," said Rebecca J. Taylor to Chief Justice Bingham of the supreme court of the district, this morning when the case of Taylor against the secretary of war was called in circuit court No. 1.

It was a novel sight to see the litigant, not a member of the bar, and a woman, appearing in court to prosecute her own case against the government in a most important matter.

Miss Taylor was last spring dismissed from a position in the war department because of her alleged criticism of the president's policy in the Philippines. She soon after applied to the supreme court of the district for a writ of mandamus to issue against the secretary of war to compel him to reinstate her in the position. She had secured the services of F. L. Siddons and Adolf Wolf as counsel, and the case has many times been set for hearing. A few days ago, however, after the case was set for today, her counsel withdrew.

Miss Taylor was dressed in a neat suit of blue cloth. Her jacket was also blue and was trimmed with a deep white lace collar. She entered the court room with two large bundles of law books held together by leather straps. Besides these she had also a large volume of manuscript, no doubt notes and references, and an outline of the argument which she intended to make.

When Chief Justice Bingham announced that the hearing would be postponed until Friday next, Miss Taylor said that she would be on hand. An effort was made by Assistant District Attorney Glassie to learn from Miss Taylor if she intended to secure services of other counsel before the hearing, but she was non-committal in reference to the matter.

Consier Struck Traction Car.

Reuben Henning, the 14-year-old son of Matthew H. Henning, superintendent of the People's Natural Gas Company in Wilkinsburg, was probably fatally injured in a coasting accident in North avenue yesterday. Henning, with a number of other boys, was coasting on the hill and when the bobsled on which they were riding reached the bottom it struck a passing street car. The other boys rolled off the sled on seeing their danger, but Henning, who was guiding the sled, was struck by the car's rear wheels and dragged some distance. His left arm was broken and his head and back badly injured.

NEW WAGE SCALE MADE BY MINERS

Increase of Twenty Per Cent Demanded on Run-of-Mine Basis.

MORE FOR LABORERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 23.—The influence of the Pittsburgh delegation in the United Mine Workers' convention was most strongly felt this afternoon, when in executive session the wage scale committee returned its report. The committee's report embodied in its resolutions all the demands made by the Pittsburgh delegation, and, in fact, these demands formed the basis of the committee's scale of wages.

The miners will demand: First, the establishment of a straight run of mine basis; second, an advance amounting to 20 per cent; third, an increase in wages paid all outside and inside common laborers; fourth, a flat differential of 7 cents on the ton between pick and machine-mined coal; fifth, a flat increase, if put of that basis, of 12½ cents on the ton.

The scale, of course, applies only to the five states included within the central competitive district, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Illinois, but it forms the basis nevertheless for the wage scale agreements in other states. Although the wage committee's report will receive the sanction and approval of the convention, it will meet with the strongest kind of opposition when it is presented to the joint conference between the committee selected by the operators to act upon the demands and the miners' scale committee.

It is already evident, however, that the operators will not find perfect harmony in their own ranks. Illinois will insist that if the miners do not force the adoption of the run-of-mine basis upon the operators of Pennsylvania and the other states, and stand solidly for its establishment, the operators of that state also will demand its withdrawal from the field where it is already established. The operators of this state, where the basis is established, assert that they operate under a greater expense. If the miners will insist upon the general adoption of the run-of-mine, the Illinois operators will support the miners in their other demands.

This morning the resolutions committee began reading the usual accumulation of resolutions reported from local unions.

A resolution against Immigration Commissioner Frank Sargent's plan to remove the immigration office from Pittsburgh was concurred in. There was a denunciation of laws that tend to disfranchise any citizen, regardless of nationality or color.

The convention adopted a resolution favoring one meeting a month in the locals to be devoted to the discussion of economic questions.

NEW WINDOW GLASS FUSS

The eastern branch of the National Window Glass Jobbers' association, members of the executive committee of the western branch and executives of the associated producers, the American, Federation and Independent Window Glass Companies, are meeting in New York to head off a threatened disruption of the price agreement of the jobbers.

Some of the jobbers have not taken their allotment under the recent joint order for the output of the factories for three months and some are said to be cutting prices. There is again talk of these members being expelled. Speaking of these matters the National Glass Budget, in its issue today, will say:

Generally members of the association have taken their allotment, many of the firms having taken more glass than was assigned to them. However, as a rule, the trade is buying only enough glass to satisfy immediate requirements, apparently being afraid that the introduction of the machine—which is now an assured success—will be followed by a reduction of prices. Of this they need have no fear since it is a well-known fact that the American Window Glass Company which controls the invention have never been known to take the initiative in lowering values, and the benefits accruing from the introduction of the machine will not be frittered away. Jobbers will be given plenty of time to dispose of their holdings before prices will be affected by the new invention, and those who delay placing their orders for enough of stock to satisfy requirements for the next six months are taking chances on buying at a higher figure later on.

NO APPETITE!

And what little you force yourself to eat does not have the right taste. What's the trouble? The stomach is out of order, the liver is inactive and the bowels are constipated. You need Hostetter's Stomach Bitters at once. It will tone up the stomach, restore the appetite, perfect the digestion and open up the clogged bowels. Then you'll feel better. Try a bottle today. WHY DOES THIS PRACTICE INCREASE?

The answer to this question, which refers to the practice of Dr. J. Alfred Tucker, the Specialist for Catarrh and its complications, is given in five words:

DR. TUCKER CURES HIS PATIENTS

CATARRH OF THE HEAD AND THROAT.

Spitting slime and mucus, scabs and scales forming in the nose, sneezing, pain, burning and itching in the nose, pains in the head, dizziness, impaired smell or taste, and dropping in the throat are easily overcome and cured by Doctor Tucker's special method.

CATARRH OF THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

Cough, loss of flesh, pain in the sides, frothy or yellow expectoration, shortness of breath, depressed spirits, pain under shoulder blades, night sweats, all forerunners of consumption, are quickly suppressed by the inhalations and special medication of Doctor Tucker's new method.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

Discharging ears, dullness of hearing, head noises, dry, scaly, itchy ears, cracking sounds when blowing nose, earache, yield immediately to the soothing local applications which dissolve the adhesions in the eustachian tubes and remove and cure every symptom of disease.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Nausea, vomiting, belching, coated and furred tongue, waterbrash, bloating after eating, disgust for food, faintness before eating and drowsiness after, cured by remedies known to no doctor but Doctor Tucker.

$5 A MONTH, MEDICINE INCLUDED.

The lowest fee at which you can possibly get expert special treatment. The highest fee you should pay, as for Five Dollars you get the best.

DO YOU LIVE OUT OF TOWN?

If you do, you want to know that instead of wasting time and money with local doctors who cannot have any knowledge of chronic diseases and their cure, you can be cured by my new method of HOME TREATMENT as surely and quickly as if you consulted me in person.

Oxygen Hunger

The worst starvation is Oxygen hunger.

It ends in Consumption and death.

Its signs are weakness, loss of flesh, pale skin, transparent complexion, loss of ambition, and proneness to "catch cold."

The only cure is

Ozomulsion

It is a medicinal emulsion of cod liver oil, containing principles which vitalize and oxygenate the blood and thereby give fresh life and energy to the tissues.

NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH READY

St. Paul's, in Second Avenue, Receives Its Dedication Tomorrow Morning.

TWOFAREWELLSERMONS

The Revs. J. M. Thomas and C. S. Beatly Vacate Charges. Burns' Birthday at Bijou. General Church News.

The handsome new church of St. Paul's Lutheran congregation at Second avenue and Madison street, will be dedicated tomorrow. Services will be held in the morning, afternoon and evening. The Rev. Alonzo J. Turkle, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny, will preach in the morning at 10:45. At 3 o'clock a number of visiting clergymen will make addresses. The Rev. John Weidley, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church, will occupy the pulpit in the evening at 7:45 o'clock. The services will be in charge of the pastor of the new church, the Rev. A. J. Bean.

Two important pastorates in this city will be concluded tomorrow. The Rev. J. M. Thomas, pastor of the Union Baptist church, South Side, and the Rev. Charles S. Beatty, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, will preach their farewell sermons tomorrow morning. The Rev. Thomas has been with his congregation for nearly 10 years, and it has grown to be one of the largest Baptist churches in point of membership, in the city. He will leave for his new home in Virginia next week.

May Unite Two Churches.

The Rev. Beatty will go to the Oakland Presbyterian church, whose call he has accepted. A movement is now on foot to consolidate the church Mr. Beatty leaves with the one he goes to, they being so close together. The presbytery will probably locate a new church on the hill and consolidate the two.

The one hundred and forty-fourth birthday anniversary of Robert Burns will be celebrated at the Bijou theater meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. S. Edward Young will make an address on "Robert Burns, and What Good People Should Do With Our Bad, Bright Young Men." Ellison Van Hoose, the tenor, will be the principal soloist of the musical program, which will be under the direction of Benjamin F. Butts. Tissot's paintings will be given by stereopticon.

The Rev. C. T. Russell will hold an undenominational meeting in Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. A series of chart talks will be given. The evening services will be held at 7 o'clock in Bible house chapel, Arch street, Allegheny.

Will Sing "The Holy City."

The beautiful cantata, "The Holy City," will be rendered at Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny, tomorrow evening. The choir will be augmented by a number of additional trained singers, and the entire evening service will consist of hymns and instrumental religious music.

The Rev. Father John G. Beane, rector of Corpus Christi parish, has temporarily leased a store room at Lincoln and Rowan avenues, East End, as a chapel, pending the erection of the new church. Masses will be celebrated there for the first time tomorrow morning at 9 and 10:30 o'clock.

The Rev. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Reform congregation Rodeph Shalom, will deliver a lecture in the temple tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock on "Heaven and Hell." The English ritual will be used.

The annual thank offering meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries will be held on Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh. Dr. Bertha Caldwell, of India, Dr. and Mrs. Harry C. Boyd of Siam, Miss Haines and the Rev. S. A. Hunter will take part in the meeting.

Steamer Captain Kills Himself.

SINCE the first of January the dressmakers have been filling rush orders for the elaborate wardrobes of the society matrons and girls who are going to Palm Beach and other resorts in Florida. When the snow was on the ground; when the thermometer registered 2 degrees below zero, and Pittsburgh shivered even when clothed in the richest furs, the modistes and milliners, with almost unparalleled audacity, showed the most tempting array of muslins, dimities and lawns, with bewitching hats for warm tropical climates.

Life at Palm Beach and at the other resorts is not confined to the hotels, but handsome cottages are occupied for the season, which exists for less than three months each year. One of the most charming of the cottages has been secured this season by Mr. and Mrs. Walter McClintock at Ormond. It has a euphonious Indian name, "Talahioko," and is constructed of palmetto logs. The unique style of architecture makes it charming without and within. There are large open fireplaces and quaint settles. The furniture, including bedsteads, tables and chairs, is also built of the palmetto logs, with very original designs. The mantelpieces are also fine examples of the use of the palmetto. C. Oliver McClintock is also at Ormond for the season.

There will be quite an exodus to Florida on Monday, February 2. That is the day Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darlington and Miss Rebecca Darlington will leave for Palm Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Garrison of Wilkins avenue and Dunmoyle, Miss Laura Garrison and Miss Josephine Garrison will leave for Fiorida on February 2 and will visit each of the resorts on the east coast, expecting to stay longest at Palm Beach. In their party will be Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Sutton of the Schenley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fownes, Miss Mary Fownes and Charles Fownes.

Mrs. Dallas C. Irish, Miss Charlotte Irish, Miss Jack and William Beckford Irish are at St. Augustine. Mrs. M. F. Scaife has been in St. Augustine since December, this being her thirteenth season there. With her are her daughters, Miss Mary Scaife and Miss Allie Scaife, Lucian Scaife and Marvin F. Scaife. Charles Scaife, who went south when his mother was seriously ill a few weeks ago, has returned home. Others who have gone to Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hartje, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. James Wood Scully.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter have been established for several weeks in the John Clark cottage at Palm Beach and Mr. Hostetter is almost daily seen on the golf links.

Pittsburgh travelers in California this winter are Mr. and Mrs. William F. Aull and their daughter, Miss Grace Aull, who spent last winter in Florida. They are now at Pasadena, where they expect to remain most of the winter. Mrs. Samuel Vandergrift and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hartley are anticipating a trip to California this season. Mr. and Mrs. James McKay and the Misses McKay left a few days ago for California, where they will remain almost until Easter.

The Mediterranean trip is attracting many Pittsburgh people this season. Miss Martha G. Stewart of Stewarts station and Miss Valeria J. Fetterman of Boggs avenue, Mt. Washington, expect to sail from New York on February 7 for the Mediterranean and the Orient. They will return leisurely through Europe and will remain abroad for several months. Mrs. Wynn R. Sewell sails for the Mediterranean next week, intending to remain abroad until summer. She will remain some time at Nice and at Mentone, in Southern France. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin, who were married a couple of weeks ago, sailed last Friday for the Mediterranean. Miss Helen Macbeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macbeth, and her aunt, Miss Macbeth of Washington, D. C., sailed at the same time, and after leaving the Mediterranean will return home through Europe and the British Isles.

Conference on Home Economics.

Representatives of 22 of the women's clubs of Pittsburgh and vicinity met in conference at the Sewickley School of Domestic Science yesterday afternoon. It was the aim of Miss A. A. D'Olier, director of the Sewickley school, to bring before the women present yesterday the full meaning of the term "Home Economics," and to interest them as much as possible in the subject. She gave a very delightful talk on the interests of "Home Economics," as did also Mrs. Charles W. Bassett, founder of the school, who came from Baltimore for the purpose of attending the meeting. Both showed that the subject is gaining quite a prominent place in women's clubs and its study has already been introduced into some institutions of learning.

Mrs. S. C. Sharpless of Philadelphia, the inventor of both the process and the machine for making scientific bread, was also present and by means of the bread machine which the Sewickley school has been using exclusively for making bread for over a year, gave a very instructive and interesting demonstration of scientific bread making.

Mrs. Sharpless is anxious to introduce the machine into every home, and has already had several offers from firms in this country and Europe for the purchase of the patent. The machine is small, easily worked and very speedy, as in her work yesterday she made 15 dozen rolls in one minute and 10 pounds of bread in one and one-half minutes. The nutritive quality of the bread was shown to greatly exceed that of bread made in the ordinary way, as at least 50 per cent of the nutrition of the flour was saved. Mrs. Sharpless will make a tour among the clubs and colleges of this state and this afternoon will appear at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms in Pittsburgh.

There were about 60 women at the conference yesterday, about two-thirds of whom were representatives of Pittsburgh clubs, the others being from the valley. Miss D'Olier has charge of the Sewickley School of Domestic Science and it is in an unusually satisfactory condition. A new schedule of classes in all departments will be made out to begin January 30.

Farewell Reception.

A reception will be given on Monday evening in the chapel of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, that the members of the church and their friends may say good-bye to the assistant pastor, the Rev. William Henry Swallow, who leaves early the following morning for Boston, Mass., to become the assistant pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church in that city. Mr. Swallow has been identified with the interests of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church for over nine years and in that time has made many friends in the church and throughout the city. Mrs. Swallow, Miss Mabel Swallow and the Misses Swallow will not go east for a month or six weeks.

An Allegheny Reception.

Mrs. Edward Gwinner and her sister, Miss Minnemyer, gave a large reception yesterday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5 in honor of Mrs. James F. McCarthy of Dubuque, Ia., a former Allegheny girl who is now visiting at the Gwinner homestead as the guest of her aunt, Miss Zimmer. The reception was handsomely conducted. The home of Mrs. Gwinner in California avenue, Allegheny, was decorated with fine tropical plants, a wealth of green vines and beautiful flowers, each apartment having its distinctive color. In the parlors where the hostess and their guest of honor received were pink roses and carnations, in the hall were yellow spring flowers, the dining room was decorated in pink and white, la France roses and hyacinths forming the center piece, and the apartments on the second floor were each decorated with dainty flowers.

Assisting the receiving ladies were Miss Zimmer, Miss Florence Walker, Miss Amelia Fisher, Miss Nettie Ross, Miss Margaret Evans, Miss Margaret Young, Miss Margaret Aiken, Miss Ada Young and Miss Ida Fisher. An informal dinner followed the afternoon reception and in the evening additional guests were invited for an evening at cards.

Minstrels for the Y. M. C. A.

The Crafton Minstrel club gave the first minstrel show of the season in Association hall, Ingram, last evening. There was a chorus of 25 voices and the soloists were as follows: Mr. Jarret, tenor of the Apollo club; Mr. Crocker, Mr. Cummings, Mr. Foley, Mr. Whitfield, tenors; Mr. Burrows, baritone; Mr. Cox, bass, and Tommy Lowther, the boy baritone of Pittsburgh. The four funny end men were William Oliver and Ralph Moore of the Mask and Wig club of Pittsburgh, and J. W. Watson and William Taylor of Crafton.

The list of patronesses follows: Mrs. H. P. Goff, Mrs. W. Ross Foster, Mrs. Albert Graham, Mrs. Frank Thornburg, Mrs. W. A. Zahn, Mrs. W. C. O'Reilly, Mrs. Alfred Tarble, Mrs. T. B. Reed, Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Mrs. N. M. Crawford, Mrs. Mary Speer, Mrs. William Winterhalter, Mrs. D. J. Rex, Mrs. H. H. Dougherty, Mrs. W. G. Harper, Mrs. W. F. McCormick, Mrs. R. E. Murdock, Mrs. Mary Bullock, Mrs. Harry Graham, Mrs. Charles Graham, Mrs. J. G. Ogden, Mrs. F. A. Ogden, Mrs. Mary Yohe. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the projected Y. M. C. A. of Crafton.

Married a Belle Vernon Man.

WEST BRIDGEWATER, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Miss Emma Louise Cartwright, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Richard Cartwright of this place, and Edward B. Wilson of Bellevernon, were married here this evening. The officiating clergyman was the bride's brother, the Rev. C. L. E. Cartwright, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Scottdale, Pa., assisted by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Appleton Bash of the Beaver Methodist Episcopal church. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and tropical plants. Among the guests present were Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Cartwright of the East End, Pittsburgh; Miss Mayme Swearer of Beaver; Mrs. Rev. C. L. E. Cartwright and daughter of Scottdale, Robert Coll of Belevernon, Pa., and Earl Wilson of Monessen, Pa.

Bridge Whist in Shadyside.

Mrs. Thomas T. Bakewell gave a very pretty bridge whist yesterday afternoon at her home in Fifth avenue, Shadyside. Mrs. L. Shafer of Cincinnati, who is visiting Mrs. Beggs, was the guest of honor, the bridge whist of yesterday afternoon being the first of two entertainments Mrs. Bakewell gives in her honor, the second being a domino whist this afternoon. The decorations of the house were very pretty, though simply arranged. Twelve tables were placed about the drawing room and adjoining apartments and at each table a prize was offered. The winners were Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Henry Balken, Mrs. Joseph Wood, Mrs. James McCrea, Mrs. William N. Frew, Mrs. Speer, Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell, Miss Nell Stewart, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Durbin Horne and Miss Stella Hays.

Mrs. Crane's Four O'Clock Tea.

Mrs. Daniel Crane of Sewickley gave a 4 o'clock tea yesterday afternoon in honor of three young ladies from Albany, N. Y., who are her house guests, Miss Woodruff, Miss Beardsley and Miss Williams. Mrs. Robert Wardrop poured the tea, assisted by Mrs. Wallace Tener and Miss Helen A. Gromley. The decorations were in yellow, tulips and narcissus prevailing. Twenty guests were present. This afternoon Mrs. Crane will give another 4 o'clock tea in honor of the same young ladies, and there will be present 30 guests. Mrs. Archibold George will pour the tea, assisted by Mrs. Wallace Tener, Miss Mary Campbell and Miss Isabelle Baldwin.

Reception and Dinner.

Invitations have been issued by the members of the Union Baptist church, South Side, for a farewell reception which it will give their pastor, the Rev. J. M. Thomas, next Monday evening in the church. Mr. Thomas will leave Pittsburgh next week for his new field of work in Virginia. The reception will be conducted under the direction of Dr. I. W. Riggs, S. W. Phillips, L. R. Williams and J. J. Chisholm.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Miller of Atlantic avenue, East End, gave a dinner last evening in honor of their pastor, the Rev. J. M. Thomas, among the guests being the deacons of the Union Baptist church and their wives.

Titmus—Marks.

In Rankin on Thursday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marks, was solemnized the marriage of Miss Kate I. Titmus and John L. Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marks. It was a quiet home wedding, with a few intimate friends and relatives in attendance. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. H. Phillips, pastor of the Christian church of Braddock. That evening Mr. and Mrs. Marks went east for a wedding trip and will visit in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York before returning to Rankin to make their home.

Wedding at Beaver.

BEAVER, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—A daintily appointed and largely attended home wedding occurred here this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reynolds, the contracting parties being their daughter, Miss Jennie Luella Reynolds, and Arthur Milo Shields, son of John Shields of this place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert B. Miller, pastor of the Beaver United Presbyterian church. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants. The bride is a graduate of the Beaver High school.

Tea for a Daughter.

Mrs. Robert Trimble of Glen Osborne gave a pretty little 4 o'clock tea yesterday for her daughter, Miss Margaret Trimble. Receiving with Mrs. Trimble and Miss Trimble were Miss Wallace, their house guest, and Miss Elizabeth Grove and Miss Mary Grove of Allegheny. Miss Michael also assisted the hostess. There were about 40 guests present, members of the younger set, together with several from the city. The house was tastfully decorated, the color being red. Carnations and sweet peas were used.

READY TO FIGHT A LICENSE MOVE

TOWN DRY FOR 35 YEARS

Leading Residents Prepared to Go to Harrisburg to Protest Against the Licensing of Saloons in That Borough.

The residents of West Newton, a Youghiogheny hamlet above McKeesport, have their interest centered at the present time on Harrisburg, where a cloud appears to be forming to threaten the peace and happiness of the busy little community. The breaking of the cloud is likely to change conditions under which the borough has expanded and progressed for the past 35 years. The thing which the people of the borough fear is the entrance of the licensed saloonkeeper, who has been rigidly excluded by a prohibitory law for almost two-score years, and in whose behalf it would appear strenuous efforts are about to be made at the state capital.

There is said to be a bill in the hands of Representative William F. Morrison, a young man from Mt. Pleasant, calling for the repeal of the local option law that has protected the borough for so many years. According to the opposition, Representative Morrison has committed himself unmistakably in favor of the repeal and will use his best endeavors to have the bill passed.

Town Has Been "Dry" for 35 Years.

The battle lines have been defined by the advocates of temperance, and they are ready at any moment to step in and fight to the last ditch to keep their town free from the licensed bar. In theory, West Newton has been a "dry" town for the past 35 years, but there has always been plenty of strong drink in the town, obtainable at speakeasies. However, the proprietors of these resorts have the hand of the law against them and they are suppressed whenever their business becomes too obnoxious. Nearly all of the speakeasies are outside of the business and residence districts of the borough. The majority of the people do not believe that the entrance of the licensed bar would in any wise lessen the speakeasy evil.

Many years ago an attempt was made to have the prohibitory law repealed, but it met with such opposition that it was dropped and died out in a very short time. The whole town is now aroused and the danger that threatens is the sole topic of discussion among the people.

Leading Citizens Ready to Lobby.

A few weeks ago Dr. Tucker, president of the Anti-Saloon league, of Harrisburg, addressed a meeting in West Newton that packed the largest hall to the doors and an overflow meeting was held in another place. Dr. Tucker's sympathies have been enlisted in the defense of the local option law, and his representatives are on the lookout for the presentation of the bill at Harrisburg. As soon as it is introduced the fact will be announced in West Newton and a carload of the most substantial business and professional men of the town will leave at once to lobby against the passage of the repeal.

The movement in opposition is not confined to the religious element, but is made up largely of the leading business men in the borough. It is desired to impress the legislators that the business and moneyed interests of the town are solidly arrayed in opposition to the repeal, irrespective of the stand taken by the churches. All of the latter, of course, are strongly opposed to any change in the local option law.

Petitions remonstrating against the repeal have been circulated and have about 300 male signers. Then the W. C. T. U. and the Loyal Temperance Union have taken the matter up and the names of 900 women and nearly as many minors will go down to Harrisburg in protest against the repeal of the prohibitory law. Petitions that were circulated in the school rooms received the names of all the pupils but two. The women have written numerous letters to the representatives of the Westmoreland district, as an organization and individually, requesting their assistance in the matter. All the ministers of the town have delivered sermons against the repeal.

Arguments of the "Wets."

The argument of those in favor of the repeal is simply that the town is overrun with speakeasies and that some of the residents might as well be engaged openly in the business. Two or three applications for liquor license in West Newton have been made in anticipation of the repeal of the act.

Among those who are leading the fight against the repeal is W. F. Cummings, a leading business man of Main street. Mr. Cummings said: "There is no better or busier little town in Pennsylvania than West Newton, and we have not had a saloon for 35 years. The best people of the town don't want any saloons, and propose to fight the repeal of the local option law to the end. The bankers, doctors, manufacturers, lawyers, our leading merchants and many others are with us in this fight, and nothing but the manipulation of political wires will ever open the doors of this quiet town to the liquor traffic. We have speakeasies, I am sorry to say, but the saloon will not help that any. A committee of business men intend to go to Harrisburg at the proper time, and work day and night against the passage of the bill said to be carried by Representative William F. Morrison."

What the People Say.

Mrs. H. B. Van Kirk, president of the W. C. T. U. of West Newton, and also of the Loyal Temperance Union, has been active against the repeal. She said: "In all my life I have never lived in a town where there were licensed saloons, and I have no desire to begin now. I think we have nearly every woman of influence in the town with us. So far as financial representation goes, we have $50 to every $1 on the other side, as all the bankers and business people are opposed to the repeal. The women are doing their part, and I feel that we shall be successful."

Prominent among those who will go to Harrisburg to work against the passage of the bill are E. Baughman, president of council; M. F. Scholl, president of the school board; J. B. Sechrist, merchant and banker; S. C. Weimer, merchant; E. C. Leighty, oldest merchant and ex-member of the legislature; R. H. Stevenson, banker; J. P. Swauger, hotelkeeper; H. W. Null, school director and banker; J. Q. Waters, editor; and N. Wedell, Jr., flour manufacturer and vice president of the First National bank.

Some of these may be accompanied by their wives, who are members of the local temperance organizations, and other women who will represent the organizations.

THREE PERSONS HELD ON MALPRACTICE CHARGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—Dr. Edwin S. Cooper and Mrs. Della Talbitzer of this city and Dr. J. R. Hahn of Edinburg were bound over for trial at the March criminal court under $1,000 bail each, after a preliminary hearing today on charges of criminal practice upon Mabel Williams of Conemaugh, Pa., who died here September 16 last, at Mrs. Talbitzer's home. Albert Itell, the Pittsburgh drug clerk, also accused, was not present, as he waived a hearing when arrested, and gave bail for court.

Alderman Gilliland's court was crowded when the hearing convened. John L. Williams of Conemaugh, Mabel's father, testified that when he came here to investigate his daughter's death Mrs. Talbitzer told him that Mabel came alone to her home and asked lodgings. Mrs. Ida David, now of Hamburg, Mercer county, lived beside Mrs. Talbitzer last September, and she made the statement that she saw Dr. Cooper go with Mabel to the Talbitzer home the night of September 5. This evidence was corroborated by Mrs. David's daughter Pearl, and by Miss Ella Pyle, another neighbor.

Dr. E. L. Miller of Johnstown, coroner of Cambria county, testified to exhuming Mabel's body at Johnstown September 27, and as to the post-mortem beside the open grave in the presence of Drs. Zimmerman and Shell, Policemen Snyder and John Williams. The physicians, he said, found unmistakable evidence of malpractice.

TWO WOMEN KILLED BY FT. WAYNE TRAIN

SHELBY, O., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Catharine McMahon, aged 70, and her daughter, Miss Lizzie McMahon, were instantly killed tonight at 7 o'clock by the Twentieth Century Limited. They drove on the tracks directly ahead of the flyer. The two women were knocked about five rods and the horse was carried half a mile.

Penney Proxies Sought in Usual Way.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—The statement of a New York evening paper that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is pursuing an unusual course in the solicitation of proxies this year was shown to Lewis Neilson, secretary of the company: "There is nothing at all unusual in the course which the company is pursuing in this regard. It has been the custom of the company for over 25 years to collect proxies by personal solicitation in New York; this year is therefore no exception. The charter of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company requires that a proxy must be acknowledged before a notary or other person qualified to take acknowledgments. A further provision of the charter prohibits any one person from voting more than three proxies.

Store and Cars Robbed.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The Stiglitz general store at Wampum and several box cars on the Lake Erie siding there were entered by robbers early yesterday and a quantity of goods stolen. Proprietor John Stiglitz is at Harrisburg, where he went on Monday to witness the inaugural ceremonies.

Doctor Charged With Embezzlement

SHARON, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Erie Railroad Detective M. Polley "caught Doc" Burnish last night in a freight car that was filled with merchandise. He was charged with burglary and sent to jail by Alderman Thomas for trial. The police claim Burnish is one of a gang which has been robbing freight cars for some time.

Trump Wins Old Place.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—George D. Jones, Mayor Hinkle's new director of law, today appointed George E. Trump police prosecutor, to succeed A. W. Shields, whose removal resulted in Director Byrne's discharge. Trump has defended prominent gamblers of the city in all the suits recently brought against them.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

MT. PLEASANT.—Robbers entered the butcher shop of J. H. Rumbaugh of this place and blew open the safe. About $10 was taken.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—A rolling mill plant and four blast furnaces in Youngstown and Niles are idle on account of the inability of the railroads to furnish fuel.

WARREN, O.—A deal was closed whereby the Warren Electric and Specialty Company acquired the Co-Operative Bicycle Company's plant at St. Catherines, Ont.

WELLSBURG, W. VA.—Dr. Smith of Mingo, O., was arrested here on a warrant sworn out by Dr. J. P. Johnston of this city, on the charge of practicing in this state without a license.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—George Hawking, alias Craig, pleaded guilty in the United States court to a charge of robbing the post-office at Welcome, Marshall county. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

MT. PLEASANT.—Local Democrats nominated the following ticket: Justice of peace, J. M. McWilliams; burgess, Edward Keller; tax collector, J. M. Yothers; auditor, J. S. Braddock; council, F. B. McKling, J. W. Faust and Harvey Mellinger.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—The physicians of the town bought the residence of B. A. Posten for $10,000 and will convert it into a city hospital. The present city hospital will be torn down and in its stead a large business block and theater will be built.

COSHOCTON, O.—At a conference between the city council and a committee from the Trades and Labor assembly the latter urged the council to bond the city for the purpose of building a library instead of accepting $15,000 from Andrew Carnegie.

OIL CITY, PA.—The preliminary trial of the four boys charged with manslaughter, on information of Samuel Englesby, who alleges his 10-year-old sister Libbie's death resulted from a beating they gave her, was postponed until Wednesday next. The lads were released under $600 bail.

FIDDLING HERMIT WILL PLAY NO MORE

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—John Merry, the famous hermit of Swinefield Ridge, is dead. He was found in his cabin this morning by boys. He was last seen alive Monday, when he entertained a few friends. It was his custom to have the boys and men in occasionally of an evening and he would regale them with weird tales of battlefield and camp. He also entertained them by a little "fiddle music."

MEN'S NIGHT.

Campbell Caters to the Sterner Sex Saturday Evenings.

Saturday is pay day for a hundred thousand men in Allegheny county and no one who is familiar with the thronged condition of the fifth avenue sidewalks after 7 o'clock Saturday evenings will dispute the statement that six thousand men pass Campbell's doorway between 7 and 9:30 o'clock.

So Campbell's are going to make Saturday night "Men's Night."

Here are some of the special features that will make it worth while to spend 10 minutes at Campbell's this evening.

All the Men's Suits and Overcoats that have been in the store twelve months are cut way down in price, regardless of style, quality or first cost. Campbell sells shoes—a standard $3 grade, for which he will only ask $2.50 per pair tonight.

50c Fleece Lined Undershirts will be 31c, and $1 Natural Wool Undershirts will be 65c.

Men's $1 Dress Shirts will be 65c, and $1.50 Fine Shirts, in dark styles, will be 98c.

25c tonight will pay for the Tie you like best in the big pile of Ties. Four-in-hands and Ascots that in the fall and early winter were 50c and 75c. He will buy Fine Black Cotton Sox, with vertical embroidered stripes, that are cheap at 25c.

THE REV. EVARISTO P. COLLAZO.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—The Rev. Evaristo P. Collazo is a Cuban patriot warrior who is being supported as a missionary in Cuba by the members of the First Presbyterian Sunday school of this city. He is located at Guines, 26 miles south of Havana, and works under the direction of Dr. Green, superintendent of the Presbyterian Home Mission Board in Cuba.

The Rev. Mr. Collazo is a nephew of Gen. Collazo, a noted Cuban leader in the Ten-Year war against the Spanish, and was raised a Roman Catholic. He studied dentistry in Philadelphia and there embraced the Presbyterian faith. While he practiced his profession in Havana he pursued his theological studies and was last fall ordained as a Presbyterian minister. He will devote his entire time to mission work among the Cubans. The experiment is being watched by the entire Presbyterian body, and, if successful, many churches will undertake the support of missionaries in Cuba.

SAW HIS OWN ARM CHOPPED INCH BY INCH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—C. E. Rodgers, a prominent farmer of North Beaver township, met with a terrible accident while operating a fodder cutter at his barn, which is driven by horse power. While feeding the fodder into the the knife his hand was caught by the machine and his arm chopped off, inch by inch, to the elbow.

The machine is so large that usually two persons operate it, but this time Rodgers had undertaken to operate it alone. Rodgers underwent the agony of watching his hand and arm forced in while he grasped at the lever which controls the machine. He finally wrenched himself loose. His condition is regarded as critical, as he is suffering greatly from loss of blood.

ENGLISH CONTRALTO WARMLY RECEIVED

Mme. Kirkby-Lunn, Soloist With Pittsburgh Orchestra Pleased Large Crowd.

Mme. Kirkby-Lunn, an English contralto, who is a member of the Metropolitan opera company this season, made her first appearance in this city at the Pittsburgh orchestra concert last evening. Mme. Lunn has only been in this country since the first of the year, and this is the first time she has sung outside of New York.

A very large audience filled Carnegie Music hall in appreciation of this musical event. Mme. Lunn was heard twice in the program and each time was received with the utmost enthusiasm. She has a large, rich voice, with a wonderful range and a certain poise which lends distinction to her interpretations.

In her first number, the aria "Divinites du Styx," from the "Alceste" of Gluck, she revealed a magnificent depth of tone in the lower register. In the second part of the program Mme. Lunn sang two of Percy Pitts songs, and although she gave them a superb rendition, she could not dignify them into compositions of any value. Nevertheless, the beauty of her voice won her great applause and many recalls.

The orchestra was in very good form, and played the German student melodies of the Brahms overture with convincing spirit. The best work of the evening was in the Schubert symphony, which was interpreted with a marvellous artistic insight.

The audience, however, preferred the last two movement of the "Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz. Mr. Herbert was forced to repeat both the "Dance of the Sylphs," with its ethereal delicacy of tone, and the mad Hungarian chords of the Pakoczy march. The string work in this was especially fine, Chabrier's "Rhapsodie Espana" was the closing number, and the difficult orchestration, for which it is noted, was overcome with little difficulty.

Mme. Kirkby-Lunn will appear again with the orchestra this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING THE FUNDS OF A LODGE

New Castle Councilman Unable to Give Bail When Arrested.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—A sensation has been created here by the arrest of Councilman William G. Leddy of the Fourth ward last night on a charge of embezzling funds of the Lawrence castle, No. 494, Knights of the Golden Eagle, of which he has been keeper of the exchequer for four years. Leddy was unable to secure bail.

The defendant is one of the best known young men of this city. For many years he was proprietor of a large merchant tailoring establishment, but sold that business a few months ago and opened a shirt factory, in which business he is engaged.

The information against Leddy was made in the name of Lawrence Castle by one of the officers after a special meeting had been called to consider the matter. Leddy is specifically charged with the embezzlement of $265.75. The alleged shortage was discovered when Lawrence Castle had an opportunity to loan on a mortgage $600 of its surplus funds. The warrant for this $600 loan was issued to Leddy, but, it is alleged, he failed to cash it. When asked about the matter, he exhibited his bank book showing heavy deposits in the Citizens National bank, where he had his accounts. Inquiries, however, at the bank brought out the claim that Leddy's account there had been overdrawn.

When arrested, Leddy asked not to be taken to jail, and Constable Stewart went with his prisoner to his home. There Leddy became greatly excited, and, it is said, began smashing furniture and other articles. He finally became so unmanageable that two policemen were called and he was driven in a patrol wagon to the county jail.

Leddy has occupied a prominent place in the Knights of the Golden Eagle affairs here for several years, and is also widely known by members of the order all over the state.

DESPONDENT BOY KILLS HIMSELF

BURTON, O., Jan. 23.—Ray Burgess, aged 11, committed suicide at his home in Grove, near here, last night. He had been despondent for a week or more and yesterday he came from school and went direct to his room. About supper time a revolver shot was heard, and his parents, rushing to his room, found him dead upon the floor.

Suit to Oust Benefit Association.

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The circuit court has been occupied during the past few days with an action against the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to oust it from business in the state. Former Attorney General F. S. Monnett has been fighting the company, while the defense is in the hands of the company's attorney in Lima.

Crap Game Proves Fatal.

WELLSVILLE, W. VA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Albert Major, colored, a foreman in the employ of the Wabash Railroad Company, was shot and instantly killed two miles from here today by an unknown negro, who escaped. Major and several others were shooting craps and a dispute arose, which culminated in the murder.

WORK IS BROADENING.

First Report of Free Library Commission Shows That People Want the Books.

The free library commission of Pennsylvania has just published its first report, which shows that excellent work has been done by these institutions during the years from 1899 to 1902, inclusive, the commission having been created by an act of legislature in 1899.

Secretary George E. Reed reports that there are now 80 traveling libraries in existence in the state, containing 4,000 volumes. These libaries have been placed in 30 out of the 66 counties of the state and their 1,538 readers have been furnished with 13,885 volumes.

Librarian W. M. Stevenson of Allegheny Carnegie library, in commenting on the report asserts that the encouraging work of the past three years will be greatly increased in the future and believes that the free traveling library, as a great institution for public education, will receive still greater support from the thinking classes.

The state of New York was the pioneer in this movement, having established libraries in its district schools in 1835, while the traveling library system was established in 1893. There are now traveling libraries all over the Empire state, and many other commonwealths have fallen into line.

The report covers 117 pages and is handsomely bound and printed. The governor at the time of its creation appointed the following members of the commission: C. L. Magee of Pittsburgh, Henry Bolin, Jr., of Scranton, John Thobson of Philadelphia, W. N. Frew of Pittsburgh and William M. Stevenson of Allegheny. On the decease of C. L. Magee, J. G. Rosengarten was appointed by the governor for the unexpired term, and subsequently chosen as chairman of the commission.

COFFEE HEART.

Life Insurance Companies Now Recognize the Disease.

The Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, a famous authority, said in a recent issue: "Medical examiners for life insurance companies have added the term 'coffee heart' to their regular classification of the functional derangements of that organ. Its effect is in shortening the long beat of the heart. 'Coffee topers,' they say, are plentiful and as much tied to their cups as the whisky toper. The effect of coffee upon the heart is more lasting, and consequently worse, than that of liquor."

A well-known physician specialist of Ladoga, Ind., tells how he treats such cases. He has had many such. He says: "I will mention one case in my practice—Mrs. H., age 54, very fleshy, family history good, had been for more than three years a constant sufferer from headache, heart trouble and smothering spells, accompanied by nervousness. Had to lie down when attacked by these spells. She was treating all the time, but got worse.

"I soon found out that she had 'coffee heart,' and promptly cured her in this way: I forbade her coffee and put her on Postum Cereal Coffee instead. She reported in five weeks and said she had not had a bad spell since, and felt sound and well. This was four years ago, and she is now a picture of perfect health and happiness.

"This is only one case out of many. I knew the doctor's bills would be small, but I also knew the case would bring lots of others to me. Few people realize the great value of Postum. It is not a 'cure-all,' but it has been the means of relief to perhaps more people than any one thing ever introduced in the American bill of fare. I have seen some wonderful results from its use." Harrison, the well-known song illustrator, says that "Ashamed of the Old Folks" is the prettiest story-song in many years. Free with next Sunday's Gazette

The relation of woman's nerves and generative organs is very close; consequently nine tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Herein we prove conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will quickly relieve all this trouble.

Details of a Severe Case Cured in Eau Claire, Wis.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been ailing from female trouble for the past five years. About a month ago I was taken with nervous prostration, accompanied at certain times before menstruation with fearful headaches. I read one of your books, and finding many testimonials of the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, experienced by lady sufferers, I commenced its use and am happy to state that after using a few bottles I feel like a new woman, aches and pains all gone.

"I am recommending your medicine to many of my friends, and I assure you that you have my hearty thanks for your valuable preparation which has done so much good. I trust all suffering women will use your Vegetable Compound."—MRS. MINNIE TIETZ, 620 First Ave., Eau Claire, Wis. (May 28, 1901).

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it soothes, strengthens, heals and tones up the delicate female organism. It is a positive cure for all kinds of female complaints; that bearing down feeling, backache, displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and is invaluable during the change of life, all of which may help to cause nervous prostration.

Read what Mrs. Day says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will write you a few lines to let you know of the benefit I have received from taking your remedies. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, sick headache, painful menstruation, pain in the stomach after eating, and constipation. I often thought I would lose my mind. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was soon feeling like a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly. It does all that it is recommended to do, and more.

"I hope that every one who suffers as I did will give Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies a trial."—MRS. MARIE DAY, Eleanora, Pa. (March 25, 1901.)

Free Medical Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women to write to her for advice. You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor—your letter will be seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Another Case of Nervous Prostration Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Allow me to express to you the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I started to take it I was on the verge of nervous prostration. Could not sleep nights, and I suffered dreadfully from indigeston and headache. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful medicine, and began its use, which immediately restored my health.

"I can heartily recommend it to all suffering women."—MRS. BERTHA E. DEIBKINS, 253½ Lapidge St., San Francisco, Cal. (May 21, 1901.)

SOFT COAL MINES HARDEST TO WORK

ALSO LESS EXPENSIVE

Dozen Witnesses Presented by Independent Operators — Men from Hazleton District to Be Heard Today.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—The Independent operators of the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions, in which Scranton and Wilkesbarre are situated, occupied the time of today's session of the coal strike commission. The attorneys representing the 30 companies in these two regions called about a dozen witnesses who represented different concerns.

In the examination of the witnesses the lawyers tried to avoid as much as possible the repetition of testimony already presented by the larger companies. Little of importance was elicited. There was unanimity of opinion, however, that the lack of discipline among the miners and the restriction of their earning capacity, testified by witnesses for the large coal companies, is more pronounced since the union came into the anthracite field than it was before the men organized.

Henry Lubken of Scranton, a civil engineer employed by the Jermyn Coal Company, who had considerable experience in the bituminous regions, testified that soft coal mining is much harder than anthracite mining. It is much more expensive to open and run a hard coal mine, he said than a soft coal operation. The independent operators in the Hazelton regions will open their case tomorrow. The firm of G. B. Markle & Co. is among these operators, but it is not known whether that company will be reached tomorrow.

FORGET MANHOOD IN WILD PANIC

THREE PERSONS KILLED

Bodies Found in Building After All Danger from Fire Is Past. Employes of Two Other Companies Escape Safely.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Three women were killed and five women and one man severely injured in a panic in Leopold Miller & Son's cigar factory on Crosby street today, as a result of a fire in an adjoining building. The dead are:

JENNIE MESSINO, 25 years.
FANNIE KERSTBERG, 22 years.
MRS. MARY SPARBERA, 25 years.

The flames from the burning building beat against the walls of the cigar factory, causing a panic among the 500 women and boys at work. There was a wild rush for the fire escapes at the front and rear ends of the building, in which the weaker were crushed and trampled by the stronger.

The men did not hesitate to push the women aside, and when they reached the second story, instead of waiting for the ladders to be raised, pushed the women off to the ground, about 15 feet, and leaped themselves. In this way many women were more or less injured.

The worst scenes, however, were on the stairways, by which crowds of the panic-stricken employes tried to escape from the building. The men shrieked as if mad, and knocking the women down, trampled them under foot. At the third story there was a blockade, and had it not been for the timely arrival of the police the death list would have been much longer. The officers, climbing over the heads of the crowds, reached the third story and succeeded, by pushing the men aside, in making a passageway for the women.

Other policemen and the fire department soon arrived, and when the building had been cleared the bodies of the three dead were found. Mrs. Balletti, who was erroneously reported among the killed, received injuries which may result fatally.

The 200 employes of the New Idea Pattern Company, in whose factory the fire started, got out in safety, although several were slightly burned. Employes of other firms in the building left the building in order, and then helped in rescuing the women from the cigar factory.

Housekeeper Is Murdered.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The body of Stella Wright was found lying in the rear of a flat on South State street today badly mutilated. The woman was housekeeper for Frank Lewis, a teamster, and is supposed to have been murdered.

CHART—TALK.
Pastor Russell to Show the Scriptural Harmony of These Bible Doctrines Tomorrow, 3 p. m., Allegheny Carnegie Hall.

The topic, no less than the speaker, will surely draw a large audience, if the weather is at all favorable. For long centuries these doctrines have troubled the embattled hosts of Calvinism and Arminianism. Admittedly both theories have scriptures which seem to support them; and if Pastor Russell's "Chart of the Ages" solves the mystery and shows the harmony between these doctrines it should go a long step toward unifying Christians, and presage the Millennial dawn near. Much as church federation is sought, all will surely agree that church unity—in heart and head—is still more desirable.

WILL ASK FOR TEN-CENT CARS

Chamber of Commerce Committee Wants Pullman Traction Service.

WOMEN DEMANDING IT

Say Costly Gowns Are Ruined by Contact With Negro and Foreign Laborers — Theater Specials Asked For.

When the members of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce committee, appointed to confer with the street railway officials in regard to the congested street car conditions in the city, meet President J. Dawson Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company by special appointment next Wednesday afternoon they will have some suggestion to proffer.

It is quite probable that extra cars will be asked for on all lines, a sort of Pullman service requiring a 10-cent fare; that a number of theater and special cars will be asked for, and a request will be made for special trailer smoking cars, in which workmen may ride to and from their duties morning and evening.

Since the chamber of commerce has taken up this subject the special committee has received numerous requests from women living in the principal residence sections of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, asking that they be protected by the street car companies from workingmen with whom they are bound to come in contact in street cars.

The greatest grievance the women have to set forth is that they are compelled to ride, side by side, with men who have come from the grimy workshops without even changing their clothing. In crowded cars the men and women are compelled to stand or sit so close together that numerous costly gowns have been practically ruined.

The American workingmen are not generally the offenders the women aim at but negroes and foreign laborers, who pay little attention to their clothing, or the comfort of others. Laborers, covered with mud, oil and grease, soot from the mills or dirt and dust from factories, do not hesitate to board street cars and rub their clothes against those of the most costly and delicate designs worn by women.

The consequence of this is that the women's gowns are ruined by the dirt or grease which it is almost an impossibility to clean from fine fabrics. The chamber of commerce committee believe that well-to-do women in order to travel in comfort will be willing to pay an extra fare to have such accommodations offered by the street car company.

Numerous complaints have also been received from residents of the East End district, that street cars between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening are so crowded that it is almost impossible to get to a downtown theater in time for the first act of the performance. On this ground special theater cars will be asked for, and it will probably be proposed that the cars make a faster run, by only making stops at certain places between East Liberty and the downtown portion of the city.

Whether the Pittsburgh Railways Company will accede to the requests of the committee remains to be seen. It is not known if they will be in favor of putting on special cars for workingmen, and also cars on which a special fare will be charged. If the matter was looked on as a discrimination there might be many damage suits brought by persons who wanted to ride in the specials and were refused. It is safe to say that a test case would be made in court before the new scheme would be tried.

PLAN TO BUILD NEW ELEVATOR

Central Ohio Grain Dealers' Association Will Enter Local Field.

CHANCE FOR BUSINESS

Present Structures in City Are Inadequate for Service Needed. Will Give Pittsburgh Dealers Control of Big Territory.

Another grain elevator is planned for Pittsburgh, the growing importance of the local market having attracted the interest of investors in this line who have been prospecting the field within the last few days and are now taking the matter up with the merchants here with a view to obtaining their support. There are two small elevators in this city where grain can be stored, clipped or cleaned, and the Pennsylvania railroad is to build another on Herrs Island, but they are insufficient to handle the large volume of business now central in this city. This fact has been brought to the attention of the Central Ohio Grain Dealers' association, and the latter organization at once sent a representative here to look over the field and secure a site for the proposed elevator.

The intention was to invest about $60,000 in the enterprise, but this was on a basis of securing enough realty for the purpose at a price not to exceed $10,000. The location desired was in the lower end of Allegheny, near the Manchester freight yards of the Pennsylvania lines.

It was found that property in that vicinity would require a greater expenditure than calculated upon, and the matter is again before the promoters for rearrangement.

The Central Ohio Grain Dealers' association has a membership of 50, each one of whom is the owner of a small elevator in some part of the Buckeye state. They propose to unite and build in Pittsburgh an elevator large enough to take care of the immense business done here and by increasing facilities still further develop the trade.

They assert that they do not believe Pittsburgh grain merchants are fully alive to the importance of the local market, and that opportunities are here afforded which should produce wonderful results in the future. The lack of elevator room is one of the drawbacks. It costs but little to store grain in elevators, and the holding of it in storage for a few days often means immense profit to the holder when prices are going upward, as they are doing now.

By the system now in vogue, freight pro rating allows local dealers to place grain in elevators here and hold it indefinitely, then take it out and reship to points in the Pittsburgh territory at the same rate of freight as if it had been originally billed through. This in itself is a most important matter, and as the railroad lines recognize the proper supremacy of Pittsburgh over all the territory between this city and Altoona, there should be no difficulty, if properly handled, in shutting out all competition of merchants farther west who attempt to invade the district tributary to Pittsburgh, for outside dealers do not have the same advantage in freight pro rates.

The hay and grain business here has grown wonderfully in the past few years, and its importance is just beginning to dawn upon those who have handled it. At the moment there is a scarcity of supplies owing to congested railroad conditions, which might have been partly avoided if preparations had been possible with the elevator facilities at hand. This is being brought home to dealers, who are losing money daily through inability to supply the demand for stock, and the new project will without doubt receive strong support.

NEW FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY PLANNED

Formation of a Mutual Co-Operative Association to Do Business in This Country.

I. R. Kornblum, son of Dr. A. Kornblum, the Wood street optician, and H. C. Sirvan of No. 627 Fifth avenue are forming a fire insurance company which has been pledged a capital of $500,000. The company will insure only in Allegheny county and is the first enterprise of the kind ever attempted.

As the state law requires but a paid-up capital of $200,000, the company will be formed immediately. It is the intention of the projectors to start business with a capital of $1,000,000, but this will be increased as the business demands it. The company's rates will be just the same as that of other companies and it will have the same relative standing in the board of fire underwriters.

The company will be operated on the mutual co-operative plan and most of the stockholders will be persons who are insured in the company. Handsome offices will be secured and the projectors claim that they are promised enough business to make a start at once. They propose obtaining offices in some downtown office building, the Arrott building being the one preferred.

Mr. Kornblum will be vice president of the company, Mr. Sirvan the secretary and treasurer, and George Sapper, business manager of the Pittsburgh Wholesalers' Credit association, will be general manager. The president and the other officers have not been selected.

Matters of Concern To Men

Are you good at figures? You know how crowded the Fifth Avenue sidewalks are between 7 and 9:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Not many women out, but great throngs of men. About forty men pass Campbell's doorway every minute. How many go by in the two hours-and-a-half up to closing time? Isn't it six thousand?

Not all of them go by, however. Several hundred are too wise to do that. They come in. Saturday night is Men's Night at Campbell's.

SHOES

Campbell sells Men's Shoes—the $3 kind. But he will close out tonight about three hundred pairs that are all right in shape, in style, in leather, and in everything else that goes to make a good shoe for..... $2.50

So every man who fits himself with footwear tonight will be 50c to the good.

SHIRTS

Four kinds of Shirts at Campbell's tonight will be marked at figures that will save a man a part of his week's wages:

Men's Undershirts, natural wool and camel's hair, $1.00 grades, cut to..... 65c

Men's Dress Shirts, in percale and madras, separate or attached cuffs..... 65c

GLOVES

Campbell carries the kind of Gloves that dressy men wear. But he does not ask men of taste to pay extravagant prices for fine handwear.

A warm Glove special tonight will be several boxes of Astrachan Gloves for men and boys, with Jersey palms and mocha kid between the fingers, at..... 19c a pair

CANES

There is comfort in a cane. There is protection also. Two reasons why every man should have one. Saturday night Campbell will close out a lot of light canes, in half a dozen different kinds of wood, with bent handles, some silver mounted, various values from 50c to $1.00, for..... 25c

Also some better ones in finer woods, with heavier silver mountings; worth from $1.25 to $2.00, for..... 50c

TIES

Two kinds of Men's Ties at Campbell's—one line just in represents the most advanced ideas in men's neckwear. The other line is what remains of the 50c and 75c Ascots, Tecks and Four-in-Hands, bought for the fall trade, the early winter business and the Christmas display. These will be closed out Saturday night for..... 25c

SOCKS

Because a man's stockings are out of sight most of the time is no reason why he should not have plenty of them—and all in good condition. Men whose outfits are deficient in this particular will be glad to fill in the gap with the Fine Black Cotton Sox, with silk embroidered in vertical stripes that were 25c, but now on sale for..... 19c a pair

CLOTHES

All the Men's Suits and Overcoats and Boys' Suits and Overcoats in Campbell's Clothing Department that have been under the roof a year are ordered out at prices that will not have to be cut again. 'Tis too long a story to tell in a paragraph. The advertisements in yesterday's papers gave the details. Look it up, or, better still, come in and look at the clothes.

All boys' clothing marked $6 and $7 goes for 4.44

All boys' clothing marked $8 and $10 goes for 6.66

Our clothing clearing, more than a "nine-day" wonder

IT'S not a "go-up-like-a-rocket, come-down-like-a-stick" affair, but a great mercantile movement that gains force and momentum with each successive day. After two weeks of heavy selling, the enthusiasm is now only the more intensified.

$6.00 for any Suit or Overcoat marked $8 $9 or $10

$8.50 for any Suit or Overcoat marked $12 $14 or $15

A discount of 20 to 45 per cent on your suit or overcoat here is just like getting a dividend for that amount on some well-invested stock. OUR marked prices always represent the intrinsic worth of the goods. So, when you get a rebate of 20 to 45 per cent, you've in reality earned that much on your investment, for "money saved is money earned." No wonder this sale has attracted such widespread attention, when we hold out such an incentive.

As near as we can estimate, without actually "taking stock," the high piles on the clothing floor and in the reserve storage rooms have been reduced about one-half. But they're not low enough yet. Hence this announcement of the continuation of these extraordinary offers:

Any suit or overcoat marked $5.50, $6.00 or $7.50 for 4.50
Any suit or overcoat marked $8.00, $9.00 or $10.00 for 6.00
Any suit or overcoat marked $12.00, $14.00 or $15.00 for 8.50
Any suit or overcoat marked $18.00, $20.00 or $23.00 for 13.00
Any suit or overcoat marked $25.00, $30.00 or $40.00 for 20.00

$13 for any Suit or Overcoat marked $18 $20 or $23

$20 for any Suit or Overcoat marked $25 $30 $35 or $40

Regardless of the losses that may be entailed, we simply offer choice from our entire stock as above. And we've so arranged the stock, placing all the goods that go at the same price on a separate section of the clothing floor, as to enable any man to quickly find just the suit or overcoat he's looking for. And don't forget that all our men's pants are also included in this sweeping counter-clearing sale.

All pants marked $2.48 and $2.98, now 1.75

All pants marked $4.00 and $5.00, now 3.00

All pants marked $6.00 and $7.00, now 4.50

DEATH SENTENCE FOR COL. LYNCH

HAD NOTHING TO SAY

Prisoner Was Composed During Trial and Made No Comment on the Verdict—Prescribed Penalty May Be Commuted.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Col. Lynch was found guilty of high treason today and sentenced to death. In delivering sentence Justice Wills said the crime of high treason was happily so rare that it seemed to be almost an anachronism. No civilized community had yet failed to punish severely defection from loyalty, whether in the way of open warfare or secret intrigue. In the darkest hours of his country's fortune, when engaged in a deadly struggle, Lynch joined the ranks of its foes and shed the blood of his fellow-subjects fighting for their country, and sought to dethrone Great Britain from her place among the nations. The only palliation which could be offered was that it had been the fashion for some years to treat lightly utters of this kind, and men had been encouraged to play with sedition and toy with treason. The nation had treated with contemptuous indifference speeches and acts of sedition; but it was one thing to talk sedition and quite a different thing to bear arms in the ranks of the country's foes.

Jury Out Half an Hour.

The lord chief justice summed up very briefly. He said that if in war time a British subject joined the king's enemies, whatever his purpose, he was guilty of an unlawful act. Naturalization during war time afforded no excuse whatever for subsequent acts. There was abundant evidence, he said, of overt acts in aiding the king's enemies.

The jury, after having been out half an hour, returned a verdict of guilty. When asked if he had anything to say why he should not be sentenced to death, Col. Lynch replied:

"Thank you, I will say nothing."

The sentence of death was passed on each of the four counts in the indictment. The prisoner then bowed to the court and was removed in custody.

Lynch, throughout, bore himself with unfaltering composure. He walked out steadily between the jailers and past the bench where his wife and other relatives were seated. Mrs. Lynch has been given permission to see her husband.

Sentence May Be Commuted.

Although formally sentenced to be hanged, Lynch's sentence will no doubt be commuted.

After the prisoner had been removed, Lynch and his counsel had a conference regarding the course to be adopted, and it was announced that no action would be taken at present. Counsel can proceed with applying for a writ of error, but it is thought that this may be rendered unnecessary by the commutation of the sentence to a short term of imprisonment, in which case it is probable that the prisoner will accept the situation.

When the trial was resumed today, counsel for the defense began summing up. There was no attempt to deny that Col. Lynch supported the Boers, but counsel contended that his naturalization was in no way prompted by treasonable intent and was solely for the advantage he would thus secure for journalistic purposes. Subsequently the defendant actively supported the Boer cause, in the belief that he was a legally naturalized burgher.

Replying for the prosecution, the solicitor general, Sir Edward Carson, maintained that Col. Lynch joined the Boer army as a discontented Irishman, "thereby committing a most cowardly and most serious act of treason. His naturalization," continued the solicitor general, "was only a flimsy pretext."

Lynch's conviction creates a parliamentary vacancy in Galway, and it is understood that Capt. Shawe-Taylor, organizer of the recent land conference, who is now in America, will be a candidate with the approval of the various political parties.

COLORADO DEMOCRATS PREPARE FOR ATTACK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DENVER, Jan. 23.—W. H. Kelly, Democratic member of the legislature, who failed to appear yesterday, thus breaking a quorum and preventing the Democrats declaring Senator Teller re-elected, returned today and explained that he thought adjournment was taken until Friday.

No attempt was made to ballot today on the senatorship, but will be tomorrow.

An additional barricade is being erected for the protection of the Democratic senate. Carpenters were at work today putting up heavy doors in the corridors leading to the cloak room of the senate chamber. Part of the guard will be placed at these doors. Should an attack be made on the chamber with a view to securing possession, this obstable must first be passed.

The Republican senate held an executive session in the lieutenant governor's office and resolutions were adopted notifying the state treasurer and auditor that W. H. Adams, president pro tem., Charles M. Sprague, secretary; J. Dooley, sergeant-at-arms, and his assistants, have been removed from office and are not entitled to any pay for services as officers and employes of the senate.

A motion was unanimously carried that the state printer be notified not to take anything to print, except at his own peril, from any other body assuming to be the senate of Colorado, except that which is certified by the president of the senate, Lieut. Gov. Haggott or the secretary of the senate, C. F. Haggar.

Rules were adopted and a resolution introduced providing for a joint session of the senate and house in the house chamber at noon tomorrow, to vote for a senator. Lieut. Gov. Haggott and Senator Cornforth say there was no doubt about the final recognition of the Republican senate by the house.

Gov. Peabody is still exerting his influence to bring the two senates together, but appears to have made no progress in that direction.

BLUNDER COST LIVES OF THREE

Some One Tampered With an Electric Switch at Wabash Tunnel.

BLASTS WERE EXPLODED

Two Foremen, Tracing Wires at Time, Were Killed, Laborer Died Afterward and Fourth Victim Cannot Recover.

Because some one tampered with an electric switch, three men were killed, one fatally injured and four slightly hurt, in an explosion of dynamite in a shaft of the Wabash tunnel, btween Bertha and Ulysses streets, Mt. Washington, shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The accident was due to some one turning on the electrical current without any signal and exploding the dynamite that was ready for the blast.

The Dead.

HARRY FLORENCE, 30 years old, day foreman, West End, instantly killed. He was single.

Injured.

Was a Fatal Mistake.

The night crew had prepared two blasts in the eastern end of the heading. They were not to be set off until it was time for the day crew to report. Frank Taylor, the night foreman, took Harry Florence, the day foreman, into the shaft tunnel to show him what work he had done.

Taylor was tracing the wires, which were to set off the dynamite for Florence. The other workmen followed the foremen.

As the party were making their way to the blasts, some one at the top of the shaft in Virginia avenue turned the electric current into the wires, which Foreman Taylor was tracing, by mistake. The dynamite exploded. Taylor was instantly killed. Florence's head was blown off and the others were hurled back from the spot.

Thomas Howard was badly crushed by flying rock and died later at the Homeopathic hospital. Five other men were injured and one of them will probably die.

Ambulances were summoned to the scene of the accident and the men were brought out of the shaft. When Taylor's body was brought out one of the first men to see it was his brother, John Taylor. He was greatly effected by the sight. Before the ambulances arrived several physicians were summoned to aid the injured. The ambulances arrived and took the injured to the South Side and Homeopathic hospitals.

Fifteen Had Narrow Escape.

Inspector Frederick Shaefer, of the Ferguson Construction Company, and Master Mechanic William Noel went into the shaft after the explosion to make an investigation. They said the accident was due to some one tampering with the electric switch. The tunnel was not damaged by the explosion. Just as the fatal explosion occurred the shaft cage was being lowered into the tunnel with 15 men on it. These men were thrown from their feet by the concussion, but none were hurt. The cage was lowered and it was these men that rescued the injured and brought out the dead.

The bodies of Florence and Taylor were removed to the Slater undertaking rooms in Virginia avenue. Mrs. Taylor was sent for, and when she learned her husband had been killed was prostrated. She was taken to her home and is in a critical condition. Florence had not been to work in three weeks on account of illness. He reported to work yesterday morning, and had not been in the tunnel three minutes when he was killed. Work was abandoned in the tunnel for the day, as the men refused to enter the shaft. Deputy Coroner Charles Bender is making an investigation of the accident.

REICHSTAG PRESIDENT RESIGNS UNDER FIRE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Count von Ballestram has resigned the presidency of the reichstag in consequence of disapproval of his attitude during the attempt, January 20, of Herr Vollmar (Socialist) to raise a debate in the house on the charges brought against the late Herr Krupp, and against Emperor William's telegrams and speeches on the subject.

The president at that time declined to permit the discussion on the ground that it was out of order to discuss a private person while debating the budget. His action called forth violent protests from the Socialists, who asserted that he was violating the rights of the reichstag.

Even the organs of Count von Ballestram's own party condemned his ruling as partial and unjust, and it is said also that Count von Buelow, the chancellor, was prepared to reply to Herr Vollmar, expecting the Socialists would be allowed to speak.

The Socialists, who have been making an effective agitation against the ruling of Count von Ballestram, held 31 meetings in Berlin last night to protest against his action.

American Minister Called.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Westminster chapel, one of the best-known churches in London, has decided to invite the Rev. Samuel George Smith of St. Paul, Minn., to fill the pulpit.

Election and Free Grace Harmonized

Pastor C. T. Russell is to give his third chart talk of the series on the above topic tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in Carnegie hall, Allegheny. The topic should fill the largest auditorium in any city and especially in this, the theological center of Presbyterianism. The Bible indisputably contains much on the subject of election, but hitherto no one has undertaken to show the harmony between this doctrine and its more popular opposite, free grace. Assuredly, many theologians and Christian thinkers will wish the speaker success in his proposition to show the scriptural harmony between these doctrines, which have perplexed the able minds of Christendom for centuries.

A large and intelligent audience is predicted and the aged and deaf are advised to go early to secure good seats and to enjoy the delightful praise service which commences at 2:30—directed by B. F. Walters; E. C. Henninges, organist. No collections.

WOMEN WEEP FOR DEAD SAILOR

Mother and Intended Bride of Patterson Mourn for Son and Lover.

HIS LAST LOVING LETTER

The mother and the intended bride of James Garfield Patterson, the Pittsburgh boy who was fatally injured by the exploding of a gun on the battleship Massachusetts on January 1, mingled their tears together last night when the news of his death was received. Patterson's term of service in the navy would have expired next March, and he expected to be married in June to Bessie Freiberger, of No. 2513 Wylie avenue. Mrs. Barbara Nagle, of No. 21 Soho street, yesterday received a letter from Patterson written in Porto Rico just a week before the accident on the battleship. The boy was Mrs. Nagle's son by her former husband.

Bessie Freiberger hastened to Mrs. Nagle's house last night when she heard of the death of her affianced, and with the heartbroken mother she was overcome with grief. Bessie Freiberger was a childhood playmate of the unfortunate sailor. They were raised in the same neighborhood, and when he sailed away on Uncle Sam's big sea-fighter he told her of his love. When he visited Pittsburgh on his furlough last summer he arranged to have the wedding soon after he should return from the navy. He had corresponded with his sweetheart and had sent her many beautiful and curious presents collected in the distant climes.

When Mrs. Nagle had heard the encouraging reports from the San Juan hospital early this week she dared to hope that her son would recover. Yesterday at noon the mail carrier delivered a letter written by her boy. Before she finished reading it a messenger brought a telegram from the navy department, stating that her son had died yesterday morning. The letter was as follows:

U. S. S. Massachusetts.

Dear Mother—

I will answer your welcome letter by saying that I am so glad to hear that you are well. Mother, do not think that I have forgotten you. I will post this letter just as soon as I reach a convenient port, for you know, mother, that it is hard to get a letter through these Cuban postoffices. Tell the mister that I have his present—the gift I promised him when at home last summer. You know what it is do you not? Why, it's his cigars.

Mother, I am going to send you some money in my next letter to get that crocheting silk for me. You know I mean that silk which is as thick as twine or wrapping cord. Mother, we are going to leave here (San Juan) on February 1, and will cruise to Kingston, Jamaica, Mexico and home by the way of New Orleans, Mobile and so on. It will be a nice cruise and will give us a chance to see more of the southern states. We will arrive in New York about April 14, and I probably will reach home on Decoration day. I will let you know, this time, mother, when I go home and will not take you by surprise any more. Hoping you are in good health, I remain, Your only son,

JAMES G. PATTERSON.

P. S.—Mother, I may bring a monkey home with me, that is if I have a chance to get a young one. Good by, mother dear.

The remains of the young sailor will be buried in San Juan with the honors of the navy, but Mrs. Nagle will make an effort to have the body finally brought to his home city. The family is in poor circumstances and she will ask the navy department to send the remains home.

Mrs. Nagle's little home last night was thronged with friends who came to offer their sympathy. Before Patterson joined the navy he attended the Sixth Presbyterian church and was a member of the Boys brigade. He was 21 years of age and enlisted at the League Island navy yard on March 27, 1900, for a term of three years.

Alexander Newton Dassett of Dunham, N. C., and Patterson were the last survivors of the explosion on the Massachusetts. Dassett died yesterday and was the ninth victim of the disaster, the entire gun crew having been killed or fatally injured.

M. CAMBON RECEIVES THANKS FROM ALFONSO

King Feelingly Refers to Services of Ambassador During War With America.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MADRID, Jan. 23.—The official reception of M. Cambon, the French ambassador, tomorrow promises to be an event of unusual character, as the heads of the army and navy and of the other branches of the government are preparing to attend as a means of expressing their thanks for his services in restoring peace between Spain and the United States. The entire ministry and all the members of the diplomatic corps are expected to attend.

During King Alfonso's response, when M. Cambon presented his credentials yesterday, the sovereign departed from the usual formalities of such occasions and made a feeling reference to the ambassador's services during the Spanish-American war, saying:

"This is not the first time, Mr. Ambassador, that you have shown by your conduct the affection you bear for Spain. Under circumstances most critical, when you were, as today, the representative of France, you rendered us a service entitling you to our consideration and our love."

Pope Reassures O'Connell.

ROME, Jan. 23.—The pope today received in private audience Mgr. Dennis O'Connell, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, and conversed animatedly with him on measures to improve the university. The pontiff assured Mgr. O'Connell he could depend upon his personal support in all his efforts to further Catholic studies in the United States.

King's Opponent Elected.

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—Timothy Harrington, M. P., was today elected lord mayor of Dublin for the third successive time. The keenest interest was taken in the contest. How King Edward should be received by the corporation of Dublin in the event of a royal visit to this city was one of the issues of the campaign. Mr. Harrington opposed a reception to the king.

King Puts on a "Sub."

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 23.—King Oscar has decided to temporarily intrust the government of the country to the crown prince, Gustaf, who will take over the regency next week. This action of the king is taken as the result of medical advice. He has abandoned his projected visit to Norway.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.

The Littlefield bill to regulate trusts field, who was chairman of the sub-committee of the house today and adopted without amendment. Representative Littlefield, who was chairman of the sub-committee which framed the bill, was busy in his rooms at the Hamilton hotel tonight preparing a report to go with the bill, in answer to some questions he said:

"All the members of the committee voted to report it favorably. The Democratic representatives on the committee, led by Judge DeArmond of Missouri, thought the bill does not go far enough and they offered amendments in conformity with their views. The majority did not accept the amendments, such changes as were made being slight verbal ones in no way changing any material particular, and then while agreeing on a favorable recommendation, the Democrats served notice that they reserved the right to offer amendments when the bill comes up for consideration in the house. The report will be made probably on Monday, and although no time has been made for general debate, in view of the short time remaining of the session, it would seem to me that about two days is enough."

Mr. Littlefield will champion the measure on the floor and Judge DeArmond, being the ranking member of the minority, will oppose it, not generally, but for the purpose of making it more drastic. The general feeling is that it is as good a measure as could be consistently offered and the Democratic opposition will be of rather an anomalous character.

Statehood Fight Grows Warm.

The United States senate is now in a deadlock over the statehood bill. There have been rumors of a compromise by which a time will be fixed for a vote and if some such arrangement is not effected there is a possibility of the adjournment of congress with a great mass of legislation not acted upon. The Cuban reciprocity treaty, the Panama canal treaty, an anti-trust bill, the immigration bill and other important measures and possibly the appropriation bills, are in danger of dying an ignominous death if the minority of the senate persist in their attempt to defeat the will of the majority.

The debate on the bill assumed a more acromonious tone today. Senator McComas started this feature of the debate by some remarks in which he asked why this great haste with the statehood measure. He insinuated that there must be some grave reason for pushing it forward at this time with such persistency.

Senator Dubois, one of the Democratic leaders resented the suggestion that advocates of the statehood bill were delaying the senate or using obstructive measures. He said they were not in a hurry to secure a vote, but insisted that a day should be set for a vote at 10, 20 or 30 days hence, as the senate might decide.

"But," cried Mr. Dubois, facing Senator Beveridge and speaking with great earnestness, "there will be a vote on this bill. There will be a vote because a majority of this senate desires a vote, and the majority has never been able to prevent the majority securing what it demanded.

"You may bring in your trust bill or contrive in any other way to divide us, but the majority will have a vote."

Senator Foraker followed with the speech in which he accused the opponents of the statehood bill of being the real obstructionists.

"If there is a majority in favor of this bill why shall they not have a vote on it," he asked. "It is plain that the tactics of the opposition have been to kill this measure by talking it to death."

Senator Depew, referring to the statement of Mr. Dubois that the majority always ruled, said: "If my reading serves me right, there was once a tariff bill before this body that was favored by the president and a majority of the senate, but it will be remembered that the senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. Quay) succeeded in preventing the carrying out of the will of the majority of the senate and the president of the United States."

This reference to the well-known history of the Wilson tariff act produced a laugh, in which both sides joined.

Senator Quay arose and assumed an air of mock humility.

"I don't object to the reflection cast upon me by the senator from New York," said Senator Quay. "But I did not succeed in preventing the passage of the bill."

"Did it not pass?" asked Senator Depew.

"Yes, with some slender modifications," said Seantor Quay in a deprecating tone. Senator Quay himself had to join in the laugh which this reply evoked.

Senator Burnham held the floor all afternoon, and at 5 o'clock, stated that he had not finished his remarks but would resume at some future time. During the discussion Senator Tillman announced that while he favored a vote on the bill, he did not propose to vote for the bill as it stood. He wants an amendment to one section. His announcement is not considered a defection from the statehood forces, as they have not counted upon him as a certainty, although expecting him to vote with them.

Wish Glass on the Free List.

The Democratic members of the house seem anxious to do something with the tariff on glass. A few weeks ago a bill was introduced to put all glass on the free list and today Representative Griggs brought in a bill to put unpolished cylinder glass, cylinder crown glass or polished glass of any size or weight on the free list.

Graham Pension Bill.

McDowell Off on a Visit.

Maj. Alexander McDowell, clerk of the house of representatives, left tonight for his home in Sharon on a four days' visit.

McKeesport Visitor.

Postmaster Harrison of McKeesport is here to see Representative Acheson, who has recommended Mr. Harrison for reappointment. Senator Quay has indorsed T. V. Campbell for the place, and it is understood that he will oppose Harrison's reappointment. L. W. STRAYER.

NEW GOVERNOR KEEPS OPEN DOOR

Issues Orders to Secretaries to Admit All Callers to His Presence.

AT THE PUBLIC'S SERVICE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
HARRISBURG, Jan 23.

Gov. Pennypacker will keep open house for visitors at the executive department every day, except Sunday, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. No matter who the citizen is who wants to get into personal touch with the governor, he can do so at any time during office hours. Instructions to that effect have been issued through Secretary Wharton to the clerical force of the department.

The governor made a tour of the departments today to repay the official visits made on him the day he first took office. The heads of the departments under the governor's control have been requested by the executive to furnish him with a list of the employes, their terms of office and the salary of each.

The official portrait of ex-Gov. Stone was today hung in the reception room of the executive department, space having been made for it by crowding the other portraits together. The portrait is the work of J. C. Arter, a New York artist.

Attorney General Carson said today that he would make no changes in the clerical force of the department. Charles F. Addams of Carlisle, who handled the Elkin campaign in Cumberland county, and Guy H. Davies, son of ex-Lieut. Gov. Davies of Towanda, will remain as law clerks, and Howard M. Hoke as secretary to the attorney general.

Mr. Carson has not as yet made any announcement as to the appointment of a deputy. The delay in the making of this appointment is construed as an indication that the present deputy, Frederick W. Fleitz of Scranton, will not be retained.

WILL DEVELOP COAL NEAR DUQUESNE

Mifflin Coal Company Will Market 2,500,000 Tons Over the Bessemer Railroad.

The Mifflin Coal Company, recently formed and controlled by J. R. Patton and W. H. Gibson, of the Patton & Gibson company, the well-known contracting concern, and W. I. Berryman, is to develop a valuable tract of coal in Mifflin township. The investment will be $200,000. The coal body which is estimated to hold 2,500,000 tons, is to be developed for the lake trade. A railroad will connect with the Union railroad and many cars of this line, bringing their loads of ore from the lake will thus be provided with loads for the back haul.

The company has secured the coal rights of about 900 acres under the farms owned by the McElhany and Hays estates bordering on the west side of Duquesne borough in Mifflin township. Patton & Gibson have had options on the property for some time, and during the past week their engineer, S. A. Taylor, concluded the tests for coal and the deal was closed.

Work on the erection of a tipple was started yesterday, and by March 1 it is expected that coal will be mined. Delivery of the coal to market over the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad, a route which has been much desired by coal shippers since it was opened, has been arranged. The tracks of the Union railroad, which connect with the Bessemer road at Braddock, extends within a short distance of where the tipple is being erected. The arrangement of shipping over the Bessemer will be beneficial to the coal company and to the railroad company as well, as at present nearly half the ore cars are returned to the lakes empty.

Firemen Rewarded for Their Work.

A check for $500 was received yesterday by Assistant Chief Engineer Michael Hennigan of the Pittsburgh bureau of fire from the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, which he turned over to the firemen's disability fund. Accompanying the check was a letter complimenting the fire bureau for its prompt work in extinguishing the fire in the cellar of the Valley Supply company store, a branch of the river coal combine, at Water and Market streets, on the morning of January 8.

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being an internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two 50-cent boxes which I bought at my druggist's cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward of any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserve to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh and cough cures these tablets contain no opiates, cocaine or any injurious drug.

President Pulliam Looks for a Prosperous Baseball Season

PULLIAM LOOKS FOR FINE SEASON

DONOVAN ON A VISIT

President Harry Pulliam of the National league arrived in the city from Cincinnati yesterday and will remain here until tomorrow night, when he will start for New York to open up the National league headquarters and prepare for a busy season of the national game, the outlook for which is brighter than it has been for some years.

Of course President Pulliam is enthusiastic over the outcome of the peace negotiations and he is one man who can pose as "I told you so," because he has made the positive statement right along that the peace agreement would be unanimously adopted by the National league club owners, and his prediction was true to the letter, although there were times during the past four days when it looked like a split of the magnates and a continuation of the costly baseball war. The crisis was averted, however, and now there is a closer harmony among the club owners than ever before, because, after their many heart-to-heart talks, they understand each other better.

Pulliam says that it is now time for the club owners to pull themselves in out of public view and give the game and the players of it a chance. He figures out that the public has grown tired of the long-drawn out snarls and would prefer to hear something about the players and prospects for the coming season. He thinks the joint schedule committees of the National and American leagues will meet some time about the first week in February and will draw up schedules which will be non-conflicting and will leave time for an interchange of games between the clubs of both leagues.

It may be that the committees will follow out the lines suggested in the draft of a schedule submitted by Garry Herrmann, chairman of the peace committee, at the Cincinnati meeting. This calls for an interchange of games at the opening and close of the season and a short championship schedule sandwiched in between. In other words, the 16 clubs would practically form one big circuit, which would be split in two in order to allow for championship games by each league, and at the end of the season the pennant winners of each league meet and play a series for the world's championship. This would give the people an opportunity to see all the leading baseball clubs of the country and afford a test of skill between the two leagues.

As to the option which Barney Dreyfuss holds on the Philadelphia club, Pulliam says it will be closed next week, and the Quaker team and franchise will change hands and become the property of a syndicate of Philadelphians. He says the published statements that the club would be purchased with outside capital is a mistake, as the whole thing has been planned so as to keep the stock right in Philadelphia and thus avoid any interest in the team. Mr. Dreyfuss, after the Cincinnati meeting, went to his old home at Paducah, Ky., but next week will be in Philadelphia, ready to put the deal for the club through. This would have been accomplished this week but for the brush injunction.

Another baseball arrival in the city yesterday was Patsy Donovan, ex-manager of the Pirates and present manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. Like all other baseball men, Donovan is enthusiastic over the outcome of the peace conference, and predicts a great year for the national game. He says he will have a good team in St. Louis and he is after a couple of stars, but does not care to give their names. Patsy would like very much to have Jimmy Burke, the Pirates' extra infielder, but hasn't much hopes of securing him, as his services will be needed here, now that Conroy has been transferred. Donovan spent the day with friends in this city and left last night for his home in Lawrence, Mass.

AN AMATEUR LEAGUE

One Is Under Way for Saturday Afternoon Games and Looks Like a Sure Go.

There is some talk in amateur baseball circles of organizing a city league, to include either six or eight of the best amateur ball teams in Pittsburgh. Several clubs have already signified their willingness to make this arrangement, and if it is a go, it is the intention to draw up a schedule for every Saturday afternoon during the summer, so that there will be no conflicting dates for games and every team in the league will be fully advised as to where they will play each and every game during the season. So far as possible, it is desired to have the teams represent the various manufacturing industries of Pittsburgh.

A committee has been appointed to receive and act upon applications for membership in the league, and a general meeting will be called in the near future, to which will be invited one or more representatives from each club applying for membership. Any baseball manager interested in this plan can receive full advice as to the general nature of same by addressing an inquiry to Baseball Manager, No. 1618 Frick building.

NEW CASTLE'S VICTORY.

Youngstown Elk Bowlers Beaten Very Decisively.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The New Castle Elk bowling team last night won a decisive victory over the Youngstown Elks at that place, winning by a total of 118 points. Previously, at Youngstown, the Ohio Elks defeated the locals by 97 points, which leaves New Castle ahead by 21 points in all. Next Thursday evening the Youngstown team appears here. The score last night was as follows:

New Castle—2,384.

WILL BE FAST GAME.

South Side and Iroquois Teams Meet Tonight.

Tonight there promises to be a good game at Odd Fellows Hall, South Side, when the reorganized Iroquois team will tackle the champion South Side five in a championship contest. The Iroquois team since its defeat by the Manchester team has been greatly strengthened by the addition of two players from McKeesport and one from Wilmerding, and these, with the best of the old Iroquois boys form a good combination which defeated Lyceum Thursday night, and they promise to make things very interesting for the South Siders.

Enthusiasm is at a high pitch on the South Side in expectation of the trip to Carnegie next Wednesday night, and a large crowd is expected tonight since the Iroquois team has been strengthened and promise to make the champions hustle for a victory. Following will be the lineup:

Iroquois.		South Side.
Edmunson	R. F.	Lieban
Mulholland-Pierce	L. F.	Leithead
Stewart-Wassel	Center	Nickel-Weitzel
English	R. G.	Winderknecht
Secrist-Wells	L. G.	Williams-Davis

Philadelphia Birds Beat Boston's Best Fighters.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23.—Before the largest crowd that ever attended a cock-fight in this vicinity, the birds representing Philadelphia won from the birds representing Boston at the mains which began at midnight and continued until daylight.

Eight matches were fought, the Philadelphians taking six. The main was for $1,000, $50 being the wager on each match. Nearly all of the 500 spectators were from Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. Thousands of dollars changed hands on the results.

Would Like to Form a League.

The Lincoln club of Allegheny, which puts out teams in all branches of sports, having at present a basketball and a hockey team, is already looking ahead to baseball. At the close of last year's playing season M. C. Kernblum, who caught most of the team's games, was elected captain and C. K. Weiler, who pitched all of the games, was elected manager. The club will furnish uniforms for the team and expects to make a record, several coaches having offered their services. The Lincolns believe a league could be established with such teams as Ben Avon, Rhody Wallace and Sewickley and Wilkinsburg H. S., and would like to hear from these teams in regard to the same. Address C. K. Weiler, manager, 1341 Fayette street, Allegheny, Pa.

P. A. C. SEVEN WON FROM KEYSTONES

The P. A. C. hockey team made one more stride toward winning the pennant of the Western Pennsylvania Hockey league at the Duquesne garden last night, when they defeated the Keystone seven by the score of 5 to 3 in a very rough and uneven game. During the last half there were several hard mixups, and as a result, two of the red and white team were sent out of the game, while one player on each team was slightly injured.

The rough tactics were started by P. A. C. McKerron, the big left winger, being the principal offender. He was sent to the bench three times for foul play, and after he checked Taylor from behind in the latter part of the contest he was ordered off the ice by Referee Russell. Robinson was also sent to the dressing rooms. Gordon and Lake of the Keystones were given short rests for rough work.

P. A. C. excelled in team play all during the contest, and it looked in the latter part of the game that Keystone would tie the score on account of the weakened condition of the red and white after losing two of their star men. The Keystone players were apparently afraid of their opponents and were rather shy about going after the men who were carrying the puck.

The play in the first half was nearly all confined to the Keystone territory, and the blue and white experts seemed very slow in getting after the disc. The crowd in attendance was not so large as on Tuesday night, and many lovers of the sport did not believe the game would prove interesting on account of the comparative strength of the two sextets.

The Keystones started in like world beaters at the opening and Wiliett scored the first goal in about one minute of play. Robinson and Hamilton were responsible for P. A. C.'s first tally, and Shields made the second shortly afterwards. Fenwick, Robinson and McKerron got together, and with the assistance of Young another score was made. The score at the end of the first half was 4 to 1 in favor of P. A. C.

Keystone began to get desperate at the start of the second half and played fast hockey. Shields' shot for goal was a fierce one. Sixth game, 6 furlongs, Andes, who carried the puck all the way down the ice for a successful shot into the net. Lake to Willett made the last score of the game.

W. E. Quinn, the champion high jumper on skates, broke his own record at the garden last night by reaching the 4 foot, 4 inch mark. His previous record, which is the world's mark, was made at the garden one night this week, 4 feet 3½ inches. Previous to coming to Pittsburgh Quinn held the world's record of 4 feet 2 inches.

P. A. C.—5.		Keystone—3.
Sheppard	Goal	Hern
Hamilton	Point	Bish
Young	Cover Point	Gordon
Fenwick	Center	Taylor
Robinson	Forward	Lake
Shields	Right Wing	Willett

Baseball Tourists Reach Chicago—Trip a Success.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Six of the National-American baseball tourists passed through Chicago yesterday from San Francisco, where the tour ended last Sunday with a benefit game for "Winnie" Mercer's mother. They were Hartsel and Monte Cross of Philadelphia, Joss of Cleveland, Ritchey of Pittsburgh, Coughlin of Washington and Tannehill of New York.

The players assert the trip was a marked financial success, and that each member of the party cleared up between 600 and 700. The players do not wish Mercer's suicide to create difficulties, but think he brooded over his ill health so much his mind became affected.

IT WAS SUICIDE.

Coroner's Jury so Decides in Winnie Mercer Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—"Suicide" was the verdict of a coroner's jury today in the case of Winnie Mercer, a ballplayer, who died from asphyxiation at the Occidental hotel on January 18. Attaches of the hotel told of the detection of the odor of gas and they subsequently discovery of the body. A rubber tube had been fastened on the gas jet and the other end was found in Mercer's mouth. The letters left by the ballplayer saying that he intended to commit suicide were read to the jury by the coroner.

Ball Players Injured While Coasting.

Young, Donaghey and Hamilton, three players of the Rhody Wallace ball club, were injured in a coasting accident yesterday evening on Howard street, Millvale. The boys were coasting on a big sled, which was guided by "Sid" Young. By some accident the sled left the track and dashed into the curb at the foot of the hill. The sled was smashed and Young and Donaghey thrown some distance. All three were badly bruised and cut, but were able to walk to their homes.

An All Around Athlete Dead.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., Jan. 27.—(Special.)—Athletics at the university sustained a big loss today in the death of Wood Peck, quarter back on the football team, short stop on the baseball team, and a all around athlete. He died of typhoid fever at the home of his father, Melville W. Peck, at Philippi, where he was taken a week ago. He was 21 years old and his major at the university was chemistry, in which science he had a brilliant future.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

The Alpine basketball team would like to hear from all 14 to 16-year-old teams having balls. Address Walter Irwin, C. D. & P. 1066 Court or 4 Alpine avenue, Allegheny.

The Arlington A. C. would like to hear from all 13 or 14-year-old teams with balls for games away from home. For games address W. T. Fairman, 1334 Garfield avenue, Allegheny.

Last night the Standard A. C. defeated the Liberty A. C. 11 to 7. The game was one of the hardest Standards have played this season.

The manager of the Trinity A. C. requests all players to be ready to go to Homestead tonight to play the strong Homestead third team. The players will please report at 6:30 p. m. Homestead third please take notice.

The Virginia Athletic club would like to hear from all 8 or 9-year-old teams with balls, and half expenses. The Standard Juniors, Sharpsburg Juniors, Pleasure A. C., preferred. Address Manager Leo Vogel, 1004 Center avenue, city.

The Kingsley Reserves would like to hear from all 11 or 12-year-old teams, the Pirate Jrs., Railroad Midgets, Pleasure Jrs., Standard Jrs. preferred. Address all games to W. H. Matthews, Kingsley House, Fulton and Bedford streets, city.

The Perrysvilles will go to Homestead January 31, where they will meet the Young Americans of that place. Perrysville will take a large crowd of rooters along, as a good game is expected. Perrysville would like to arrange a game with Mt. Oliver Juniors, Company F, Lincolns and Knoxville A. C. Address E. J. Dirane, 56 Lombard street, Allegheny.

The railroad Midgets will meet the Small Five of the South Side in the preliminary to the Railroad-Rambler game on Monday night. The Small Five will please reach the Railroad hall before 7 o'clock, as the first game will have to start before 7:30. All 9 and 10-year-old teams desiring games with the Railroad Midgets address Morgan Copeland, 939 Kirkpatrick avenue, Allegheny.

The Railroad Juniors, the recognized champions of the 13-year-old teams of Western Pennsylvania, will play the Rambler A. C. of Allegheny at the railroad Y. M. C. A. on Monday night at 8:15. A great game is assured, as both teams have been defeating all comers, both in and out of their class, and a large attendance is expected, as both teams have a large number of rooters. This game will be the Railroad's debut into the 14 and 15-year-old class of teams. The boys hope to make as good a showing in this class as they did in the 13-year-old class. The Railroad Juniors will be the smallest team playing at 14 and 15 years in this vicinity, but they will make it warm for some of the big players.

LOST 77 POUNDS OF FAT.

"Three years ago I took your treatment and in less than four months I lost 50 pounds in weight and have not gained an ounce since."

"The good your treatment did me is wonderful. When I began taking it I could not walk a square; I can now walk to town, which is 10 miles from my house. I have lost 77 pounds in weight and am feeling well in every way. I feel like a new woman."

If you are interested in my treatment for the removal of superfluous fat, send for a bottle today. You will be astonished at the promptness with which results are accomplished.

WINDSORS IN LINE.

Rough Riders Are Ready for a Busy Season.

As many baseball clubs have already come out with their line-up and plans for 1903, the Windsors wish to state that when the time comes for things to "get doing" in the great national game, they will be on hand as per usual to deliver the goods. This season will make their ninth upon the diamond, as they started out in 1895 as the Windsor Stars, and have been going ever since.

Harry D. Mason, who has been very closely identified with the club ever since its organization, having been captain-manager of the "Rough Riders" ball nine for the past six years, has retired from those offices, and Henry C. Campbell, formerly manager of the Carnegie Steel Company's ball club, will have charge of the Windsors this coming season. Last year the "Rough Riders" won 22 out of 32 games against the very strongest clubs in the western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, also landing the championship of Allegheny. This season the prospects are very good for making even better record, as their old nine will be entirely intact with more weight and experience than ever before.

BRADDOCK NOW LEADS.

Defeated Duquesne Bowlers Three Games.

At Braddock last night the Braddock bowling team took the entire series of three games from the Duquesne team. This was the second of a series of games between the teams, the first having been played at Duquesne, and the Braddock team leads by 305 pins. Nugent of Braddock made the high score last night, 189, and Donovan, high average, 163 2-3. The scores:

ONE STRONG TEAM.

Iroquois and Olympia Teams Consolidate.

The Iroquois team of the Allegheny county major league and the Olympias of McKeesport have been consolidated. The Iroquois team was fourth in the league race and the Olympias were the strongest in McKeesport, and the combining of the two teams means that this will make one of the strongest teams in Western Pennsylvania, and will hustle Carnegie, South Side and Manchester in the Allegheny county league race. In fact it looks as if the new team would prove a dark horse in the race for the pennant.

The new team will be known as the Iroquois-Olympia team, and will play their home games at Colisseum hall, McKeesport. Geo. W. English will manage the team and play guard. Harry B. Wassel, who is the tallest player in the league and stands 6 feet 2 inches, will captain the team. Mays Edmundson, the old Indiana, Pa., player, will also be on this team, along with Mulholland, Pierce, Meyers and several others. This new five will go up against the South Side tonight, and the South Side boys are going to put their strongest team on the floor, as they don't propose to take any chances.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE BEAT SHADYSIDE

The Pittsburgh High school defeated the basketball team of Shady Side Academy yesterday afternoon on the High school floor, 37 to 23. The game was a surprise in some respects. With the score 26 to 10 against them in the first half, Shadyside woke up and outplayed the High school boys by two points in the second half.

The game was hard fought by both sides throughout. High school's quick passing and fine team work really won the game. It looked a bit as if High school let up in the second. A shift in position of the players seemed to be a lucky change for Shadyside. Scritchfield played against Orbin in the first half and in the second was pitted against Bauer, a player about an foot shorter in stature, and Scritchfield was able to score nine points for his side in that half.

Nickel played out of his regular position at center, and Orbin put up a fine game in his stead. Bauer and Ralston were accurate in passing and goal shooting. Pierce and Scritchfield were the stars for Shadyside. Several hundred rooters were present and applauded every play. The next league game will be Shadyside vs. East Liberty academy at Shadyside next Tuesday. Score and line-up:

High School—37.		Shadyside—23.
Ralston	Forward	Pierce
Bauer	Forward	Vechran
Orbin	Center	Pew Scritchfield
Orr	Guard	Christie
Nickel	Guard	Brooks-Scritchfield

Field goals—Ralston 4, Bauer 2, Orbin 2, Orr, Nickel 5, Pierce 2, Cochran, Christie, Scritchfield 4. Foul goals—Nickel 3, Scritchfield 3. Fouls called—On High school 13, on Shadyside 7. Score—First half, P. H. S., 26; S. S., 10; second half, P. H. S., 11; S. S., 13. Referee—Little. Timers—Shetter and Harper.

SOUTH SIDE STILL WINS.

Ran Away from Bellevue Team in a Regular League Contest.

Last night at Bellevue the South Side and Bellevue teams of the Allegheny County league met in a championship game. In the absence of Isaac Little, President Luckhardt officiated to the satisfaction of both teams. The game opened up fast, but it was not long until "Winnie" shot up the floor, and on a short pass, made the first goal.

This was followed by another by Leithead. Bellevue now took a hand in the game, when M. Clayton shot a pretty one. The scoring from this to the end of the first half was all done by South Side, Leibau making two from field, and Leithead, Weltzel and Winnie each contributing, ran South Side's score up to 15, while Bellevue had to be satisfied with one field goal.

The second half was easy for South Side. It making 14 field goals in this half, while Bellevue's score was increased by M. Clayton making their only goal. Score and lineup:

Bellevue—15.		South Side—45.
Leibau	Forward	N. Clayton
Leithead	Forward	M. Clayton
Weltzel	Center	Trautman
Williams	Guard	Lindsay
Windeknecht	Guard	Butler

Field goals—Leibau 5, Leithead 2, Weltzel 5, Schmitt 3, Windeknecht 5, Bradley 1, M. Clayton 8. Foul goals—Leibau 5. Substitutions—Schmitt for Weltzel; Davis for Williams; Bradley for Windeknecht. Referee—Luckhart.

$20 WON $90 YESTERDAY.

We Cut a Melon With If You Dare, 13 to 2, Won, at New Orleans.

Our Three Horse Play Yesterday Was If You Dare, 13 to 2, Won, Mauser, 5 to 1, Second, and Tioga, 5 to 1 Second.

$20 placed on each of our three selected bets during the past month has netted over $1,600 clean profit. Yesterday the day's play on a $20 investment on each horse netted $90 profit. Prospects are brilliant for a continuance of this good work. On Monday we will cut loose on a 20-to-1 shot that should win by a city block. You are invited to join our army of followers.

WE HANDLE YOUR COMMISSIONS.

To obviate leaks over the wire, and to prevent anyone from thwarting our planned daily coups, we are ourselves placing, through the foremost bookmaker of the country, Mr. Sol. Lichtenstein, all of the money our clients wager on our selections.

Nothing is communicated over the wires by us before the races to our subscribers. As a symbol of good faith, however, the day's selections are placed in a sealed envelope, addressed to each subscriber, and put in the mail at the New Orleans General Postoffice at 1 p. m. daily. We guarantee that no horse will be played for any client except the name of that horse has been mailed to him in an envelope bearing the New Orleans postmark not later than 2 p. m. of the day the races are run. After the races are run New Orleans clients can learn at our New Orleans office the names of the horses Mr. Lichtenstein has been instructed to play. New York clients can learn at our New York office, and out of town clients will receive the news by telegraph, if they so order—all telegrams at cost of subscriber. In addition, we undertake to place in the hands of the Editor of the New Orleans ITEM before the races the selections the money will be played on, and also to advertise next morning the names of the horses in the New York DAILY AMERICA, which is the recognized racing authority of the country.

For the security of persons to whom our fame and financial standing are unknown, and who wish to follow us at New Orleans, the Maxim & Gay Co. refers to the State National Bank of New Orleans and turfmen generally.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

The fee for our three-horse wire is $14 weekly. Mr. Sol. Lichtenstein's charge for placing your money at the track are 5 per cent of the net weekly winnings. Statements are mailed you weekly, with check for any profits. Accounts accepted subject to withdrawal by you on telegraphic notice to that effect. Official closing odds, as published in the New York DAILY AMERICA, the recognized racing authority of the East, are guaranteed.

For a $5	daily play on each horse— $30
For a $10	daily play on each horse— $60
For a $20	daily play on each horse—$120
For a $30	daily play on each horse—$180
For a $50	daily play on each horse—$300

For larger sums in proportion. One week's information fee of $10 must accompany all betting accounts.

Remit direct to the Maxim & Gay Company, 928 Canal Street, New Orleans. All accounts received by the Maxim & Gay Co. will be played at the track by Mr. Sol. Lichtenstein or some other agent of the Maxim & Gay Co., and the Maxim & Gay Co. will make all accountings direct to its clients. The Maxim & Gay Co. assumes all responsibility for a proper execution of its clients' orders.

NEW TOWN PLANNED FOR ROSS TOWNSHIP

A deal involving 632 acres of land, eight acres short of a square mile, and $575,000 was closed yesterday by Haas & Lauinger, who sold the plot to the Allegheny-Bellevue Land Company. The ground is in Ross township, out the Perrysville road, at the Horseshoe bend, about a mile beyond the end of the Perrysville street car line, and is ideal property for selling off in building lots. It is about one and one-half miles long and about one-half mile wide, and was secured from the following owners: William Winters, Henry Witt, Samuel Ray, Fred Schweiter, Earl Johnson, Elizabeth Jackson and the heirs of D. H. Cunningham. Those in the land company are J. D. Callery, M. K. McMullin, J. C. Reilly and others.

The company will lay aside $400,000 for improvements, to include grading and paving of 100 streets and alleys, laying water and gas mains and the erection of an electric light plant. It is the intention to lay off 700 acres in lots, 150x200 each, on which nothing but houses costing at least $10,000 can be erected. No business places will be allowed in this section. The remainder of the property will be subdivided into lots to sell at from $400 to $750 each, the size of which has not yet been determined.

Reported Inquiry for Lots.

It is claimed by the agents making the deal, who had been working on it since February of last year, that there have been inquiries already for 200 lots. F. C. Martsolf has purchased 150 lots, on which he will immediately begin the construction of 50 houses to cost $5,000 each. The Perrysville avenue car line will be extended to the plot this spring.

Some valuable property in the Lawrenceville district, worth about $200,000, owned by St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic church, is on the market, the proceeds of the sale of which will be used to help pay for the debt incurred in erecting the new church nearly completed at Liberty avenue and Thirty-sixth street. It is expected the new structure will be ready for occupancy about June 1, as the roof is now on and the painters are at work. The property at Thirty-second and Liberty avenue, 120x174, having on it the old church, two halls and a school, is estimated to be worth $100,000. The Rev. Father E. M. McKeever, pastor of the congregation, says that sum has been offered for it, but the prospective purchasers would not allow time for the new building to be constructed before they took charge, so the sale was called off.

The church also has a plot on Penn avenue, between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, 304x100, containing the old Vilsack mansion and 14 or 15 other houses. This is also held at $150,000. The property at No. 2543 Penn avenue, 48x150, containing two brick houses, now occupied by the Sisters of Charity of the church, is expected to bring $12,000 or $13,000.

Another Farm to be Plotted.

George B. Snyder of Wilmerding has purchased the farm of August Myers, containing 34 acres, adjoining Trafford City, for $12,000. The property runs along Turtle creek, and the Turtle Creek Valley railroad in the rear. Six acres are on a terrace. It is within ten minutes' walk of the new Westinghouse foundries and will be plotted and put on the market in the spring. There are a stone quarry and a deposit of brick clay on part of the land.

Judson R. Kurtz has bought of Daniel M. Sheaffer a lot, 4'x100, on the north side of Lincoln avenue, and one 41x120, on the west side of Lincoln avenue, near Angle street, Twenty-first ward, containing four brick houses, for $17,000.

The three-story brick store and dwelling on a lot 20½x100 feet, on the southeast side of Wylie avenue, Seventh ward, has been sold by Otto Benzer to Benjamin Sheinberg and Jacob Weisberg for $11,500. It was the former Thomas Mullen property.

S. Arnold handled the sale of the National Union Fire Insurance Company property, No. 59 Roberts street, Eleventh ward, 20x80, with two-story brick dwelling, to Nellie Zaharenko for $4,200, the Mrs. Harry Deitrich property to D. Edwards in Bedford avenue, Eleventh ward, 22x123, with two-story brick dwelling, for $2,400, and the Mrs. Eliza Cluley property to Jacob Price, at 36 Overhill street, Eleventh ward, 20x100, with three-story brick dwelling, for $4,700.

Many Small Sales.

The Allegheny Real Estate Company sold for Emma Darling, executrix of the estate of Martha Glass, to Mary A. Mushenheim, two small brick dwellings, Nos. 35 and 37 Mulberry street, Allegheny, for $2,250. The new owner bought for an investment.

The Wilkinsburg Real Estate Company sold for William McAteer a nine-room frame house at No. 614 Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, to Mrs. Van Emans for $5,500, and for Jacob Hughes a nine-room frame house in Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, to R. W. Shafer for $4,500.

Among the other sales reported yesterday were the following:

Sweetbriar street: William M. King to William P. Fertz, 38x125, improved, Sweetbriar street, Thirty-fifth ward, $3,500.

Clark street: Samuel Goldfarb to William Prager, 20x150, improved, Clark, near Crawford street, Eighth ward, $5,800.

Meadow street: Raffaell Berri and others to Alla Bagdot, 24x53, improved, Meadow street, Twenty-first ward, $2,500.

Rosetta street: George Wind to J. G. Duffthrough D. Behen & Son, 44x100, vacant, north side Rosetta, near Rebecca street, Nineteenth ward, $1,500.

Patrick O'Toole purchased from Stephen Welsh, through John Sykes, a frame house on a lot 20x100 feet in Sawyer street for $675. The same agent sold for George Taylor to Frank Mingler a frame house on a lot 20x100 feet in Poe alley for $1,100.

East End Realty Active.

Bennett street: Ida K. Caslin to David H. Fritz, 30x135, vacant, north side Bennett street, near Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, $1,500.

The list of building inspection yesterday issued the following permits. To Jane Holmes, frame two-story dwelling, Avill alley, Thirteenth ward, $1,400; Engelmohr & Co., brick four-story warehouse and stable, rear 1818 Sidney street, Twenty-sixth ward, $7,000; Mrs. Mary Smith, two two-story frame dwellings, Vespucius street, Twenty-third ward, for both, $1,000; Natural Laundry Company, brick one-story and basement laundry, Clawson and Tioga streets, Twenty-first ward, $8,000.

EASTERN STOCKS DULL AND HEAVY

Market Dominated by the Venezuelan Question and Prices Closed Weak and Lower--Local Securities Remained Inactive.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market yesterday was dominated by rumors relating to the Venezuelan question, and for the greater part of the day speculation was stagnant. Wall street refused to become scared and unload its holdings, but at the same time it was plain that a nervous feeling prevailed. This was manifested in the rather sudden fluctuations in temper rather than prices following the circulation of reports for and against the prospects for an amicable settlement. London prices were a shade firmer at the opening and foreigners were moderate buyers of some of the low-priced stocks, particularly the Erie. The change in prices and the scope of the fluctuations, however, were not sufficient to influence trading here. After the opening business became stagnant. Toward noon it was reported that Germany had made a satisfactory explanation of the action of its navy in destroying the Venezuelan fort and village, and on this the market rallied. Then another long period of dullness ensued, only to be broken by reports from Washington to the effect that a feeling of irritation pervaded administration circles, and later that Senator Morgan was making one of his characteristic speeches against Germany. Traders did not wait for a confirmation of the report, but in disgust began to sell. The result was that the whole list declined and closed heavy at or near the lowest prices of the day. In the general list the net declines were not large—in fact they were much smaller than the average reaction in a normal bull market, but some of the specialties sold off rather sharply by comparison. The Erie, concerning which the street is full of "bull" tips, declined 1 11-16 per cent. San Francisco, which was a leader of the upward movement on Thursday, declined from 79 to 75¾. The average loss in the general list, however, did not reach much more than a point. The industrials were irregular. Amalgamated Copper was quite firm most of the day on the slight advance in the price of the metal. An advance in the price of white lead did not stimulate any buying of National Lead stock, the common opening at 27, advancing to 27¼, and closing at 26½ bid. Railway Steel Spring common, which has remained inactive for quite a while, declined from 33¾ to 31¾. Tennessee Coal and Iron declined from 64¼ to 62¼, but United States Steel common and preferred moved within the usual narrow range. Sugar sold off 1¼, but closed a fraction above the lowest. The total sales were 410,000 shares.

Another favorable bank statement is looked for today. The unofficial estimates as to the net gain in cash ranged all the way from $7,000,000 to $8,200,000, of which $2,500,000 was gained from the sub-treasury. A year ago the total gain in cash was about $9,000,000, and in surplus reserve $8,000,000, bringing the total surplus up to $25,000,000. Last year the increase in loans was less than $2,500,000. This is always the uncertain quantity in the bank statement. There has been nothing in the stock market during the week that would justify an expansion in loans on that account, but there may be transactions for account of large corporations which would not appear on the surface and yet would affect the result. Thus, after the market closed yesterday, a dispatch was received from New York stating that a rumor was current there that the Pennsylvania railroad had borrowed $35,000,000 at 4½ per cent. It was stated in this column some time ago that the Pennsylvania was a borrower in bank, and that a portion of the transaction was handled through a local institution. It is possible that this borrowing, completed some weeks ago, is the basis for the report referred to. Traders are undecided as to whether the transaction should be regarded as an indication of growing ease in the money market, or as evidence of the growing needs of large corporations, which are to be met later by the issue of additional stock and bonds.

Pittsburgh Coal common continued to lead the local stock market in point of activity yesterday. On sales of a little less than 1,500 shares the stock fluctuated only ¼, selling off from 28¾ to 28½, closing at 28⅝ bid. Only 9 shares of the preferred changed hands, and the stock closed nominally unchanged at 88¼@88½. So far this week a little more than 7,000 shares of the common stock has changed hands within a range of 29¾ and 28, and the fact that the buyers and sellers of the bulk of the stock have been representatives of two large houses has created the impression in the street that the dealings represent the transfer of a large account. The one thing that is apparent is that the market has taken the stock well, and if the selling has been a case of liquidation and not of mere transfer, the seller has been fortunate. Probably no other stock on the list could have stood the same amount of selling without a greater range in quotations. River Coal was a shade lower, 300 shares changing hands at 11¾, and that price was bid for more at the close. The preferred stock remained very dull and unchanged. Crucible Steel was a little more active, but late in the day shaded off a fraction, in sympathy with the declining tendency of the eastern market, which also affected United States Steel common to a slight extent, the stock closing at 36½ bid. Window Glass remained unchanged at 55, and there was a subsidence of activity in National Fire Proofing, which sold at 28⅞ and was offered at 28½ at the close. The Westinghouse stocks were dull, Airbrake holding steady at 175, while Electric second preferred declined to 106 on light transactions.

There was some irregularity in the bank and trust company group. American Trust did not change hands, and was nominally quoted at 193 bid, 199 asked. Safe Deposit was also neglected, being quoted at 122 bid, 124 asked, but it is understood a meeting of the directors of the company and of the Peoples Savings was held at which progress was made in the deal for the merger of the two institutions. North American Savings rallied to 125 and reacted to 122½, a net gain of 2½ per cent for the day. Guarantee Title and Trust closed 1½ per cent higher at 145. Diamond Savings bank, which has been inactive for several weeks, sold at 220 and closed at 221 bid, a decline of 5 points from the last previous sale in December. Trust City Trust reacted 2¼ points to 135¾. The bond market remained dull, but River Coal 6s were strong, advancing to 114.

Call Money Steady.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Money on call steady at 3¾@4 per cent; closing, 3¾ per cent; time money in light demand; 60 days, 4½@4¾ per cent; 90 days, 4½@4¾ per cent; six months', 4¼@4¾ per cent. Prime commercial paper, 5@5½ per cent. NOTES AND COMMENT.

Aside from the activity in Pittsburgh Coal common and the usual activity in the Bank and trust company shares, the local stock market is a very dull and unsatisfactory affair. Money is becoming easier in the sense that offerings are fairly liberal at 6 per cent, with some shading of that rate reported in special cases.

A small lot of Manufacturers Light and Heat sold at 82, which is 6 points lower than the last previous sale, but the latter carried the right to subscribe for the new stock, and the price yesterday is therefore nominally unchanged.

Ohio Fuel Supply was quoted at 29¾ bid, 30 asked.

Robinson Bros. were sellers of Merchants Savings and Trust to Lytle & Davis.

Some little activity appeared in Diamond Savings bank, several small lots changing hands at 220, and 221 being bid at the close. Wettengel was the buyer. The par value of the stock is $100 a share, but subscriptions were made at $200 each. In order that the bank might start with a surplus equal to its capital, which is $250,000.

National Fire Proofing stock relapsed into dullness yesterday, and closed slightly lower for the common. The dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock is payable today.

The officers and directors of the First National bank of West Newton have issued invitations for a personal inspection of its new banking room and building at the corner of Main and Second streets, on Tuesday next, from 9 to 3 o'clock.

London was a buyer of the Erie stocks yesterday, and the tip was liberally distributed that the stock was for a rise. It is generally known that all of the Erie stock is deposited in the hands of Messrs. Morgan, Fitzgerald and Tennant as voting trustees. Put it is not as well known that when the stock trust is dissolved the general mortgage and prior lien bonds acquire a voice in the management. The voting trust agreement under which the stock is held provides that the trust shall exist for two years, but such time as the company shall have paid the full 4 per cent dividend on the preferred stock in one year, unless the trustees desire to terminate the trust and deliver the stock without this condition having been fulfilled. With this provision of the trust agreement in mind many have assumed that if a full majority of the outstanding trust certificates should be acquired by one interest the trustees there might call the trust and turn over the control of the road to the syndicate controlling a majority of the stock. But the facts are that a majority of all stock in order to have control of the most of the property open to question, for the provisions of the mortgages provide that after the termination of the voting trust prior lien bondholders and general bondholders shall both have the privilege of voting ten votes for each $1,000 bond at any stockholders' meeting of the company. The total outstanding funded debt of the company at the present time amounts to about $175,000,000, which is the total authorized amount of prior lien and general consolidated mortgage bonds. There are issued and outstanding about $55,000,000 prior liens and about $56,000,000 general mortgage, the balance of the general mortgage being reserved to retire underlying and divisional bonds when they come due.

River Coal bonds advanced to 114 yesterday. During its past fiscal year the company redeemed $183,000 of these bonds, making a total of $582,000 redeemed during the past three years. The total amount now outstanding is $9,408,000.

South Side Trust was quoted at 97 bid; Republic National bank, 114@117½; Mortgage Banking, 106½@109; North American Savings, 125 asked; Colonial Trust, 565 asked.

That the investment basis for securities is tending toward larger return is shown by the fact that bids for New York city bonds this week averaged only 104.56, compared with 106.229 for the last issue in November.

According to advices from Louisville, Ky., the directors of the National Coal and Iron Company declared a dividend of 5 per cent, payable today. This is the first dividend paid by the company, which was organized five years ago. Theodore Harris has been president and M. S. Barker secretary of the company since its organization. Ten years ago a party of Minneapolis capitalists bought the property on Straight creek, near Middlesboro, which is now owned by the National company. So deeply was the company involved in mining interests, and as they were unable to meet their obligations, the land was sold at court sale. The old company has issued bonds to the amount of $500,000 to pay for improvements. The bondholders concurred in the sale to the National Coal and Iron Company on condition that they receive the face of their bonds in the stock of the new company. The distribution of the stock was completed last month. The company owns extensive coal and iron properties along Straight creek.

The directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company have declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent on the preferred stock for the six months ending December 31, 1902, payable February 20.

The directors of the Pittsburgh Trust Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 5 per cent, payable February 1.

DAY IN WALL STREET IS WITHOUT FEATURE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Today's stock market was entirely colorless again and the level of activity fell below that of yesterday, which was the lowest since the opening of the year. News developments were without perceptible effect. There were some professions of anxiety over the Venezuelan situation accompanying the opening selling, but this did not prevent the market from recovering when a demand for Erie developed. None of the day's movements was long-lived. The signing yesterday of the Panama canal treaty brings into definite form the exchange problem involved in the requirement for the payment for account of the United States government to the Panama Canal Company of $40,000,000. It has been suspected for some time that preparations were making in the exchange market to meet this requirement, but exchange authorities express the opinion that the symptoms attributed to this are due to other causes and that the arrangements for the transactions are yet to be made.

It was remarked with interest that there was some falling off in the export engagements of wheat today, following the rise in price of that cereal.

Wabash stocks were weak today on reports of new friction with the Pennsylvania railroad interests. The strength of copper, both in London and here, was a help to Amalgamated Copper. The renewed buying of Erie gave some hope of a resumption of activity by pools, but the market made little response. St. Louis & San Francisco relapsed sharply with denials of yesterday's deal rumors. The languid demand for stocks made no advance seem so hopeless that the traders turned to the short side of the market and prices fell sharply below last night in the active selling movement of the last hour. The large gains in cash by the banks, both from the interior and on sub-treasury operations, promised a rise in reserves of nearly $7,000,000. There may be large loans to figure in that item of the banks. There was a report of a $35,000,000 loan having been negotiated by the Pennsylvania company current late this afternoon. The market closed steady but near the lowest.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,840,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

Movements of Gold.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the Seattle assay office, India's official records show that the sub-treasury paid out yesterday $2,980. Total thus paid since Friday, $77,727, against $21,512 for the same period a week ago. Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $3,989,000. Payment by banks to government, $3,856,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $133,000 paid by government to banks. Total net payment by government to banks since Friday, $2,476,000, against $3,081,000 similarly paid for the corresponding period a week ago.

The Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices. Speculation was generally quiet, but notwithstanding the clean-cut basis and moderate offerings by importers, the market was influenced by the higher markets at Hamburg and Rio in connection with purchases for local long accounts and covering. The close was steady, 5 points changed to 10 points higher. Sales were 32,250 bags, including March at 4.30c; May, 4.50c; July, 4.65c; November, 4.95c, and December, 5.10@5.20c.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The demand for both staple and fancy cotton goods has been on a fair scale today, but business still restricted by limited ready supplies. Prices very firm. Print cloths without change, bids at previous prices being turned down. Linens in fair request and firm. Burlaps are firm with a moderate demand.

NEW YORK PRICES.

WHEAT DEVELOPS AN EASIER FEELING

Rumor That Leading Long Is Unloading Starts Free Selling Movement.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—There was a firm opening in wheat influenced by the higher cables and the big export business of yesterday and a new top notch was made on May at the start, the opening being a shade higher. There was a good demand early and a large volume of business was transacted at the higher figures, but on rumors that the big holder was unloading there was a general scramble to get rid of long stuff and as a result the price dropped precipitously to 80¾. At the low point a better demand developed and a reaction set in, the price rallying to 81¾. The market was very nervous the latter part of the session and was affected by the slightest influences. The close was easier. Primary receipts were 536,800 bushels, compared with 412,500 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 332 cars, which, with local receipts of 34 cars—one of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 366 cars, against 422 cars last week and 227 cars a year ago.

Corn was traded in moderately and the undertone was easier, although the opening was firm on cables and on the strength in wheat. Continued selling by commission houses was responsible for the weaker feeling. Local receipts were 400 cars, with one of contract grade.

There was only a light trade in oats and the market was dull and featureless. The uncertainty in the wheat situation and free selling by some of the big scalpers caused weakness and the close was easy. Local receipts were 22 cars.

Provisions were strong early on lighter receipts of hogs and firm prices at the yards, but later on commission house selling of May lard and ribs there was a reaction and most of the early gain was lost. The close was about steady.

BUYING MOST LIBERAL DESPITE HIGH PRICES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Heavy transactions in merchandise are reported, but there is much complaint regarding the slow movement of freight. The situation as to general lines is aggravated by the precedence given fuel over all other freight except live stock and perishable goods. Some roads have been compelled to decline consignments, and in many cases where a large number of cars were desired, only one was provided. Earnings thus far availble for January surpass last year's by 5 per cent.

It is conspicuous in practically every section of the country that, despite high prices, buying is liberal and of the better qualities of goods, while dealings as a rule are on more of a cash basis. Many pig iron furnaces have been added to the idle list. As producers have sold their capacity for some time there is little new business and no effort on the part of sellers to secure contracts. Hence prices of pig iron are steady and new transactions light.

As to the demand for finished products, requirements are still pressing in railway equipment, both structural and rolling stock, and it is stated that orders have been placed for as many tons of steel rails as were produced in the full year 1902. Steel for buildings, bridges and ships finds a steady market, and implement makers are becoming more active. New orders for merchant steel are light, but old contracts are still numerous.

New England reports of boots and shoes have enough business on hand to keep most plants in operation two months at least. Trade in leather is better, while export sales of sole and uppers, finds a ready outlet, the situation grows steadily stronger. With the exception of a few of the finest grades, woolen goods for the fall of 1903 are now fully opened.

Business failures in the United States for the week numbered 285, in the United States, against 207 last year, and 27 in Canada, compared with 28 a year ago.

GRAIN SITUATION TIGHTER THAN EVER

Flour Firm and Scarce—Timothy Hay Quotations Score Another Advance.

While there are those who were inclined to take a little easier view of the hay and grain situation yesterday, close observers of the market fail to see any reason for hope in the immediate future. If all the stuff now in transit were to be brought in to market at once, while it might cause a few dealers to become excited and lose their grip on prices, yet so great is the demand that 500 carloads in the various lines could be absorbed without depressing the situation. Quotations stood firm yesterday, and there was higher bidding for spot cars than on Thursday, although there was a feeling of backwardness on the part of buyers who have not commenced to see the condition as it is viewed by sellers. Scarcity of stock is felt by all, and orders are being canceled because dealers are not in position to fill them. Prices are still regarded as nominal, and depend entirely upon the ability of sellers to deliver goods, and the more or less pressing requirements of purchasers. Country towns have commenced to call on this market for hay supplies, showing that out of town stocks are exhausted. For some time there has been an embargo in force on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, affecting points east of Pittsburgh, and nearby towns have been taking the bulk of shipments over that road.

Flour Market Unsettled.

Now that the reports of a corner in the May wheat market have become more conclusive, another element of uncertainty has been added to an already excited situation. Just what effect this will have upon flour prices cannot yet be told, but dealers are talking very bullishly and will raise quotations if things remain for long as they are at present. More conservative jobbers hesitate to take advantage of every move of the wheat market, but are preparing for a more exalted range of figures if spot wheat is accordingly with the market for May. At present there is so little flour here that wholesalers say it is hardly worth while to make any change in quotations. One jobbing house, with orders on its books for imediate shipment amounting to 12 carloads, received two cars with which to fill them yesterday. This is an example of the condition now prevailing in the market.

Apples have been in better demand since the easing of prices, and conditions are showing signs of getting firmer once more. Sales yesterday showed a notable increase in volume, and dealers talk much more encouragingly of the situation. In all other lines fruit and produce are unchanged.

The demand for poultry is active and prices are firm. Supply of hens is sufficient, but springers are scarce. Turkeys are holding firm, with supply and demand just about equal.

Butter, eggs and cheese are all unchanged and featureless. Quotations are the same as they have been all week.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The new gusher strike of the South Penn Oil Company on the Jesse Talkington farm, in Wetzel county, W. Va., is not proving the larger that might be expected when the speed, 2,000 barrels an hour, at which it started, and the location is taken into account. There is whether producing well within a mile and a of it, so that has a large acreage to w from. It was thought that the well had cumulated a large quantity of paraffine, and if agitated would increase its production. The tools were run for some time Thursday afternoon, but the production was not increased and the gauge for the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, was only 600 barrels.

Wednesday afternoon it looked at times as though the well was going to quit, the production dropping at one time as low as 5 barrels an hour. Then it would gather force and flow at the rate of 40 or 50 barrels an hour. However, 600 barrels a day is not bad at the present price of crude.

The credit balance market remained at the $1 50 mark yesterday. The reduction at most will have little effect on operations in the field. Operators are unusually busy in all fields for this time of the year, and would be more active if available territory was to be had.

Southwest of the Whisky Run pool, in Ritchie county, Barber Bros. & Co.'s test on the J. J. Mahaney farm has declined to 80 barrels a day. The locations for five wells have been made and several rigs are building in the vicinity of the producer. Should a spur to the old development be discovered it must necessarily be narrow for the reason that dusters have years ago been completed on both sides of a southwest line. To the west Big Kanawha and Wolf Pen Run districts there are still five wells, each producing 100 barrels a day.

In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company is due at a second test on the Sand at A. G. B. Harp farm, and the Lowther Oil Company is due at a second test on the Lucy N. Burrows farm.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, Blair & Co. are drilling a fine one on the C. Nutter farm and the Midway Oil Company is drilling in the sand at a test on the Matilda Willett farm.

McCormick & Co. have completed their test on the Mart Keys farm, located on Camp run, near the Little Kanawha river, and have a 40-barrel producer in the Big Injun.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Morgan county, T. M. Selby & Bro. have completed No. 5 on the Benjamin Marshall farm, and it produced 75 barrels the first 12 hours.

In the Macksburg field, Washington county, McConnell & Stephens have completed No. 4 on the Laud heirs' farm and have a 5-barrel pumper in the Perea grit. In the same district the Stray Oil Company has completed No. 5 on the McMann heirs' farm and has the same kind of a pumper in the stray sand. The John S. Dunn Company has drilled in its No. 7 on the William Wiper farm and has a show for a good producer.

South of the Belmont Oil Company's Big Lima producer, on the Peter Phillips farm, in the lower edge of Belmont county, the Unity Oil Company has started to drill at its test on the Booth-Berry farm. The Fisher Oil Company is drilling a test on the Stillwell Harper farm.

Beaver county continues to furnish an uncomfortable lot of dusters. In the Smiths Ferry district, the Puritan Oil Company has completed a test on the Thomas S. Calhoun farm and has a duster. In the same district, Hammel & Co. have completed a test on the K. Davidson farm and have one of the same.

In the Murdocksville field the South Penn Oil Company has completed a second test on the O. Evans farm and has a duster in the 100-foot.

In the Murdocksville extension, near Burgettstown, Washington county, W. C. Kennedy & Co. have completed No. 3 on the Duncan heirs' farm and have a 7 or 8-barrel pumper.

At Moon run, Allegheny county, S. D. Robinson & Co. have completed No. 4 on the Rouse farm and have a duster.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A force of men are at work on the plant of the Republic smelter, cleaning up and doing necessary repairs before the new machinery is installed. Contracts have been let for the casting of three furnaces and they will be ready to be laid down in Leadville in six weeks and the smelter will be blown in by the first week in March. The Rio Grande will put in switches on trestles to reach the ore bins, so that the ore will only be handled once before it reaches the furnaces. The plant will be on the pyritic system and will be able to handle the lowest grade of sulphide ore, and the matter will be sent to the Salida plant for treatment. The new plant will handle 500 tons per day, 75 tons of which will come from the New Monarch properties and the balance from the other sulphide producers in the camp.

Charles P. Ridpath, formerly with the Stratton Company, has been appointed manager of the Friday Leasing Company, operating the Friday claim on Tenderfoot hill, Cripple Creek. At the present time drifting is in progress at the depth of 220 feet, going south to cut the extension of the Hoosier vein, which has already produced so much rich ore and which the Friday people are confident extends into their territory. Drifting is also in progress going north with the intention of thoroughly exploring the northern part of the claim. The veins that are being drifted on average from three to five feet across.

Denver parties are interested in the Hampton mine in lower Russell district and they have received very fair returns from their shipment of 75 tons to the Golden smelter. The ores carry a heavy percentage of gray copper, the first class going about $50 per ton, while the second class runs between $20 and $30 per ton, the better grade of ore carrying copper values of from 10 to 15 per cent.

The shipments of smelting and crude ores, tailings and concentrates for the second week of January from the Black Hawk depot of Denver, 66 cars or 1,320 tons, bringing up the total for the first two weeks of the month to 166 cars, or 3,320 tons.

The Raymond Mining Company, whose properties adjoin those of the Gemini at Tintic, has called for an assessment of 5 cents a share, or $12,500, with which to continue the work to a connection with ore bodies that have been revealed by its shot productive neighbors. An assessment to become delinquent on February 18.

The management of the Keystone at Park City has decided to go across the country from its new shaft to tie in at defined ledges, and to that end is now establishing a level at a depth of 125 feet, the shaft, meanwhile, to continue on down and a second level to be established at a depth of 250 feet. The crosscut from the upper level will be to tap the Crescent ledge, as it is characterized by Supt. Kirby of the Daily West, in which a nice quality of lead ore is now exposed off the tunnel level, with the copper or "back vein" to be reached a few feet distant. In the latter ore is now exposed which affords as much as 6.5 per cent copper, with eight ounces silver per ton, and Supt. Harrington believes that in the crosscut from the shaft he will encounter the ore bodies for which he is searching. From the 250-foot level a crosscut will be run to tap the Apex vein, by which the Keith and Kearns company's ground is traversed.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Tin advanced sharply in London today, gaining £1 2s 6d, with spot and futures both quoted at £135. New York responded partly to the reign of strength and advanced 25 points to $28 50@28 55, closing firm. Copper advanced 10s in London, closing there at £54 2s 6d for spot and at £54 7s 6d for futures. Locally, copper was also firm and higher. Standard is quoted at $11 87½; Lake Superior at $12 37½@12 62½; electrolytic at $12 50@12 50, and casting at $12

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO BUY NEW PROPERTY

At a Meeting With the Judges They Decided to Acquire Four Lots for Jail Extension Purposes.

The county commissioners met yesterday, in consultation with several of the judges, over the question of the purchase of additional property back of the jail.

The properties consist of four pieces with frontages on Old avenue and Sixth avenue. Two are owned by E. T. Heineman and others, another by C. F. Smith, and one by C. Friel. The county commissioners have had offers for the property before the owners for months, but it was considered yesterday that the prices were too high, and at a meeting with the owners, to be held this morning, the prices may be shaved. It was decided not to entertain the suggestion of the purchase of the Smith property on Sixth avenue, as the sum asked is considered exorbitant. It was stated that it was hoped to acquire this lot at a reasonable figure, and if not, condemnation proceedings may be entered.

Should the county obtain possession of all of the sites under consideration, it would make it the owner of the entire square bounded by Ross street, Diamond street, Fifth avenue, Sixth avenue and Old avenue.

The commissioners decided upon a plan for much-needed improvements in their office. It is in such a condition now that nearly all of the records of that office are kept in the cellar, which is not at all adapted to the purpose. The new plans provide for new racks for the records, a balcony where bookshelves are to be placed, a store room, private offices and a waiting room. The architect was directed to prepare specifications.

FOR FREIGHT RELIEF.

Glenwood Railroad Co. Maintains Its Right to Condemn Property Not Violating the Constitution.

An affidavit of defense was filed yesterday to the bill in equity of Eliza Miller against the Glenwood Railroad Company, an action to restrain the company from taking possession of her property in the Twenty-third ward for its contemplated improvements. In the bill it was contended that the defendant company has no legal existence, especially as it is owned by the Baltimore & Ohio company, which conducts a parallel line.

It is set forth in the answer that the defendant's line was built to assist the Baltimore & Ohio company in the carrying of traffic which it found impossible to carry otherwise, and in this respect it does not differ from any other railroad that can be found in any large city. It has and is now, it is said, holding itself in readiness to perform its duties in the carriage of all freight and passengers. It now affords connection to a considerable body of land, it is said, lying between Glenwood and Laughlin station, which in all probability will be developed as manufacturing property, and for such purposes the location of the road is necessary.

It is stated that the business done by the defendant company has increased so that the Glenwood yard has become entirely insufficient to handle the cars, and has by purchase or condemnation acquired all of the land lying between its original roadbed and the property of the plaintiff.

It is denied that the defendant's line is a competitive line with that of the Baltimore & Ohio company, and that the presidency of Mr. Loree of both lines is in violation of the constitution.

SHE GOT A $2,500 VERDICT.

Christine Brynes, the Fair Canadian Plaintiff, Wins in a Breach of Promise Suit.

A verdict in the breach of promise case of Christine M. Brynes against Samuel D. Williams, the Castle Shannon blacksmith, was returned yesterday in favor of the plaintiff, in the sum of $2,500. The verdict is probably acceptable to the plaintiff, as a consolation, if nothing more, as the blacksmith testified his possessions were valued at $100.

He was the subject of numerous caustic remarks from counsel for the plaintiff, John Marron, while the latter was making his address to the jury. Judge Macfarlane, in instructing the jury, took Mr. Marron to task for the latter's reference to Second avenue.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Decrees in distribution were: Estates of Katherine P. Herr, $906 04; Henry A. Gearing, $411 14.

The Mercantile Trust Company was appointed receiver of A. Shoulten, who has filed papers in bankruptcy.

But two cases are scheduled for trial in Criminal court next week, commonwealth vs. John Murphy (2), David Thomas.

By the will of Herman C. Roddotz $400 is given to Frederick Roddotz and Annie Porter. Augusta H. W. Harris gets the residue.

By the will of Charlotte Hern of Pittsburgh, a $2,000 estate goes to near relatives. Julia A. Sorg of Allegheny left a $4,400 estate to her children.

An argument was had on a demurrer to the answer filed in the bankruptcy case of Louis E. Shoup. The court overruled the demurrer and referred the case to W. R. Blair, the referee.

Referee Frederick H. Kahle of Franklin has recommended that all petitions be dismissed and that the court make an order declaring that the Standard Automatic Gas Engine Company is not a bankrupt.

The following surety of the peace and desertion cases are scheduled for a hearing this morning: Commonwealth vs. Frank Schill; W. E. Hunt, Jr., M. W. Swang, Isadore Weible, Phillip Rosenthal, John Harne, John Kupetsky, Henry E. Poulks, August Goldstein.

The following petitions in bankruptcy were filed: John H. Grube, farmer, of Bell township, Jefferson county, debts $2,027 21, assets $50; Jacob C. Seber, Venango county, debts $1,741, assets $300; George T. Taylor, miller, of Oil City, debts $2,724, assets $250.

Referee in Bankruptcy E. H. Beshlin of Warren, Pa., recommends against the discharge from bankruptcy of Robert Ulman, an oil driller. Certain creditors filed objection opposing discharge on the grounds that Ulman had property not included in the bankruptcy proceedings.

Register George H. Stengel yesterday held a partial hearing in the matter of the citation granted on Attorney George M. Munro to produce the will of Margaret A. Grant, deceased. The petitioner is Charles B. Ihmsen. No evidence of importance was brought out and another hearing will be held.

Habeas corpus proceedings were begun for the release of James Brassel from the workhouse, where he was sent for 90 days by Magistrate B. McKenna. It is charged that the record of the magistrate is defective and does not contain sufficient matter to justify conviction. Brassel was arrested as a suspicious person and the evidence was that "he does not work and loafs about the street."

The following executions were issued yesterday: George Kastlemeyer vs. John Kamoloski, $225 41; W. M. Black, use, vs. W. F. Wilson, $182; Western Pennsylvania Building & Loan Association vs. Levi E. THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—River 14.8 feet and rising. Threatening snow or rain. The Virginia did not get away from here until nearly nearly 3 p. m. today. Owing to the slight rise in the river above here there was more ice in the river today than yesterday. It is in small but heavy pieces and covers the river two-thirds of the way across. The J. E. Lewis and Val. P. Collins went up to the Kanawha with empties.

LOUISVILLE—River falling, with 5 feet on the falls, 7 feet 2 inches in the canal and 14 feet at the foot of the locks. The Bonanza, which had been laid up at Cannelton to repair damage done by the ice, arrived at 11 a. m., and after repairing her wheels here departed for Cincinnati. The Cincinnati packet will resume navigation tomorrow and the Evansville packets Monday.

MARIETTA—River 8 feet and falling. Josh Cook up with empties, 9 a. m. Ice well cleared out.

STEUBENVILLE—River 7 feet 2 inches and rising. Up, Coal City, 9:20 a. m.

WARREN—River frozen.

GREENSBORO—River 9.6 feet and falling. Snowing. Navigation suspended.

WHEELING—River 7 feet 6 inches and slowly rising. Considerable shore ice running. Up with empties, Ironsides, 2 p. m.

MORGANTOWN—River closed.

PARKERSBURG—River 10 feet and falling. No boats.

GALLIPOLIS—River 10 feet and falling slowly. Queen City down.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at the Davis Island dam showed a stage of 6.5 feet, and the river was stationary.

Capt. James Gilmore, who has been ill, is again on duty.

Towboats J. P. Finley and Defender have passed Memphis coming north.

The Jim Wood and Sam Clark left Louisville yesterday for Pittsburgh with tows of empties.

The Joseph B. Williams and Harry Brown have both passed Greenville, Miss., on their way north.

The John A. Wood and Boaz have passed Cairo on their way to Louisville. They will return south with coal tows.

The meeting of the National Association of Masters and Pilot now in session at Washington, will last about one week.

Capt. D. L. McDonald, Jr., is home from Louisville. He has been on the towboat John Mcren, in place of Capt. Daniel McIntyre, who was sick.

The Monongahela river is still frozen across at several points, and the shore ice is so thick as to make navigation dangerous, even if the channel were broken through.

Capt. W. L. Sibert has as yet received no word from the war department ordering the elevation of the Union bridge, but is in daily expectation of such instructions.

The packet I. C. Woodward, of the Pittsburgh and Morgantown line, which has been laid up near Brownsville, was brought down to the Pittsburgh wharf yesterday.

The packet Queen City reached Cincinnati last evening. She reports shore ice giving way, on account of the waves from passing boats. It floating down the river, the lower Ohio being now quite full.

Seventy-five passengers have now been booked for the Queen City Mardi Gras excursion and indications point toward a rush at the last which may find some late comers left without accommodations.

The absence of river communication with way points down the Ohio is responsible for shutting off some of the supplies of grain which might otherwise be here to relieve the famine of the local market. Dealers assert they could get corn down the river at reasonable prices if they had means of transporting it to Pittsburgh.

Yesterday is was made public that George West, employed as a deckhand on the steamer Marion, was drowned off that boat several weeks ago at Hall's wood yard, one the Ohio. He had shipped from Pittsburgh, on the C. W. Thomas, from which boat he went to the Mariner at Louisville. The body has not been recovered and little is known of the man.

Four coal dealers of East Liverpool, O., are reported to be pooling their issues with the intention of securing their own supplies of coal, independent of the Monongahela River Coal and Coke Company, which now supplies them. Several sites in that city have been considered and the wharf at the foot of Washington street is said to have been selected as the most advantageous location. Inability to secure coal as rapidly as needed is at the bottom of the enterprise.

Paint Caused Explosion.

Henry Henry, a boarder at the home of George Crider of Hunter and Maple streets, Wilkinsburg, while engaged in painting in the kitchen yesterday, was severely burned by an explosion following the overturning of a can of paint on the stove. The explosion set fire to the house, but the blaze was extinguished with small loss. Mr. Henry's hands and arms were terribly burned and amputation may be necessary.

WABASH TO MAKE USE OF EXISTENT CHARTER

Goulds Said to Have Planned Line to the Cumberland Valley.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.

Much interest has been aroused in railroad circles by the revival of the story to the effect that an invasion of Pennsylvania is planned by the Wabash-Missouri Pacific interests.

President Cassatt is said to be convinced that George Gould, who is the master spirit in Wabash, contemplates a move of this character, and to have laid his plans to block Mr. Gould's efforts.

In railroad circles generally, however, the report obtains considerable credence and Mr. Gould's efforts to accomplish what has long been known to be his wish will be watched with more than ordinary interest. Railroad men seem to think it is Gould's purpose to take advantage of an old charter for the construction of a railroad across the southern part of the state from Pittsburgh to the Cumberland valley, granted several years ago. There are said to be about 14 of these charters in existence and rumor has it that the Wabash has secured at least three of them within the past year.

In order to make them operative, however, it is probable that some enabling act will have to be passed by the state legislature, and it is expected that Mr. Gould's actual plans will first be revealed during the present session of the legislature.

Wreckage of Celtic Found.

SAULTE STE. MARIE, MICH., Jan. 23.—Wreckage from the schooner Celtic, which was lost during a fierce gale on Lake Huron November 29, has been found on Boom point, the extreme southeast end of Cockburn island. The crew was lost.

POLICE CHIEF DEITSCH IS DEAD IN CINCINNATI

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—Philip Deitsch, for 16 years chief of police of Cincinnati, died this morning. He had been ill less than two weeks, his ailment being pneumonia. He leaves a widow and several grown children, one of them being Lieut. Answell Deitsch, U. S. A.

Chief Deitsch was born in Rhenish, Bavaria, October 7, 1840. He came to America in 1856, a poor lad. He enlisted in the army and served in several Indian campaigns, and during the civil war rose to the rank of sergeant. After leaving the army he was made a policeman and served in the early '70s. He was a government gauger and was at one time a clerk in the probate court. In 1886 he was appointed chief of police and served up to the time of his death.

For years Chief Deitsch has been president of the board of governors of the National Bureau of Identification, which is based on the Bertillon system for the detection of criminals. It was Deitsch's one wish that some day the federal government would co-operate with the police. The headquarters of the bureau were moved to Washington, D. C., from Chicago, with the object of interesting congressmen. Deitsch was one of the originators of the system to exchange pictures of criminals.

The news of the death of Chief Deitsch was telegraphed to Superintendent Henry Muth of the Allegheny police bureau yesterday by Richard Sylvester, chief of police of Washington, D. C., and president of the International Association of Police Chiefs of the United States, Canada and Mexico. A similar telegram was received by Philip Demmel, superintendent of the Pittsburgh detective force. Chief Deitsch was for many years a close friend of Superintendent Muth and the two spent most of their time together at the annual conventions of the police chiefs. Superintendents Muth and Demmel have made arrangements to go to the funeral of their friend.

"Philip Deitsch was one of the best police chiefs in the country," said Superintendent Muth yesterday. "In the past 16 years he has made the Cincinnati force one of the most efficient in the world. The news of his death will cause sorrow in every large city in America."

WORKS OF THEIR OWN.

Flint Glass Workers Want More Co-Operative Factories—May Move Headquarters.

A vote of the American Flint Glass Workers' union now being taken is said to be giving a substantial majority to the proposition to establish two new co-operative factories, each to cost about $75,000. One will probably be located at Washington, Pa., where the union has had a strike on against the Atlas Glass and Metal Company. Another referendum vote on the proposition to remove the headquarters of the union from Pittsburgh is also said to already show sufficient majority to insure its passing.

The executive board of 31 members, which has been conducting a hearing on the charges against President Charles E. Voitle and Vice President Thomas W. Rowe, has acquitted and exonerated the officers. The committee continued in session yesterday to consider other matters of the trade.

And the higher grades of Fur Neckpieces are similarly reduced so that whatever style you prefer, the prices are manifestly in your favor.

A Tip to Girls.

Long Coats and three-quarter length Coats today, some of the prices near the half line, others fill half of former prices. Of course the Coats were the best for former prices, and now that the prices are reduced the bargain is very remarkable.

For girls 4 to 10 years, long Coats of tan and red cheviot and plain cloths. $10 from $18.

For girls 14 to 16 years, long Coats of brown and gray cheviot, finished with triple capes. $15 from $23.

For girls 6 to 12 years, odd sizes in half and three-quarter length Coats. Lined throughout. $5 from $10.

New Neckwear for Women.

New ideas are now tripping in, and you will be just as glad as we are. Some of them:

New Lace Collars and revers, to wear with Coats and dresses. $1 up to $25 each.

New Irish Lace Sets and new Mull Sets, collars and cuffs to match, $2 to $4 the set.

New Wash Stocks of mull and linen, hand-embroidered in white and colors, $1.75 to $4.50.

Staghead Shoes for Young People.

Anything coming from this store with the head of a stag illustrated upon it, or bearing the simple word, is a shorthand notice that we back it up to the fullest extent. Thus with Staghead Shoes for misses and children—no better Shoes made, none that will wear so long, none that is more graceful of contour, none that is meeting with such exceptional demands.

Every leather that young people affect, every style that they prefer, made over the most modern of natural foot lasts. Did it ever occur to you, as parents, that it is a wonderful thing to properly fit growing feet? We make a specialty of that.

Misses' Shoes, sizes 11½ to 2, widths A to D, $2 to $3. All leathers.

Children's Shoes, sizes 8½ to 11, widths A to D, $1.50 to $2.50. All leathers.

Little children's Shoes, turns or welts, sizes 5 to 8, widths A to D, $1.25 to $2. All leathers.

Infants' Shoes, $1 to $1.50. All widths and all leathers.

Alexandra Coats Less Than Half Price.

The special sale of these Coats which begins this morning has been elaborated upon, and we desire to say that, so far as women are given to looking at Coat bargains, nothing was ever presented in this city that approaches this one.

There are broadcloths, montagnacs, cheviots, oxfords, zibelines, etc., and all of the tailor work is of the very best. There is choice of Coats lined with high-grade silk or satin, and further choice of a variety of trimmings, such as silk braids, cords or straps and silk bands. There are collarless Coats and Coats with flat collar and band collar. Some of the Coats have bishop sleeves, others pouch or coat sleeves, and some have single, others triple or double capes, and still others with no cape at all. Such styles as fly front or double-breasted front, full box back or half fitted back.

In group No. 1, the Alexandra Coats for $15 embrace those that sold for $25 and $30.

In group No. 2, the Alexandra Coats for $20 embrace those that sold for $35 and $40.

In group No. 3, the Alexandra Coats for $25 embrace those that sold for $45 and $50.

In group No. 4, the Alexandra Coats for $30 embrace those that sold for $55 and $60.

It will also be interesting to know that included in the above range of prices there are Velvet and Velour Wraps.

New Veils and Veilings.

Some very pretty meshes ready for you this morning.

New Veilings in plain and fancy meshes, hairline meshes, also dotted with chenille and velvet spots, either single or in clusters, 25c up to $2.50 a yard.

The Special Sale of Men's and Boys' Clothing.

Our Clothing is exceptionally special at any time, and now that prices have been reduced to what may be called grab prices, that is to say prices that make men and boys grab up a Suit or Overcoat in a hurry, the bargain is simply remarkable.

We sold stacks of Clothing yesterday, and it is only fair to inform those who come today that they will have to take their chance on sizes. If your size, either in Suit or Overcoat, is here, you have a Suit or Overcoat to boast of to your fellows.

There is no need to again quote the range of low prices. You had them yesterday, afternoon and morning. They will again be in active operation today.

An American Girl Empress of Korea

American Girls have often astonished the world, and none more so than the plain Miss Brown, a missionary's daughter, who now sits upon the throne of an ancient heathern empire. It is an Arabian Night's romance of the Twentieth century, but every word of it is true. Read it tomorrow in continues his inimitable "Anecdotes That Might Have Been" the best work he has done since "The Houseboat on the Styx." Tomorrow's SUNDAY GAZETTE contains a number of good new ones, among them chats between Richard Croker and Artist Abbey, Julius Caesar and Aguinaldo, John S. Duss, and the Angel Gabriel.

The Sunday Gazette

John Kendrick Bangs

Dorothy Dix's

Fables for the Elite and her studies in Natural History have more truths tucked away in them than most people suppose. Read them—be sunny and wise.

James Whitcomb Riley

has written a touching story for tomorrow's SUNDAY GAZETTE. It is entitled "The Nest-Egg of the Family," and men won't understand it.

But Men will understand the new Dulin Story by Will Levington Comfort. If you want your blood stirred read

"In the Hold of a Derelict."

A Woman Globe Girdler

Now in Pittsburgh knows the Japanese nobleman who has arisen as Saviour of the Hairy Ainus. She tells all about how he is Americanizing that strange race.
